Thousands of fish added to Antioch area lakes

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Approximately 42,000 marked largemouth bass were released into the Chain O' Lakes last weekend. The fish release was a result of the collaborative efforts of the Illinois Department of Conservation, specifically the officers at the Spring Grove Fish Hatchery, and area fishing enthusiasts including the Northland Bass Group.

"Largemouth bass is probably one of the most sought after of the game fish in the Chain," said Greg Dickson, owner of Triangle Sports and Marine in Antioch. Dickson was just one of the many volunteers who helped with the release.

The bass were raised from the fingering stage at the rearing ponds in Spring Grove. "We raised them here in the ponds," said Dick Corey, the hatchery manager. After 11 to 12 weeks, the fish reached the size of roughly 5 inches. The legal minimum for taking the fish from the Chain is 14 inches.

"There were so many volunteers," said Corey. "We worked with local groups marking the fish."

"They drew the water down and the approximately 1,400 pounds of fish were taken indoors," said Dickson. He estimates it took eight volunteers to freeze brand the fish, using a tool with liquid nitrogen, to mark the fish. "The brands should stay

Three cars crash, two injured on North Ave.

MARY FOLEY
Staff Reporter

Two people were injured as a result of an early evening collision on North Avenue Monday night. The accident occurred when a 1986 Plymouth, driven by 16-year-old James Cogley of Gurnee, swerved into an oncoming car driven by Louis Rosen of Skokie.

According to Lieutenant Charles Watkins of the Antioch Police Department, Cogley was traveling westbound on North Avenue, while the Rosen vehicle was traveling eastbound. "Witnesses said the Cogley vehicle just veered out to the left," he said.

Cogley's car struck Rosen's 1987 Buick Skylark head-on. A third car, a 1987 Dodge Omni driven by Michael Madson of Las Vegas, was also headed eastbound and ran into Rosen's car. "It was unavoidable," said Watkins.

Cogley was pinned in the vehicle. Antioch Rescue Squad was able to remove Cogley from the car and the Flight for Life helicopter was called. Unfortunately, the weather was too inclement for the helicopter to land and instead, Cogley was transported to St. Therese Hospital.

Rosen was also injured in the crash and taken to St. Therese. See CRASH page A10

Homeowners learn subdivision safety

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

A representative from the Lake County Sheriff's Department, Officer Marty Smith, spoke to subdivision representatives of United Homeowners Associations of Unincorporated Antioch (UHAUA) last week about subdivision safety. The thrust of Smith's message was that neighbor responsibility is the key to subdivision safety.

"We need the community's cooperation to act as the eyes and ears of the police," Smith said. "This is one of the responsibilities of citizenship."

Smith told the group the reason the Sheriff's Department cannot drive through subdivisions looking for crime is because of the small number of officers and cars assigned to the Antioch area. Since only two cars are assigned, per shift, Sheriff's Deputies can only react to crimes already committed instead of cruising neighborhoods to deter crime.

"You expect the police to protect you, but we can't," Smith explained. "When I go to work, who protects my house? Who protects your house? Not the police."

Smith estimated that approximately 250,000 people come through Antioch during a summer weekend. But, he pointed out that it is more likely visitors are victims of crimes, not residents.

"The population in the Antioch District is one-quarter of a million on summer weekends," said Smith. "The victims most often are the visitors. They come up here and their guard is down."

The good news, according to Smith, is that neighborhood watch programs do work. "The program is so successful if done correctly," he stated. "But, the programs must be maintained."

Smith offered to present the Neighborhood Watch Program to any subdivision in which 50 percent of the homes show an interest in becoming involved. Smith told the group the program lasts approximately 2-3 hours and he will teach homeowners how to correctly call the police, how to properly report a crime or suspicious circumstance, and how to follow through with the call.

"We will teach you how to get service from the police," Smith told the group. "What we are looking for, number one, is gaining the cooperation of our communities. We'll teach you to call the police."

During the presentation, Smith distributed forms for subdivision representatives to bring back to their membership, to help residents record information. He also distributed a home security check-off list to determine if security precautions are being followed.

Smith also told the group how to get a program off the ground in a subdivision. He suggested holding an informal meeting to determine homeowner interest. "If you can't get 50 percent, get those that are interested to get others," he suggested.

New park to be given a name

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The park board has submitted a list of suggested names to the Antioch Village Board for the new park located on Route 173. The park, which has been opened for most of the summer, has been without an official name.

"It has no name yet," explained the new Parks Director Cheryl McCameron. "However, we have submitted a proposed list of names to the Village Board. They are the ones who will decide."

The new park is located off Route 173 across from the Jewel food store. It has already had the parking lot black topped and the potential uses are currently being discussed by the park board.

Initially, the park was to be used for soccer fields, but the park has wonderful open spaces and access to a channel. The board is considering placing a pavilion in the park, non-permanent restrooms, and even allowing fishing.

However, after the park board met last week and discussed the matter, more nature oriented uses are being considered. Instead of soccer, McCameron hopes the park will be used for scouting programs, wildlife programs, and fishing derbies.

"It is really pretty back there," said McCameron. "We hope to take advantage of its natural setting."

While the channel in the park does not open up onto the Chain O' Lakes, it can offer Antioch residents and visitors a place to spend an afternoon fishing. Also, the setting provides an extremely attractive place to hold a picnic. The park would also provide a wonderful place for students to learn about the wetlands that surround Antioch.

The park is open every day from dawn until dusk, but at this time, the portable restrooms have not been installed. McCameron said, "We expect to have restroom facilities in the spring."

It is also not known if a pavilion can even be installed in the park. According to McCameron, "The pavilion is up for discussion." One of the problems is that the park is located on the wetlands and it does not require much digging to hit water. McCameron said that a floating pavilion is being considered.

Martini, Farrell vie for County Board seat

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

The race for Jim Fields' Dist. 1 County Board spot is nearing as Republican contender Judy Martini squares off with Democratic candidate Grant Farrell. Interestingly enough, both candidates have pledged not to use campaign signs.

With the agreement not to use campaign signs, the only evidence of campaigning in Dist. 1 may well be door-to-door canvassing, phone calls, and mailers. And, maybe not even that. Both candidates say they want low key, more orderly campaigns than last April's primary.

Farrell is a life-long resident of Lake County. He was raised in Waukegan and attended Roosevelt University. Farrell resides in Antioch with his wife, Debra, and their sons, Andrew and Bret. Farrell owns his own business consulting firm.

A member of the Experimental Aircraft Association, Farrell is also serving his third term as an elected official on the executive Health and Welfare Board of the Plumbers Local 93. In addition, he has completed his second term as president of the Illinois branch of the Orton Dyslexia Society and is now chairperson for the national board. Many Antioch residents know Farrell from his work with the Antioch Swim Team Board.

Martini is also a well known Antiochian. She is a director on the Waterway Management Agency, a member of Citizens Against Unsafe Electricity (CAUSE), and a former member of the Special Area Management Planning Commission (SAMP) which was abolished when the Environmental Impact Study was completed earlier this year.

Age 42, Martini has lived in Antioch for 18 years, graduating from Richmond-Burton High School. She studied environmental horticulture at the College of Lake County and is a licensed personal assistant and Realtor at RE/MAX Advantage in Antioch.

Martini lives with her son, Jesse, and is a member of St. Peter Church in Antioch. In April, she won the Republican spot on the ballot from incumbent, Antioch

Judy Martini

Grant Farrell

Township Supervisor Jim Fields. Both Farrell and Martini have similar ideologies. Both want impact fees to be increased, increased local representation at the County level, and both claim to have that sometimes unheard of political quality, common sense.

When asked, each candidate admitted a similarity in ideology.

"We're going to be fairly close on the issues," said Farrell.

"We're probably going to agree," said Martini.

Farrell believes the differences may be in their approach and backgrounds. "I have business skills which were developed through my consulting business," explained Farrell. He suggested Martini's background in real estate would provide a different approach.

Unit support asks to meet with boards

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa unit district supporters are organizing meetings with school districts to facilitate discussion on determining the legal and financial impact of the district.

Members of the Committee of 10, are asking for public forums with two representatives and a superintendent of all the boards effected within the proposed unit district boundaries. The aim is to provide solutions with other school districts and provide the public with information concerning the real costs of the unit district.

Former Lake County Regional Superintendent Bill Thompson has agreed to act as a mediator at these meetings.

Joanne Osmond, president of the Committee of 10, said the committee is trying to inform the public but is having a difficult time finding correct and current information.

"We are having a problem determining what the numbers are. Each time the numbers can be different depending on what is more favorable to them. Some districts seem to be spending more time trying to protect themselves than work with us," Osmond said.

Osmond said so far Lake Villa Elementary District, Grayslake High School District and Grant High School District have been very cooperative in providing accurate numbers which haven't changed.

The unit district is a proposal to have a K-12 district covering most of Lake Villa Township including Lake Villa Elementary District, portions of Antioch, Grayslake, Grant High School Districts, Antioch District 34 and Millburn Elementary District.

Voters in April will be asked if they want to pay $39 million for a high school in the affected district, whether they want the district and elect a school board.

Among the issues to be discussed will be the division of assets. The division is required as payment from the old districts to the unit district for the portion determined as the unit's value of the current districts.

Osmond believes the numbers don't have to be arbitrary figures but mutually agreed numbers which can benefit all districts.

Dist. 41 to attend forum on unit district

ALEC JUNG
Staff Reporter

Lake Villa District 41 Elementary school board members will attend an informal meeting set up for the Lake Villa unit district Committee of 10.

The meeting is scheduled for Oct. 19 and former Lake County Superintendent of Schools Bill Thompson is holding it as an intermediary. District 41 will send two members to the meeting. Unit district representatives want to meet with school boards to begin discussions on financial issues which will impact the school district.

"We will have two representatives. We haven't decided what two. We have to look at our calendars," said Dr. Alan Simon, District 41 superintendent.

A Lake Villa unit district, proposed in the April ballot, would encompass all of the current District 41 territory. The district would also cover portions of the Antioch District 34 Elementary District, Grant High School District, Antioch District 117 High School District and Millburn District 24.

The unit district would be a K-12 school district covering most of Lake Villa Township. Voters will decide if they want to finance a $39 million building bond for a high school and an elementary school.

Also on the ballot is the issue of deciding if voters would want a unit district and to vote on school board candidates.

Millburn and Antioch 34 are appealing the decision made by Joseph Spagnolo, state superintendent of schools, which allowed the issue to appear on the ballot.

District 41 has remained neutral of the unit plan. Simon said the district will send only two board members to avoid having to go through the process of calling a special meeting.

Dr. Jim Blockinger, District 24 superintendent, said the Millburn board will have a committee meeting on Oct. 3 before making a decision on attending.

Joanne Osmond, president of the Committee of 10, has called for meetings with school boards to determine the actual costs of a Unit District and costs to the other affected districts.

Simon said he expects the meeting to be informal in nature. At this point it's not known if the meeting will be a public or a private meeting.

Police thwart suicide attempt at jail cell

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

As a result of quick action by the Antioch Police Department, Thomas E. Patton, age 24, of Antioch, is still alive today. Patton was despondent after he was arrested when police responded to a domestic dispute on Sept. 9 and discovered an outstanding warrant for deceptive practices.

According to police reports, Patton became involved in a verbal argument that turned physical. Police brought Patton to the police station where he became combative, threatening, and refused to cooperate with booking procedures. He was placed into a cell for "safety reasons."

Patton then began threatening to "off" himself and police summoned the Antioch Rescue Squad. Unfortunately, prior to the arrival of the emergency squad, Patton attempted to hang himself with a blanket.

Police were able to subdue Patton with pepper spray and gain entry to the cell before he harmed himself further. Patton was then taken to St. Therese Hospital for observation.

Patton refused to cooperate with medical staff and police were told that he could be accepted on a suicide watch with pending charges. After refusing medical treatment, Patton was taken to Lake County Jail on a suicide watch.

He was charged with battery and criminal damage to property by the Antioch Police.

Pedestrian killed on Main St.

Candelaria Aguirre, age 60, of Antioch was killed when she crossed Main Street. Aguirre was from Mexico and had only been in Antioch for one month before the accident.

According to reports, Aguirre was walking near Antioch Community High School when she began to cross Route 83. The driver of a car, traveling southbound, apparently did not see her. Antioch Police Department officials said no ticket was issued to the driver.

"She just walked out into the street," said Lieutenant Charles Watkins. Watkins said it occurred by Strang Funeral Home.

Aguirre was taken to Froedtert Memorial Hospital, where she died several days after the accident.

Kentucky officials praise local police

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Cooperation among Illinois and Kentucky law enforcement officials is being praised as the prosecution of Michael Louis Anderson nears.

Anderson waived his extradition rights, which is something which Owensboro, Ky. police feel is a plus in speeding the process.

"If we had the cooperation we had with Lake County elsewhere, law enforcement would be able to put a lot tighter net around criminals. The conduct of the Lake County authorities speaks well for their agencies," Capt. Steve Kimble of Owensboro, Ky. police said.

Law enforcement officials in Lake County are working with Owensboro, Ky. counterparts on the extradition of Michael Anderson. Anderson has requested the death penalty. He is likely to face fugitive from justice and strong armed robbery charges.

Anderson, age 18, is wanted for a July 13 murder committed in his Owensboro apartment. Anderson confessed to the murder Sept. 16 at Lake County Jail.

"From what we understand from Owensboro, Ky. police, he robbed and strangled an 84-year-old lady in his apartment. It was a hideous crime," Lt. Chester Iwan of the Lake County Sheriff's Department said.

Anderson has requested the death penalty.

Kimble said the Owensboro police do not state if someone has confessed. "We say he made statements which lead us to believe he was the criminal," Kimble said. "The details will come out in court."

Anderson will be prosecuted by Commonwealth of Kentucky Atty. Tom Castilen.

Owensboro police came to Lake County, Sept. 17. "They reinterviewed him and we assume he gave the same confession," Iwan said.

Kimble said Owensboro police were not expecting to bring Anderson back to Kentucky that trip.

Iwan said Lake County State's Attorney Mike Waller and his counterpart from the Commonwealth of Kentucky are working out the details of the death penalty request.

Anderson is charged with fugitive from justice as well as armed robbery. He stole about $500 at Stan's gas station Sept. 11, $106 at Gurnee Piggly Wiggly video section Sept. 12 and an undisclosed amount of cash at a Citgo north of Antioch Sept. 13.

It was after the Wisconsin incident that led to the chase involving Lake Villa, Lindenhurst, Gurnee and Lake County Sheriff's Department. Anderson was stopped without injury after he tried to exit Wendy's restaurant parking lot.

Kenosha County Lt. Larry Zarletti said Anderson displayed a weapon, as he had at the Lake County thefts.

Waterfalls, residents to work on noise

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Approximately 30 residents appeared Tuesday night at the Antioch Village Liquor Commission hearing regarding complaints against the Waterfalls Restaurant. The types of violations discussed included loud noise complaints, battery and disorderly conduct complaints, minor drinking complaints, criminal damage to property, and other miscellaneous complaints.

Despite the various problems, according to Mayor Marilyn Shineflug, neighbors are most concerned with noise. "Most of the residents are concerned with the loud noise complaints," said Shineflug. "Specifically, the bass vibrations."

The village liquor commission has the authority to fine the owner, John Katris, or even suspend or revoke his liquor license. "We've fined them before," Shineflug said.

No decision was made regarding the complaints at this hearing, however, some of the residents have agreed to form a committee to work with Katris to "establish noise limits." Shineflug seemed hopeful that the restaurant owner and staff will be able to work out the problem with neighbors. "It was good," she said of their cooperative effort.

According to Shineflug, "The least expensive way to reduce the noise is turn down the volume." The board is waiting to get a transcript of the hearing before making a determination.

Terry-Ross wedding held in special garden ceremony

On Aug. 7, Randi Terry married Jim Ross in a beautiful poolside, backyard, garden wedding. Randi is the daughter of Fran and Paul Adelizzi of Antioch, and this very special wedding ceremony and reception was hosted in their beautiful Antioch home. About 35 close family members and friends were on hand for the occasion.

Little Paige Majewski, Fran and Paul's granddaughter, came in from Florida to be Randi and Jim's very special little flower girl. Randi's maid of honor was her sister, Cherri Majewski, and Griffin Ross was the best man.

Shona and John Geyer were the bridesmaid and groomsmen, and Nichole and Ken Adelizzi were the junior bridesmaid and junior groomsmen.

It was a total family affair, even little Paige's daddy, Mark Majewski, walked her down the aisle assisting her with her flower girl duties. Randi and Jim are living in the Antioch area and, naturally, Momma Fran is very happy to have them so close to home. Congratulations, everyone, and many years of love, happiness and health for Randi and Jim.

Many awards

Nineteen members of Health Systems Tae Kwon Do Club of Antioch qualified to enter the Junior Tae Kwon Do Olympics held at the Rosemont Horizon. They competed with over 4,700 participants from all over the country. When all was said and done, seven of the 19 walked away winners.

Congratulations to Wally O'Connor (third-place, forms), John Siebert, Jr. (third-place, sparring), Dana Glewicz (third-place, sparring), Greg Hilgenberg (second-place, sparring), Michelle Elliott (third-place, sparring), Matthew Elliott (first-place, sparring) and Mitchell Elliott (first-place, forms).

Easy to please

Once again I am reminded how easy it is to please a child. On Labor Day, as I was busy in the kitchen, Andrew and Bertha began to bark excitedly, and then

I heard a faint knock at the door. It was my sweet little friends, nine-year-old Kjersten and eight-year-old Ursula Martens.

They wanted to play on our swing set. As they entered my home to verbalize their request, they greeted me with a hug. I gave them permission and told them after I completed my chores and got dressed I would come out to visit. I mentioned that our cat, Sophie, had kittens and when Donna came home they could see them.

After a short time I walked outside with my bag of bread. I called the girls to me. As we sat feeding the "sharks" (Ursula's version of Carp Whales), some ducks swam over to get their share of the goodies.

The excitement on the girls' faces and in their voices as they marveled over the compatibility of the fish and ducks reminded me how the most simple activities makes a child happy.

When Donna arrived home, they almost knocked her down with their requests to see the kittens. They cuddled them gently, well aware that their presence made Momma Sophie a bit nervous. They were a little disappointed when they discovered all the kittens already had homes. Especially Ursula, who put in her request should Sophie bless us with another litter.

They were human

If you attended a Catholic School in the '50s and '60s, you will most likely relate to what I am about to write here. To me, and many of my friends and fellow classmates, the nuns that taught us our reading, writing, arithmetic and religion had a very mysterious quality about them—almost as if they were not human.

For example, we thought they were completely bald under those enormous headdresses. We also thought they slept in their habits and absolutely did not take them off for any reason. Therefore, they couldn't possibly bathe or use the bathroom.

Also, nuns never got sick and they also never laughed or had fun with each other—that is, in our opinion. To us, they prayed in the morning, came to school to teach us, then returned to the convent to continue praying until bedtime.

This misbelief continued until we were in the seventh or eighth grade, at which time we actually mustered up the courage to question them about some of these myths. When I was a sophomore in high school, something happened in my geometry class that convinced me and my fellow classmates that the holy sisters were definitely human. To continue...

Couldn't stop

The name of our geometry teacher was Sister Mary Sheila. She was very sweet and soft spoken, and an excellent geometry teacher. This one particular day the class as a whole was having difficulty understanding a particular problem. She decided to go to the board to demonstrate the steps to work it out.

She picked up the chalk and drew a straight line on the board and said, "This is a line," as if we couldn't figure it out for ourselves, having been in her class for several months and all of us being 15 or 16 years of age.

When she realized she verbally identified what all of us already knew, she got the giggles and absolutely could not stop. We, in turn, began to laugh right along with her. She would then compose herself and we would do the same.

However, each time she went back to the board to demonstrate the problem, her giggles would return. Finally she said, "Forget this problem, let's move on to something else." However, try as she might, she absolutely could not teach us for the rest of the period, because no matter what she said or did her giggles persisted.

She finally gave up, assigned us a few problems for homework and promised to be back under control the next day—and she was. From that day forth, it was business as usual in geometry class. In hindsight, we may have lost one day of geometry, but we gained so much more.

We all finally realized that the holy sisters were definitely human, and learned that laughter had a way of binding people together in a very special way. We gained a different degree of respect for Sister Mary Sheila, and as we would see her in the halls over the years we would always inquire, "Sister, are you still drawing lines on your blackboard?" Her warm, all-knowing smile would return as she bid us a good day and went merrily on her way.

Special kit

Mrs. Phillips, a teacher at Grass Lake School, sent the following list of positive usage ideas for school supplies home with each student. I was touched by the love, respect and caring the messages imparted, so I decided to share them with all of my readers.

Tissue: To remind you to dry someone's tears (or perhaps your own, so you can see the tears of others). Button: To button your lips to keep from saying mean things about others or talking when it is not appropriate. Toothpick: To pick out the good qualities of everyone—including yourself. BandAid: To heal the hurt feelings, either yours or someone else's. Candy Kiss: Everyone needs a nice treat occasionally. Gold Thread: Friendship is the golden thread that ties together the hearts of everyone. Eraser: Everyone makes mistakes and that's all right. Lifesaver Candy: To think of your teacher as your lifesaver. When you need to talk, feel free to come see me. Mint: You are worth a mint to me. While these special messages were given to the children, I think it contains wonderful food for thought for adults as well.

—Shop ANTIOCH— Antioch howls this Halloween

Now that we're approaching the start of October, many of you probably have been out shopping for Halloween, making party plans, or trying to find just the right guy to be the third person for the Fruit of the Loom costume. If you are already busy making your Halloween plans, don't forget to include Antioch's first annual Halloween Howl on your agenda.

Friday, Oct. 29, will bring an evening of spooks, haunts, bargains, pumpkin contests, hayrides and goblins to downtown Antioch. Saturday afternoon and evening will also include a costume contest and, possibly, a large bonfire. Saturday's activities will run early in the evening to allow you spooks plenty of time to attend those wild private Halloween parties afterwards.

The Halloween Howl means you need to be in the right "spirit" to enjoy the Haunted Walkways created by the people of Antioch. Try the Happy Haunted Graveyard, perfect for the younger child—you'll only find happy ghosts there. Or for the more daring person, try out the Mummy's Tomb for size. If that isn't enough for you, head for the Tunnel of Terror and try your luck. If you're starting to get hungry, don't forget to experience the Witch's Kitchen, where you'll find lots of "appetizing" specialties. Dracula's Cave is a must for those fans of Friday the 13th!

Friday night you'll find pumpkins lining the streets for the Pumpkin Decorating and Carving Contests. Saturday night promises to be a "hair-raising" event with the costume contest, bonfire and storyteller. Hayrides will take place Friday afternoon and evening, as well as all Saturday afternoon. If you won't wear a costume, have your face painted by one of the leading face painters in our area. Face painting will take place Friday late afternoon and evening and Saturday afternoon.

With darkness approaching earlier and earlier as fall progresses, the Howl will be combined with a Moonlight Madness sale throughout downtown.

Beginning on Friday and lasting through Saturday (or possibly Sunday for some stores), there will be plenty of spooky price slashing. Stores will remain open till 11 p.m. on Friday with slashing prices occurring hourly at some shops. Dress in costume either night or day for additional savings at participating stores. Watch out for creatures lurking inside the shops, I've heard many creepy tales of vampires and ghouls that will be waiting to "serve" you in the shops during the Howl.

Kids of all ages (including you, Grandma and Grandpa) will enjoy the atmosphere and festivities that Antioch has planned for you. Bring your appetites with you to enjoy some ghoulish fare at participating restaurants. You never know, perhaps you'll come across some blood soup or eyeball stew, perfect for the damp, cool evenings of the Howl. Bring the family, bring your friends. The Howl is great for everyone.

Editor's note: Shop Antioch is a weekly newsletter showcasing Antioch's merchants and retailers. Prepared and written by Barbara Porch of Choosey Child.

Fox Waterway Agency may move to new location

TINA L. SWIECH

Staff Reporter

McHenry might just be the new home for the Fox Waterway Agency.

The Agency has had its marine base in Fox Lake for about the past five years, and officials are becoming distressed over the location.

Building commissioner Ken Buchardt said the former DuBell's property on the Fox Lake near Rte. 12 is zoned B-4 Resort/Business. Buchardt said what would be more compatible for the Agency marine base would be if it were zoned for marina use.

The building commissioner said he has sent several letters to Dr. William Dam, chairman of the Agency, regarding the relocation of the marine base.

Because the village felt nothing had been accomplished, they requested an answer from Dam. "Consider it done," Dam told officials at the last village board meeting.

The chairman said he has been working with the Illinois

Department of Transportation's department of water resources, to help them find a new location to purchase. Currently the Agency is leasing the property in Fox Lake.

Dr. Dam noted there are three Agency board members from Antioch Township and three board members from McHenry County. Moving to McHenry looks favorable, said Dam. And he added none of the taxpayers money will be used in the move.

PADS to open homeless shelters

The CONNECTION/PADS (Public Action to Deliver Shelter) program is ready on October 1 to begin its seventh season serving the homeless people of Lake County. Over 2,400 trained volunteers from local congregations, organizations and groups will be providing shelter, food and hospitality during the cold weather months to individuals and families who have no place to call home.

There are PADS shelters located in Antioch, Grayslake, Gurnee, Libertyville, Lindenhurst, Mundelein, Wauconda, Waukegan and Wildwood. They open at 7 p.m. and close at 7 a.m. from October 1 through April 30. There are at least two and sometimes three shelters open each night. They are located in 14 churches and one park district facility. Dinner and breakfast are provided. Guests are also given a sack lunch before leaving in the morning. Individuals and families needing a place to spend the night are welcome on a first-come basis. Limited shuttle bus service is provided from the Township Office in downtown Waukegan to the outlying shelters that guests would otherwise not be able to reach.

PADS+ daytime resource center at 214 S. Genesee in downtown Waukegan is open all year long to provide outreach help for PADS guests seeking guidance for employment, housing, health care, etc. to help themselves out of homelessness. PADS+ is open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Special orientation classes are available to prepare anyone over 18 who is interested in becoming a PADS volunteer. Orientations are scheduled at the College of Lake County on October 11 from 7 to 9 p.m. For more information, call the CONNECTION/PADS office at 362-3381.

Share Food program is back, great way to volunteer, save money

The new Share Food program is back in Antioch. It is coming from Milwaukee, Wis., and the cost is $14.50 per order. To get into the program you need to volunteer two hours of time to the community, i.e. church, school, scouts, 4-H, helping an elderly neighbor, etc. If you're unable to do this, but you can knit, you can help the program by knitting or crocheting hats, scarves, lap robes, etc. Just call and volunteers will get the yarn to you and when you are done, they'll pick up the finished product and distribute it back into the community where needed.

For those of you who don't know what Share is all about—you volunteer your time, and give $14.50 to the Share program and once a month you will receive $35 to $40 worth of food. Since Share is coming from Milwaukee, they have to add a transportation fee.

If you are already doing community service, great! If not help they can help you get involved. Share is a way of saying thank you for helping your community.

There are several areas in the community for you to sign up:

First National Bank, Antioch; State Bank of the Lakes, Antioch; Lake Villa Township office and of course on the day of delivery at the Antioch VFW hall on North Ave. in Antioch.

The following are dates in which you must have your money into the Share program in order to be able to pick up your order, October 4; delivery October 22; November 3, delivery November 19 and December 1 with a December 17 delivery date.

You must pick up your order between 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. on the above dates at the Antioch VFW Hall located at 75 North Ave.

Call if you are willing to help unload orders, we can use all the muscles that are available.

If you have additional questions, call Ardeen Harris at 395-2761 or Claudette Skvarce at 395-6744.

with the fish for two to three years," he said.

The conservation officers will then do surveys in order to monitor growth, check for disease, and to monitor fish movement.

The officers hope to continue to work with local fishing enthusiasts and area ecologists on future projects.

Another fish release is planned this week. The Minnesota Musky Farm will be meeting South of the Border Musky Club to release approximately $10,000 to $11,000 worth of muskies. The fish are expected to be 9 to 12-inches in length. These fish will be released in Loon Lake as well as the Chain.

Crash

Madson was not injured. Cogley is listed in critical condition with head and chest injuries and is in a coma.

The accident occurred at North Avenue and Long View, near Oakwood Knolls Subdivision. Cogley was ticketed for improper lane usage.

Watkins noted sadly the large amount of fatal and near fatal accidents in Antioch. "This year we have had more fatalities than I can ever remember," he said. Watkins believes it is the result of the increased population and greater traffic.

Fans rally behind Sequoit kickers in 2-1 victory over Pat's

Antioch soccer Coach Brad Wilson said fan support played a big role in Antioch's 2-1 victory over soccer rival Stevenson.

"The extra fan support certainly helped, especially after we took the lead," said Wilson, who estimated that 200 Antioch fans made the trip to Lincolnshire for the North Suburban Conference showdown. "It sent tingles down my spine and it gave us a charge which allowed us to step it up a notch," he added.

Playing in "messy, rainy" conditions, the Sequoits defeated the Patriots at their home field. Stevenson has been ranked as high as No. 2 in the state, and Antioch shared the NSC crown with Stevenson and Libertyville last year. The Sequoits dropped a 4-2 game against Libertyville the week before.

"We didn't play exceptionally well against Libertyville. We're hoping that Stevenson can come back and beat Libertyville and then we're right back in the race."

Stevenson scored first, but Antioch midfielder Brian Weeks tied the game with a header from a throw-in from Jon Zora.

Weeks also played a role in the game-winning goal. Joe Earl volleyed the ball past the Stevenson goalie following a corner kick from Weeks, who lofted the ball over Stevenson players defending the goalie box.

Allowing only nine shots on goal, Antioch's defense kept Stevenson's explosive offense from approaching the net, although goalie Keith Jackson made some tough saves.

"Pretty much the whole game, we played a nice tight defensive game," Wilson said.

In the 4-2 loss to Libertyville, Earl and Lane Benziger scored for Antioch. In a non-conference match, Antioch tied McHenry 1-1. Kevin Erickson dribbled through a host of McHenry defenders in a 60-yard breakaway score.

"After a couple of slumping games, we were able to bring it back together against Stevenson," said Wilson. Antioch was 11-3-1 overall and 1-1 in the conference before hosting Lake Forest Thursday and traveling to Mundelein Tuesday.

"I think we had more fans than Stevenson did," said Wilson of Antioch's fans at the Stevenson away game. "Hopefully, we're turning some people into soccer fans."

Antioch Golf Club to offer winter series

The Antioch Golf Club announced its new "Hearty Golf Classic Tournament Series."

Beginning in December and running through March 1995, the Antioch Golf Club will host a different event each month for the golfer who is hearty of spirit and does not let Chicago winters deter them from "teeing it up."

Before the new series, the Antioch course is holding its two-person scramble "Oktoberfest." Cost is $64. Entries close Oct. 7.

Sequoits to regroup after battle with No. 1 team

Antioch's football season has been like a seesaw so far. Up and down, down and up. The contest against Rockford Boylan proved no different, as the Sequoits played a strong first half, but lost its competitiveness in the second half.

The Sequoits suffered a 42-13 defeat. Rockford Boylan also happens to be the number one team in the state.

"When you go against the number one team in the state, it's going to be a battle," said Antioch Coach Del Pechauer.

His Sequoits kept it close in the first half. Rockford scored twice on an 18-yd. run and a 54-yd. interception touchdown return. Antioch walked off the field at halftime trailing 13-0.

Shortly into the second half, Antioch running back Brad Rubash broke through the line for a 54-yd. touchdown run. Quarterback Walter Martens connected with Rubash for the two-point conversion, and Antioch was back in business losing 13-8.

"We were right in the game until the third quarter," said Pechauer.

After that score, it was all Rockford, who managed to find the end zone four more times. One of Rockford's scores was a 70-yd. punt return.

"We had a breakdown on special teams the last couple of games, so we're going to try to improve that," said Pechauer.

Antioch's final score came on a 3-yd. reception to wide receiver Justin Jenison from Martens. Jenison caught an earlier pass good for 51 yards.

The game was not without some fine individual performances, Pechauer said. Safety Dan Newcomb had eight solo tackles and knocked down four passes intended for Rockford receivers. Eric Dams also recorded three sacks.

The Sequoits will return to North Suburban Conference action Saturday when they travel to Lake Forest. Antioch is now 2-2 in the NSC and 2-3 overall, making every game important if the Sequoits hope to see some playoff action.

"We'll try to get this win on Saturday and go from there," Pechauer said.

Youth Vikings can see game for free

For the second straight week, Antioch Vikings youth football players and cheerleaders will be allowed into a Lake County Vikings game free of charge if they wear a uniform. Family members will be charged $2.

Rams' 'Little freshman' makes quite an impact

STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

Grayslake soccer Coach Paul Missavage was impressed with a player his teammates call "the little freshman" right from the start.

"He is awesome. He is a dangerous player and that is what we have on this team, a group of dangerous players, not just one or two goal scorers," Missavage said.

Brian Phillip is the player who wears No. 4 and was receiving his share of accolades following a 5-3 win over Round Lake.

Phillip and Peter Szentendrei both scored two second-half goals in the entertaining second half.

"I thought I would make varsity, but I did not think I would play that much," Phillip said.

Phillip had several close misses in the first 40 minutes, which were turned away by Round Lake goalie Henry Campos.

"They went for some long balls in the second half and that gave us some break-aways," Phillip said.

The win gives Grayslake a 4-0 Northwest Suburban Conference record and the league lead.

"We played decent, but not good enough to win," Round Lake Coach Bob Curran said.

Steve Prior scored first in the match's opening five minutes off a throw-in. The former Californian notched his seventh goal.

A controversial penalty kick was called less than a minute later and Macario Quevedo beat Patterson on a shot above the goalie for a 2-1 Round Lake lead.

Szentendrei scored the first of his two goals five minutes later on a header for a 2-2 tie.

Phillip took over, scoring at the 27:45 mark as he rebounded his own shot and another goal for a 4-2 Rams lead.

Sikifredo Tovar scored for Round Lake for a 4-3, but Szentendrei scored at the 10:21 mark to pad the home team's margin.

"This win is very big for us. Our goal is to win the conference and this is a big step to that. But we know the other teams will be tough in the second half," Missavage said.

The Rams improved to 7-3-1 with the win, coming back from a disappointing 2-2 tie against Mundelein.

"We rebounded the way we should have. This is a very tight-knit group and they deserved the win," Missavage said.

Missavage noted the community and parental support the team receives.

The Rams are at the McHenry tournament Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 before resuming the league title quest by hosting Marian Central Oct. 5.

Lady golfers top Deerfield, Rockow places seventh

The Antioch High School lady golfers completed another busy week out on the links with two wins and two losses. The Sequoits were defeated by Marengo (233-197) and Palatine (227-222), and came back with big wins over Deerfield (233-264) and Evanston (167-224).

Antioch scores in the Deerfield/Marengo match included: Sarah Murphy-55, Kelly Periman-57, Sarah Rockow-59, Marissa Blasko-62, Angie Pederson-63, and Lisa Murphy-63.

In the five-stroke loss to Palatine at Palatine Hills Golf Club, Sequoit scores included Rockow-52, Sarah Murphy-57, Lisa Murphy-58, Blasko-60, Pederson-60, and Periman-76.

The four low scores totaling 227 were 48 strokes better than last year on the same course.

In the Evanston match, Sarah Murphy and Rockow each carded a 39, followed by Lisa Murphy-44, Pederson-45, Blasko-50, and Periman-51.

The 167 on the Peter Jans Golf Course in Evanston is another team best for the Lady Sequoits.

Antioch coach Steve Wapon said, "The par-34 course was a challenging test for our short game on tight fairways. You still have to chip and putt in order to score. I felt as a team our course management was good."

Schmitt-54, Krista Workman-57, Abigail Clark-58, April Bolton-63, Crystal Divis-85 and Laura Cziczko-90.

ACHS lady golfer Sarah Rockow brought home the seventh-place medal from the Antioch Invitational held at Hunter Country Club this past weekend.

Rockow, a sophomore, carded an 18-hole score of 99, followed by Periman-114, Lisa Murphy-116, Blasko-122, Pederson-123, Jessica Shore-132 and DeAnne Dalgaard-139.

Team scores in the tournament included Libertyville-393, Kenosha-Tremper-395, Lake Forest-396, Hersey-400, Palatine-432, Antioch-451, Wheeling-497 and Stevenson-498.

Spikers peaking at right time

Antioch's lady spikers had improved their record to 12-6 overall and remained undefeated in conference action before taking on Fenton Tuesday and Mundelein Friday in two key North Suburban Conference matches.

Since the disappointing showing at the Stevenson Invitational, Antioch has regrouped and has beaten their opponents in straight matches, nullifying the need for a third game.

The Sequoits improved their conference record to 3-0 after defeating Libertyville 15-8, 15-8. Seniors Carrie Curtis and Katy Harney led the Sequoits with six kills and 100 percent hitting.

Junior Mary Ipsen also converted 23 of 25 sets.

Against Carmel, Tricia Keefe, another senior, put up impressive numbers with six kills to help Antioch beat the Corsairs 15-10, 15-11.

"My seniors have been so consistent all season," said Antioch Coach Gwen Varney. Curtis, Harney and Keefe have been the driving force for Antioch this season. Senior Stephanie Montgomery and junior Erin O'Connell have been contributing to the starting line up as well.

Highland Park was no match for Antioch, as other non-starters were able to see some quality playing time in the 15-1, 15-5

Sequoit victory.

Junior Melanie Rodgers registered three aces in five serving attempts against Highland Park. Sophomore Carrie Gofron garnered a kill and connected on all four of her hits.

"They're really playing as a team," Varney said. "We're playing on a higher level, which is where we want to be at this point in the season."

After facing Fenton Tuesday, the Sequoits travel to Mundelein Friday in a key NSC matchup. The Mustangs are perennial favorites in volleyball action.

"We're excited," Varney said of the Mundelein game. "These kids don't have any problem getting up for a game."

Lindenhurst girls' field mixed results

In week three of the IWSL fall soccer season, five of the six girl's travel teams played with mixed results.

Blitz

The Blitz (U-16) remained undefeated with their third straight win and third straight shutout. The Libertyville Wildcats fell to the Blitz at Polley Field by a score of 3-0.

A fired-up Lindenhurst team came out roaring at the start of the contest, finding the net twice early in the first half.

After beating the Libertyville defender, Becca Bleyer came in from right-wing and rocketed in a shot that found the upper corner of the net. The play was made possible by a perfectly placed pass from Jill Denoma.

Moments later, Carrie Gofron was in a perfect position to punch home a rebound off a shot sent in by Bleyer. The half ended with the Blitz on top 2-0.

The Blitz started the second half a bit flat. Libertyville was putting tremendous pressure on the Lindenhurst net, but Blitz goalkeeper Melissa Helbig rose to the occasion.

Making several big saves, Helbig was superb in holding off the attack, while the Blitz regained control of the game.

The final Blitz goal came off an accurate chip pass from Carrie Gofron that Bleyer headed into the goal.

Other strong performances were turned in by Tami Wright, Nicki Kral, Erin Sparkman, Stacey Alberts, Sondra Woodruff and Robin Levy.

The Blitz (3-0) travel to Naperville this Sunday.

Stars

The Stars (U-14) suffered their first loss of the season by falling to the Arlington Aces 1-0 at Polley Field.

Arlington's good defense and the Star being unable to convert several scoring chances were contributing factors to the loss.

Anderson modernizing Treasurer's Office

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Jack "Red" Anderson, the 16 year incumbent Lake County Treasurer, wants to be there when the office is modernized with a system upgrade. Anderson, who has seen the office through numerous changes since he began there 36 years ago, feels he is the best person for the job.

"Right now, I would put this office up against any in Illinois," said Anderson. "I would hate to see it slip."

Anderson, the Republican candidate, is running against Democrat Arlene Demb. He believes he is a dedicated public servant and is running on his record. And, Anderson's record appears to be pretty good.

He has seen the total collections grow from $34 million to the current year's $716 million. He has reduced his staff and is particularly proud of the turn-around time record of his office, distributing real estate tax monies to taxing bodies faster than most other counties.

"When I took over in 1978 there were 28 employees," explained Anderson. "Now we have only 17 full-time employees."

Anderson still remembers when all of the records were hand-written. When he took office 90 percent of Lake County money was invested in Chicago banks. He had even found accounts earning no interest at all. All that has changed now, and money is invested locally in Lake County institutions.

"People used to hand write things and enter payments by pen," he said. Now, of course, many things are done on computer, but he believes things can be done even faster.

Some of the new innovations with the upgrade would be bar codes which would allow staff to simply scan tax payments instead of the current system of manually typing every number. Anderson said the current computer system is near capacity.

"Our system is to the max," he said. "The County has grown so immensely. We can't put anymore on the system."

Anderson hopes to be re-elected so that he can assist in the conversion. He predicts that with the changes, at the most, only one additional employee will be needed, and maybe not even that.

"It will take approximately one and one-half to two years to convert. If we get this system, we won't need anymore employees," he said. "I want to be a part of that."

The Treasurer's Office is a very "Red" Anderson busy place. Not only does it administer funds as the Treasurer for Lake County but the office also collects funds for the taxing districts. At this time 230 taxing districts look to the County Treasurer's Office for disbursements.

The office has a number of peak periods. The first See OFFICE page B3

Ryg registration violations unfounded

MARY FOLEY

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporters

After consulting with the Illinois State Board of Elections, the Lake County Republican Central Committee requested an investigation into the voter registration practices of Democratic County Clerk candidate Kathy Ryg.

Ryg, the village clerk for Vernon Hills, was observed by Melody Miller registering voters at a candidates forum at Trustmark, in Lake Forest. She was sitting under a sign stating, "Lake County Voter Registration provided by Village Clerk Kathleen Ryg." Ryg was also spotted wearing a name badge, "Kathy Ryg, Village Clerk."

According to Ryg, the Republican allegations were incorrect because she has the authority to register voters outside of Vernon Hills as a deputy registrar. "They were in error," said Ryg. "I have done nothing wrong."

Mitchell Hoffman, of the State's Attorney's Office agreed. "Based on our review, we did not find any evidence of a violation," he said.

Valery Gallagher, of the Republican Central Committee, defended the Committee's actions. Gallagher said that when the issue was brought to their attention, the Committee had contacted Lynn Mastrogany of the Illinois State Board of Elections. "She said to file," explained Gallagher.

Mastrogany even sent the Committee a copy of a statute indicating the actions of Ryg were improper. The relevant statute said, in part, "municipal and township or road district clerks or their duly authorized deputies as deputy registrars may accept the registration of all qualified residents of their respective municipalities..."

The statute sent, however, was for counties with less than 500,000. Lake County has approximately 516,000 people, and as a result, the applicable law permits Ryg to register voters all over Lake County.

The Committee's other objection related to Ryg sitting under a banner and wearing a badge with her name on it. However, since neither item had any reference to her campaign, Hoffman did not pursue the matter. "I don't see that as a problem," said Hoffman.

However, according to Gallagher, Mastrogany felt it was wrong. Gallagher said she was told the banner and name badge may "disenfranchise voters."

"The thing that struck us," said Gallagher about the banner and badge, "is that when Willard (Helander, Republican candidate for County Clerk) attended a class last summer for deputy registrars, she was specifically told not to wear a name tag."

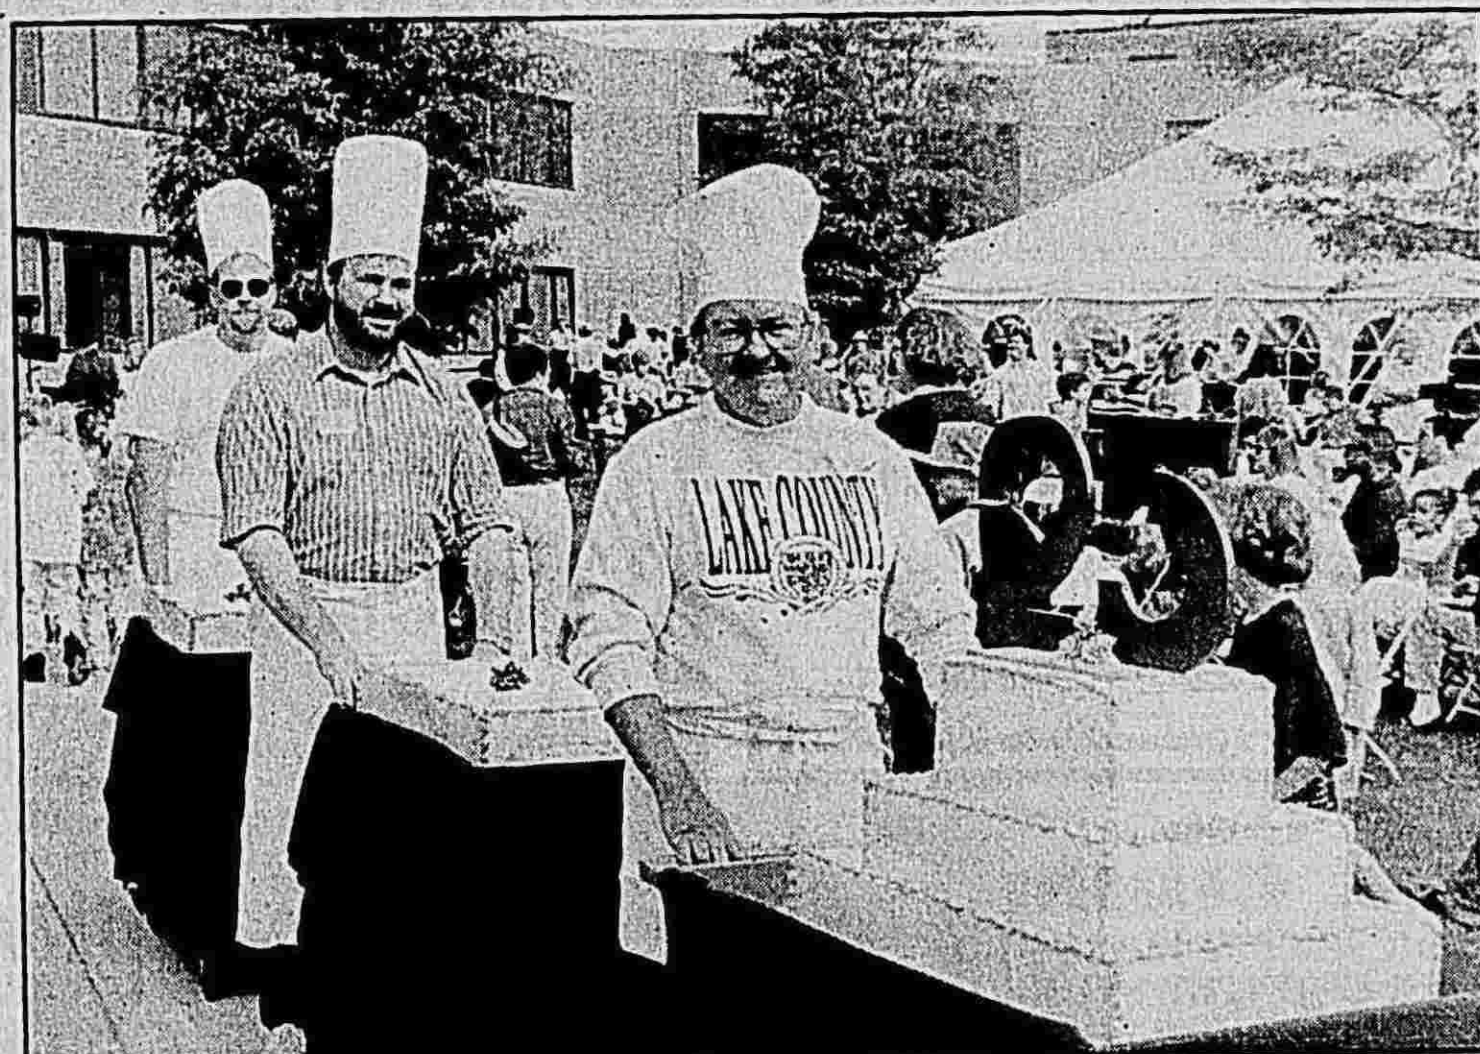

Gallagher said it was suggested, during that class, that Helander not register voters at all during her campaign. "It can't be one way for a Democrat and another way for a Republican," said Gallagher.

Kathy Ryg

Ryg said she frequently brings a sign which states "Lake County Voter Registration provided by Village Clerk Kathleen Ryg." She does this because, "That is the authority by which I register voters."

Integrated recruit training underway at Great Lakes

JUDY R. LAZARUS

Staff Reporter

Approximately 60 women recruits stood side by side with their male counterparts at the graduation review at Great Lakes Naval Training Center.

For the first time in the base's history, women received their recruit training in integrated companies with men. Companies 281 and 282 trained together in the classroom and in outdoor military drill.

Following World War II, from 1948 to 1951, women in the WAVES (Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service) received recruit training at Great Lakes. But this was completely separate from the men in contrast to Recruit Training Command's (RTC's) present system.

"I didn't do anything different with the women," said Company Commander Boatswain's Mate Chief Petty Officer Francesca See RECRUIT page B2

Awareness week activities set Recruit

Each year, it is estimated that mental illness affects more than three million young people, costing the country billions of dollars in lost productivity, social dependence, and health care costs.

More alarming, the elderly are our fastest growing population segment and are even more susceptible to mental illness than are young people. Fortunately, even though mental illness is widely misunderstood and feared, it has become more treatable with new techniques.

October 1 through 7 is Mental Illness Awareness week. The theme for this year's awareness week is "Treatment works, so people can too."

The Alliance for the Mentally Ill of Lake County has a goal to continually work toward establishing community vocational rehabilitation services "that work" so people with a mental illness can become as productive and independent as possible and have a rewarding life.

The Alliance will have a bevy of activities and seminars during the week at the College of Lake County, beginning with a 10K Awareness Walk. The walk begins at the CLC grounds Oct. 1 at 10 a.m.

All the events during Mental Illness Awareness Week are being co-sponsored by The Alliance, CLC, Highland Park Hospital, Forest Hospital, Independence Center, Victory Memorial Hospital, Lake County Mental Health Department, and Rock Creek Center.

For more information on the 10K walk or the week's other scheduled events, call The Alliance at 249-1515.—by NEAL TUCKER

Voter registration deadline nears

"The last day to register to vote before the November general election is Tuesday, Oct. 11," said Linda Hess, Lake County Clerk.

On Nov. 8, we'll be voting for federal, state and county offices, as well as for various referenda.

"I want to emphasize that if you've moved recently, you will need to re-register," Hess said. If you've changed your name because you've married, you must also re-register.

Anyone who is 17 years old but will be 18 by election day (Nov. 8) can register now. There are many places throughout Lake County to register to vote.

Bradshaw, who has been training recruits at Great Lakes since 1992. "I treated them exactly the same."

"It went well. It was very positive with the females here," noted Operations Specialist Chief Petty Officer Vivienne Cousins, who served as company commander along with Bradshaw for the first five weeks of the training.

Integrating the two companies made the men push a little harder and gave the females a goal, Cousins explained. "The women wanted to show they could do it too. It gave a balanced effect. Both were pushing forward."

Women recruits asked more questions, Bradshaw noted. "They would rather ask questions than make mistakes," she said. "They had no infractions on the street or in the barracks. And academically they did well also."

The belief that women cry more than men proved to be a false one, according to the chief. "They didn't cry anymore than the men did," she observed.

"During service week, we received compliments from all over the base," Bradshaw said. "In the fifth week of training, a list is drawn up of where people are needed and recruits are assigned to those areas."

There is more stress on integrated companies than on regular companies, Bradshaw said, "Because people are not used to having women here. They dealt with it really well."

"The men now have experience working with the women," Cousins noted. "Now they will know what to expect when they are with them in the fleet."

An averaging of 300 women recruits a week are now coming to Great Lakes.

A company commander (left, in white uniform) adjusts the company guide-on bearer's grip on the company flag, as an integrated recruit training company prepares to hit the streets. Women are once again going through boot camp at Great Lakes, for the first time in 43 years. This time, though, men and women train side-by-side in the classroom and in outdoor military drill. ## AT A GLANCE

Suspected gun seller caught

ROUND LAKE BEACH—Robert Pashegoba, 43, of Fox Lake is under 24-hour police watch at St. Therese Hospital after he allegedly tried to sell a loaded shotgun at Kristof's World of Fun. In Fox Lake, he had reportedly had taken actions which implied he would rob the J&L Gas station. He was arrested on charges of unlawful use of a weapon in Fox Lake as well.

Boating class offered

FOX LAKE—Flotilla 06-11 of the United States Coast Guard Auxiliary announced a new boating skills and seamanship class which began this week. Every Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Fox Lake Community Center another class will take place. The course is free and the charge for books and materials is $20. For more information on this and future classes please call Herman Schaefer (708) 587-8407. If no answer please leave a message and your call will be returned.

Student attends contest

HAINESVILLE—Seventh grade Grayslake Middle School student and Hainesville resident Collen Peterson may soon be called an academic wonder. Her parents, Sharon and Gary are all for their daughter competing in the Pre-Teen America Scholarship and Recognition Program in Springfield. "It's an academic event," said her mother, a chemistry teacher at Antioch Community High School. "If this were a beauty thing, I wouldn't let her do it." Over $5,000 in educational bonds, prizes and awards will be presented to the winner of Pre-Teen Illinois.

Development criticized

ROUND LAKE HEIGHTS—The zoning board is continuing a hearing on a proposed 185-unit housing development by Pasquelli Inc. on a 90-acre parcel off Lotus Road. The development would be within 150 feet of the Fairfield Marsh, federal advanced identification wetland. Residents and Lake County Board Members criticized the development because they fear future flooding and damage to the ecosystem. The zoning board hasn't addressed the environmental issue and wants more information from the developer before giving a recommendation to the village board. Another meeting is slated for Oct. 3 at the village hall on 629 Pontiac Court.

Blood drive for youth

MUNDELEIN—A community blood drive has been scheduled from 3 to 8 p.m. Sept. 30 at the Community Protestant Church in Mundelein, 418 N. Prairie. Although all blood types are needed for general use, organizers hope to identify type O negative donors to help David Weitzel, a 12-year-old undergoing chemotherapy treatments for a brain tumor.

Monastery seeks annexation

GURNEE—St. Sava Serbian Orthodox Monastery would like to be part of Gurnee. Church officials presented an annexation plan to Gurnee Village Board, which gave its approval to proceed.

Park donation unacceptable

VERNON HILLS—The Vernon Hills Park District feels the park plans offered by the developers of the Cuneo estate are 'deficient.' A park district planner pointed out that the majority of the park lands lie in 100-year flood plains and wetlands. Some 39 acres of one park site donated are Lake Charles. Out of the approximately 71 acres donated to the park district, only 11.75 acres are what park district commissioners deemed as "buildable" for athletic fields or other recreational activities. Park officials said 37.5 acres would be necessary to serve the estimated 3,750 residents expected to move into the development, which has been named "Gregg's Landing."

Kid's Korner opens

LAKE COUNTY—The Lake County Circuit Court is pleased to announce the opening of the Kid's Korner, a waiting room for children between the ages of 3 to 12, located in the courthouse. The room will provide a safe environment for children who are required to be in the courthouse. The Kid's Korner was a collaborative effort between many Lake County organizations and was chaired by Judge Jane D. Waller. For more information call Carol Yates at the Fighting Back office at 546-7144.

Composting permit undecided

GRAYS LAKE—DK Recycling Systems, Inc., of rural Grayslake, has granted the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency a thirty day extension to make a permit decision on its composting facility. In August, DK Recycling, which is owned and operated by Schroeder's Nursery, applied for a 2-year extension to operate its composting facility at the site on Rte 60. At a public hearing, the permit renewal met with staunch opposition by neighbors of the facility, with complaints of foul smells intruding into their airspace. The IEPA now has until Oct. 15 to consider the permit renewal.

Industrial housing plan nixed

LAKE ZURICH—The proposed developers of the Cuneo property in Vernon Hills have presented a plan to village officials for a 172-home residential project next to the community's industrial park. The 82-acre parcel on Quentin Road north of Route 22 is in the park now. Joel Hillman, owner of the land, has proposed to sell the land to the Zale Companies of Buffalo Grove and purchase a 70-acre tract directly to its north, thereby preserving the industrial park. Village trustees rejected the preliminary plans, saying they were too dense and did not provide enough open space for each home.

Pesticide pollution involves many scapegoats, solutions

KEVIN HANRAHAN

Staff Reporter

Pesticides, herbicides, insecticides, rodenticides, and many other "...cides" are chemicals commonly affiliated with farming. While that may be true, they are also very common chemicals used by schools, businesses and homeowners to control pests on lawns.

Illinois has the second highest use of pesticides in the country, and four leading environmental organizations have joined forces to address urban and rural pesticide use in a project called "Safer Pest Control Project."

The project was recently launched in Chicago and is headed by Liz Fayer, an environmental biology instructor at the College of Lake County.

"Pesticides are a leading environmental problem in Illinois because we are such a big ag(riculture) state," Fayer said. But she also noted that suburbanites are adding to the problem as well with their weekly chemical sprayings for their lawns. Schools and businesses are other leading contributors to pesticide or chemical pollution.

"The overall message is that we are filling the environment with chemicals which are causing problems at all levels in the food chain," said Fayer.

She also said Lake County bird watchers are finding more and more birds with deformities because they are filled with chemicals. Although the correlation between deformed animals and chemicals has not been proven directly, she said it should still raise concerns among environmentally conscious citizens.

The "Safer Pest Control Project" is not necessarily out to eliminate all chemicals, rather it aims to promote alternatives through an Integrated Pest Management program. IPM, Fayer said, "is a very effective and environmentally sensitive approach to pest management."

Farmers, for example, could use smaller amounts or doses of pesticides on their fields, which also saves them money in the long run, she said. IPM also introduces other biological controls, such as "predatory bugs that eat bugs eating the plants," Fayer said.

As the primary resource and networker, Fayer hopes to encourage environmental groups to become interested in the project. For homeowners, schools and businesses that frequently use chemicals for their lawns, she will have literature and contacts available on how to maintain healthy lawns in an environmentally responsible way.

"They are a lot of people out there who are not aware that their schools and businesses are being sprayed when they are not there," Fayer said. "It could be a great learning project for teachers and students."

Fayer pointed out that the harmful effects of asbestos did not gain people's attention until they realized it had adverse effects on their children's health. For more about "Safer Pest Control Project," call 634-4737.

week in June and September, are very busy and several part-time employees join the regular staff. As a convenience to the public, the office is open on Saturdays and evenings near the penalty dates. "I work too," Anderson quipped.

Anderson recently underwent surgery for an aneurysm in August. The surgery was very successful and he is already back on the job on a part-time basis. He expects to be back full-time by the middle of next month. He jokingly referred to other illnesses he has had over the years, which, seemly occur every six years.

"It seems every six years something happens to me," Anderson joked. "I think I'll be great for the next six years." Anderson wants to make sure that voters know that he is recovering nicely and will be back "full tilt" in October. "I'm getting stronger every day," he said.

He said his surgery has not affected his campaign much except for the fact he delayed the operation in order to fulfill some obligations. "Spending more time than money," is his campaigning creed.

Wellness weekend offers insight

Correspondent

Area women who find they spend most of their time doing for others may want to take time for themselves to attend the Women's Wellness Weekend.

Long Grove resident Andrea Shainberg is touting the two-day seminar as an "outstanding" program for women who are interested in staying well or getting well.

The Women's Wellness Weekend, which will focus on mind and body healing techniques, will be held on Oct. 8 and 9 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily at the Ramada Woodfield Hotel at 920 E. Northwest Hwy. in Palatine.

"This wonderful seminar is about women taking time for themselves and learning tools for staying or getting healthy," said Shainberg, who helped organize the seminar.

Gail Petrowsky, M.S.W., an internationally certified therapist and holistic counselor, will present techniques for healing old patterns and wounds, energizing and empowering one's life, enhancing relationships and creating happiness and wellness.

Petrowsky practices neuro-linguistic programming, which stresses the connection between mind and body and employs relaxation techniques as the basis to effect healing. A former director and founder of Insight, a Connecticut-based self awareness program, Petrowsky has been giving personal development seminars for the past 20 years.

The cost of the two-day seminar is $225, and seating is limited. For more information or to register, call Shainberg at 520-1111.

Development woes rooted in density

If there's any common denominator to the new wave of residential growth in west Lake County, it's higher density being planned by builders and developers that increasingly is getting the greenlight from officialdom.

Of six projects that have attained public attention of late, the question of how many units are reasonable and appropriate for a given land unit is paramount. Significantly, opposition typically raises arguments based on other points than development itself. That's a new attitude, in our opinion, a viewpoint that bodes well for compromise.

The public seems to understand that development is inevitable. Arguments arise over the degree to which the land will be impacted. Questions regarding environmental protection, storm drainage, traffic and school impact have become parts of the broader concern over workable density.

The density factor is evident in debate over development of environmentally sensitive land abutting Fairfield Marsh adjacent to Round Lake Heights. Unacceptable density is the underlying cause of public outrage over three projects, including 150 mobile homes, planned for Wooster Lake, a small recreational body of water in Grant Township. Renewed effort to develop the 430 acre Roney Farm near Wauconda for 850 homes has rekindled public debate over how many homes can be crammed on the given acreage considering there are 57 acres of wetlands on the property. Slocum Lake townhouses proposed in Island Lake are mired deeply in drainage problems, but high density for the available buildable land isn't helping.

The time has come to recognize density as a root cause for the societal problems associated with over development. Not everyone can afford to live on a five acre estate, but then it's also sensible to recognize that allowing affordable condos on filled-in wetlands isn't the answer, either.

Main street USA back in style

Just as the nation is rediscovering the importance of family values (shades of Dan Quayle), there is a resurgence of interest in the role a viable main street plays in advancing community living.

Illinois politicians are jumping on the downtown bandwagon as fast as they can—if they can find room. Lt. Gov. Bob Kustra, campaigning with his boss for reelection, says the year-old Illinois Main Street program ought to turn its attention to the suburbs now that it has a 13-town toe hold downstate. Yes it should.

In short, Illinois Main Street provides technical assistance to help communities set up local corporations formed to revitalize sagging downtowns. This is sort of a political quick fix. No grants. No aid. Communities still are on their own when it comes to funding upgrades of deteriorating infrastructures and rehabbing ancient buildings.

The state could learn a thing or two from Libertyville, which tied into a Washington-based organization long enough ago to achieve measurable results. In their own fashion, Antioch and Mundelein are engaged in bootstrap efforts to revitalize aging downtowns. Grayslake trustees are doing their best to interest downtown merchants in organizing for revitalization, going so far as dangling a $35,000 carrot for administrative costs in front of them.

To many communities, a downtown is an irresistible lure. Buffalo Grove, Vernon Hills and Schaumburg are in various stages of campaigns to "manufacture" a downtown where one never existed in the first place. Other Lake County communities like Gurnee and Lake Zurich grew so fast in recent years that crossroads clusters of business never reached main street status. Like Vernon Hills, the Round Lake area has become a "mall town." It remains to be seen whether this rapidly growing sector will get the main street bug in the future.

This newspaper has its share of battle scars to show for our unstinting main street support from 'way back. Our adherence to main street values is based on the conviction that every universe, no matter how small, needs a center.

Just like the unending Odyssey of the American hemline, Main Street America has had its ups and downs. We're happy to see downtown back in style.

Big Mac's experimental Hearth Express has debuted in west suburban Darien to rave notices. McDonald executives aren't talking, but they're said to be thrilled about going toe-to-toe with successful home-style cooking places featuring $4.99 to $5.99 sit-down meals.

Look for future Hearth Express outlets to spout in Vernon Hills and near Gurnee Mills.

SECRET'S OUT—Environmentalists have figured out why controversial developer Bruno Pasquinelli is drawn to wetlands-impacted areas like kids to a candy store when other builders shy away from cattails.

They say Pasquinelli knows that land near protected wetlands can be purchased cheaper and that the cagey builder has figured out how to wend his way through the thicket of bureaucracy surrounding wetlands.

Pasquinelli, a major Chicago developer, personally has been dealing with officials in Round Lake Heights, Mundelein and Island Lake to gain approval for building projects. Complaints about potential flooding and king-size drainage headaches don't faze him.

SICK HOUSE—Employees in the office of Libertyville High School are happy the district's "This Old House" adventure is coming to an end soon.

Early in 1995 the more than 100-year-old house on W. Park Ave. that has been district headquarters for 14 years will be leveled to make room for a new $352,000 administrative center.

Supt. Don Gossett liked the place, but workers said that mold and bacteria collecting in damp spots made them sick. Board members Richard Friedenberg and Donald Ransom said the structure, formerly the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Baldwin, has become a nuisance. Somewhat nettled by the criticism, the Baldwins indicated that school officials probably forgot to keep the roof patched. "The house was in splendid condition when we sold it to the school," Mrs. Baldwin declared.

SONG BIRD—Coroner Barbara Richardson, known for her knack of putting words to songs for just about every occasion, was up to the task at a 25th anniversary luncheon at College of Lake County.

Richardson adapted Bob Hope's theme song, "Thanks for the Memory," for a luncheon opus she retitled, "Thanks for the Memories." Long-time CLC trustee Jim Lumber recounted interesting anecdotes about the school's formative years, including the somewhat embarrassing tale that harried staff members (Richardson happened to be one) misplaced the application of the school's first president, Dr. Richard Erzen. "We found it behind a radiator six months later," Lumber grinned sheepishly.

Helen ought to know. She was one of them. Helen recalled undergoing boot camp at Great Lakes in 1951. Next year Wave recruit training was moved to Bainbridge, Md.

—COMMENTARY— Developer's 'protection' belies responsibility

Frances B. Sheldon

Thank heaven! Finally Pasquinelli is proposing a wetlands development so outrageous that Bill Schroeder is blowing the whistle. Keep your whistle handy.

Here on Slocum Lake we've been trying to fend off a Pasquinelli/Island Lake cozy collusion since January, and the only progress we can claim is that nothing has been built so far.

The editor is so right about the indifference of village officials to environmental issues. Island Lake trustees are far more concerned about getting some landscaping and a $100,000 spotlight from Pasquinelli than they are in maintaining the integrity of the area's drainage resources. They're a bit worried about how they're going to manage snowplowing in the cramped quarters of the proposed Clearwater Oaks subdivision, but they actually snicker when "bleeding hearts" urge retention of wildlife habitat.

Our wetlands (ADID Wetland No. 121) are neither as extensive nor as pristine as Fairfield Marsh, but they are vital to the viability of the Slocum Lake drainage basin (the most flood-prone of the four major drainage basins in Lake County).

It's the lake's northeast slough that Pasquinelli is targeting. He wants to put 21 buildings (142 families) on the slightly higher ground north, east and south of a cattail swamp. He's purchased 31 1/2 acres, 19 of which are delineated wetlands. Through multiple variances, he's managed to squeeze out about 18-19 acres of "buildable" land.

All the usual governmental entities have investigated Pasquinelli's plans and issued reports ranging from cautionary to negative to incomplete (no biological survey has ever been done). The Army Corps of Engineers, however, can override anybody else's recommendations. The OCE has approved not only the building site, but also the construction of a big, long, gravel-and-earthen berm right through the peat-bottomed cattail swamp that comprises the heart of the slough. This would run parallel to Mylith Park's western border and "protect" us from flooding. Pasquinelli does not own the swamp; it's still in the hands of a private land speculator. The berm is to be maintained in perpetuity through the "property owners' association" scam so accurately described.

Island Lake has already flooded into Mylith Park twice recently (April 1993 and February 1994) from its new Westridge subdivision to our north. This should be hard to do during a dry weather cycle. Island Lake achieved it by running Westridge's storm sewers under Rte. 176 and then simply dumping the water out onto the ground to find its own path to the slough. About half of it detoured via Mylith Park.

-PARTY LINES-

No-show Republicans not sending a message

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is prepared from staff reports.

No-show means nothing—Lake Zurich Mayor Deborah A. Vasels said her no-show at a press conference of County mayors and village presidents giving Gov. Jim Edgar their support should not be an indication of where she stands in the election.

Vasels "Philosophically speaking, I have more Republican tendencies than Democratic tendencies, but I tend to look at the way a candidate looks at the issues," she said.

"My non-appearance should not indicate anything," she said, adding a conflict precluded her from making the afternoon meeting in Gurnee.

"My reason for not appearing had nothing to do with supporting Edgar," she said.

Vasels said she has not made a decision for either Edgar or Dawn Clark Netsch, as neither candidate is perfect.

Either way, her choice as Mayor of Lake Zurich may be different than her choice as a resident of Illinois, she said, depending on the issues involved.

Eckmann note—As president of the Northwest Municipal Conference, Libertyville Mayor Jo Ann Eckmann did not attend the Gov's pep rally in Gurnee. Various Republican mayors demonstrated their support for the Governor Edgar by attending the event, but Eckmann said she felt it necessary to maintain a non-partisan stand as president of the NWMC. She said the conference has sent letters to both Edgar and Democrat candidate Dawn Clark Netsch on its wish to form a property tax reform task force.

Other missing members—Other Lake County mayors missing for the Gubernatorial event included: Lenore Simmons of Long Grove who was out-of-town as well as Douglas Challos of Hawthorn Woods who had other commitments. Teaching careers prevented Park City Mayor Robert Allen and Third Lake Mayor Karen McCluskey from attending.

Democrats give no endorsement—Among the Democratic Lake County members including: Former Republican Ralph Davis of Round Lake Beach, Jim Lumber of Round Lake, Bobby Thompson of North Chicago and Bill Durkin of Waukegan, none have come forward to formally endorse Dawn Clark Netsch in the governor's race. Perhaps there is an announcement brewing?

Gash

Dirty tricks—Supporters of State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-Highland Park) are charging that her Republican opponent, Edna Schade, attempted to plant a mole in Gash headquarters.

According to Gash backers, a young man lied about his name, phone number and address in offering to volunteer for the first term Democrat. A few days later, Gash herself spotted the young man wearing a Schade campaign shirt. When confronted, the political spy hopeful shrugged, "Well, you know how the game is played."

Future on line—Open space advocates in Wauconda say Mayor James Eschenbauch is walking a political tightrope by backing not one but two controversial building projects at the same time. Eschenbauch is supporting a new plan for Roney Farms and the 100-home project for Wauconda Orchards. Support Eschenbauch among village residents for growth and development reportedly is soft.

Glad and sad—Members of the Lake County Republican Federation tempered their lively annual meeting with a touch of sadness noting the death of Ned Fisher, 46, a former Federation stalwart.

The late Waukegan attorney and GOP partisan was a past winner of the coveted Bob Milton Award for leadership and service which went this year to State Rep. Virginia Flester Frederick (R-Lake Forest). The award to Frederick was a meeting high point.

Frederick

State Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest) led eulogies to the former leader, recalling with lump in throat the many happy times he and Ned shared in rehearsing and performing their popular political skits.

Waiting for Bill—Democrats in Waukegan are noting with glee that Bill Stanczak, a state employee, is having a hard time getting his campaign off ground to unseat County Board Rep. Bertha Ogrin, a highly respected Democrat. Bill already has suffered one defeat at the hands of Ogrin and was a reluctant starter.

Working with children—County Board member Pam Newton finds herself working with children all day long. In addition to representing district 18 as a County Board member, she is director of Christ Lutheran Preschool in Vernon Hills. She attends county committee meetings in the morning and then races back to Vernon Hills to take care of preschool business. "I work with children all day long. Some are older than others," Newton quipped.

Commentary

Apparently in tacit recognition of the Westridge episodes (Island Lake has never formally admitted culpability), Pasquinelli magnanimously offered to construct yet another berm to "protect" us a few months ago. This would be a one-foot-high earthen mound on the 40-foot-wide easement along Mylith Park Rd. (our northern boundary). A shallow ditch would be dug behind it. Our own storm sewer is already in place in this easement; Island Lake is talking about using this same easement to run its sanitary sewers over to Pasquinelli's development and beyond. Just how all this would fit into the same 40-foot width I don't know, but I'm quite sure the tall trees and verdant undergrowth now lining Mylith Park Rd. would no longer be here.

Island Lake's "final" approval of Pasquinelli's latest "final" plans seems imminent. The plans are rumored to contain yet more brand new twists, including dredging into Slocum Lake. Other rumors indicate Pasquinelli may also be involved in commercial development (gas station? hotel? marina? bar?) on the adjacent property to the east (corner Rte. 176 and Darrell Rd.).

Remember the "Year 2000

LAMCOG Comprehensive Plan" published in 1984? That document was so carefully researched and sensitively reasoned that it was probably doomed to oblivion from the very beginning. Certainly the current Island Lake trustees are paying no attention to it. The "Parcel Map" in the LAMCOG Plan appendix recommended nothing but estate development (one- to five-acre homesites) on the land north and east of the slough, and nothing at all on the Rte. 176, Darrell Rd. corner. Island Lake has zoned the entire area for multi-family and commercial development.

Pasquinelli had planned to start building this spring. There's only one reason it hasn't happened yet: The incredible effort expended by Slocum Lake citizens determined to avert disaster in at least the one small part of Lake County we call home. We have neither money nor clout. So we really appreciate putting the spotlight on developers in general, and Pasquinelli in particular.

LETTERS TO THE Editor

Building case for Gash

Editor:

I want to see elected officials work hard, get things done, and not be consumed about how it makes their political party or the other party look. For this reason, I have been thrilled with State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash. She has fought for things we care about such as education reform, economic development, crime prevention, changes at the Illinois Toll Highway Authority, child rights and reproductive choice.

The most important quality about Lauren Beth Gash is that she will work with people from both parties to get things done. She has sponsored bills that were supported by leaders of both parties at various times and signed into law by the governor, and she has voted against bills that had the support of both parties, such as the budget, because it was a political sham and everyone knew it.

The next day, major newspapers editorialized that the budget was going to fall apart after the November election and it was passed simply to end the session. Lauren Beth Gash is a refreshing change, and many other elected officials could learn a lot from her.

District fulfilling mission

Editor:

In your Sept. 9 edition, Tom Vaughn wrote about the Forest Preserve Dist.'s interest in participating in a public/private partnership effort which would establish a golf learning center on district land. Mr. Vaughn asks, "Doesn't this bother anyone that these people are going to bulldoze a forest preserve?" He interprets this project as meaning "that the pro-development forces... have now found a way to develop a forest preserve."

With all due respect, I would suggest that Mr. Vaughn is ill-advised. State statutes charged forest preserve districts with multiple responsibilities; preservation, education, restoration and recreation are the four main ones, in addition to flood control and others. Furthermore, the property in Beach Park which the district owns was purchased for specific and publicly announced purpose of building a golf course on it.

We provide trails for horse riding, snowmobiling, cross-country skiing and hiking. We also make available fishing and boat facilities and an area specifically set aside for people to walk and train dogs. We provide a boat launch and trailer sites at our campgrounds at the Fox River Preserve. We provide education opportunities at the Ryerson Conservation Area, the Lake County Museum and other forest preserves. Most importantly, we provide thousands of acres of prairies, savannas, forests, lakes and wetlands, far and away most of the district's land is for passive enjoyment, wildlife preservation and the general environmental good.

The proposed private/public partnership with Michael Jordan Golf Company is intended to build a golf center at Buffalo Creek Forest Preserve near Buffalo Grove upon land that is now farmed. It will not disturb any natural areas.

I hope this information clears up any misunderstandings Mr. Vaughn may have had.

Colin L. McRae, President
Lake County Forest Preserve

Developers use old trick

Editor:

Thank you for covering the Wauconda scene so thoroughly with regard to the proposed comprehensive development plan and also the re-submission of the Roney Farms development plans.

The new plan calls for 850 homes. Now if the developers would just take over all education costs of the new residents, which they will never consider, perhaps we could learn to live with the extra 1,700 plus cars in the vicinity (at two cars per family, that seems like a fair estimate.)

It's an old trick—keep coming back with the laws needed by a certain group—and the folks at home will grow weary opposing. Well, we certainly do grow tired, but we don't forget.

Please speak up for the type of village you want to live in and pass on to your children.

Sheriff Grinnell to address Lake County needs

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Lake County Sheriff Clint Grinnell is attempting to do it again by giving it a go in the November elections.

Clint Grinnell

The six-year sheriff, and life-long Libertyville resident explained some of his concerns and what can be done.

Regarding gun control, Grinnell said this is definitely an issue of concern. "There's no question the guns available on the streets are not really required for sport," said the sheriff. His answer is "aggressive enforcement of the current (gun) laws."

The influx of gangs, which seem to be the concern of nearly every neighborhood in the county, is also one of interest for Grinnell.

"There's no question that gangs are here," said Grinnell who explained there are true gang-bangers and then there are wanna-be gang members.

"We play a major role (in this issue)," said Grinnell of the Lake County Gang Task Force.

The task force worked well to deter and arrest gang members when situated at such events as the Lake County Fair and Mundelein Days over the summer, said the incumbent.

A network made up of law enforcement agencies called "GRIP" is another way the sheriff said he is fighting gangs. GRIP which stands for Gang Reduction Intelligence Program has been united by the Lake County Sheriff's Department. Grinnell calls it an "efficient" program.

Grinnell is "frustrated" over the overcrowding of the county jail. "It's a concern for law enforcement and it has been for a long time," said Grinnell, "but at the same, we don't have the resources (currently)."

Whether or not he will participate in a public debate with Democratic opponent Richard Jablonski, is yet to be known. Grinnell said his campaign committee is working on it. Grinnell asked "What benefit (will it be)?"

Jablonski: no compromise on crime

TINA L. SWIECH
Staff Reporter

Richard Jablonski, Democratic candidate for Lake County Sheriff, is taking "No compromise on crime" as his motto for the 1994 campaign, and is planning to stomp out violence.

The Gurnee resident who is known as not a politician, but "a professional law enforcement officer," held a news conference giving straightforward narration of his crime prevention plan if he is elected sheriff.

Jablonski, maintaining a positive attitude about wearing a new title after Nov. 8, said the difference between himself and current Sheriff Clint Grinnell, is not necessarily their parties. While Grinnell is a Republican, and Jablonski a Democrat, there is an assemblage of what are called "Republicans for Jablonski" out of Round Lake Beach and surrounding communities.

The prospecting changes that Jablonski plans include cutting wasteful spending. The candidate claims per the Perins Management Report which studied the County sheriff's department, frivolous spending has been running amuck since Grinnell took over nearly six years ago.

Jablonski said he is "taking a hard line approach" to the issue of crime prevention for Lake County. Some of the highlights include expanding the current gang crime/drug task force and make it into a pro-active crime-fighting unit to counter the growing number of gang crimes and drug trafficking in the county.

The candidate explained the anti-gang initiative is based on Jablonski's hard-line philosophy of "Zero Tolerance for Gangs," which includes enforcing a military-style "boot camp" for juveniles convicted of carrying weapons, selling drugs, or committing a felony.

The candidates' outline describes him as a true life "Top Cop" who has waged the war on heavy-duty inter-city crime for a total of 33 years.

Jablonski's resume begins when he started as a Chicago Police Officer in 1961. In three years he was appointed as Vice Detective and then in 1966 he was given the title of Violent Crime Detective at the Chicago Police Department.

In 1977 he was promoted to sergeant and then went on to be the chief of the Lindenhurst Police Department where he reports reducing the crime rate for three consecutive years and developing a community oriented police department.

Jablonski also served as chief of Round Lake Beach in a department of 30 sworn officers in a town with the population of 20,000.

There he also worked to develop a community oriented police department.

FALL CAR CARE

FALL CAR CARE

Lakeland
Newspapers

When should cars be washed?

We usually think of washing the car only in the fall and winter to prevent corrosion caused by winter salt, but did you know that immediately after a rainfall is one of the most critical times to wash your car? That's right, even the lightest shower could cause irreparable acid rain damage to your vehicle's beautiful finish. If not quickly cleaned at a professional car wash.

"Acid rain damage is caused when high concentrations of emissions from fossil-fuel-burning engines or plants react with your car's paint to form sulfuric and nitric acids," says Dan Palenske, president of the International Carwash Association (ICA).

"He adds, "The result of this process is the penetration and etching of clear-coat finishes, whose protective qualities will then eventually corrode, exposing the paint to many harmful, corrosive elements.

A car with bad acid rain damage could be devalued by up to $1,000 at trade-in or resale time."

Although you can't prevent acid rain, you can keep it from ruining your car's finish by removing it as soon as possible at a professional car wash, advises Palenske.

This is why it's important to visit a professional car wash frequently, and especially after a rainfall. Keeping your car's finish in the best possible condition is of vital importance in maintaining and preserving the overall appearance and value of the car.

A broken engine part—even the entire engine—can be replaced, but once the body is destroyed, the car is worthless.

REVIEW 'Sleuth,' whodunnit with twist

MARY FOLEY

Staff Reporter

Theater-goers will love Bowen Park Theater Company's presentation of 'Sleuth.' The play, by Anthony Shaffer, is a bit of comedy, mystery, and psychology packed into a well-produced, tight performance.

'Sleuth,' the opening production of the ninth season of Bowen Park Theater Company, is also the directorial debut of Paul Carlin. Carlin, whose extensive resume includes television and off-Broadway work, as well as regional and stock theater, is a contender for the position of artistic director of the company.

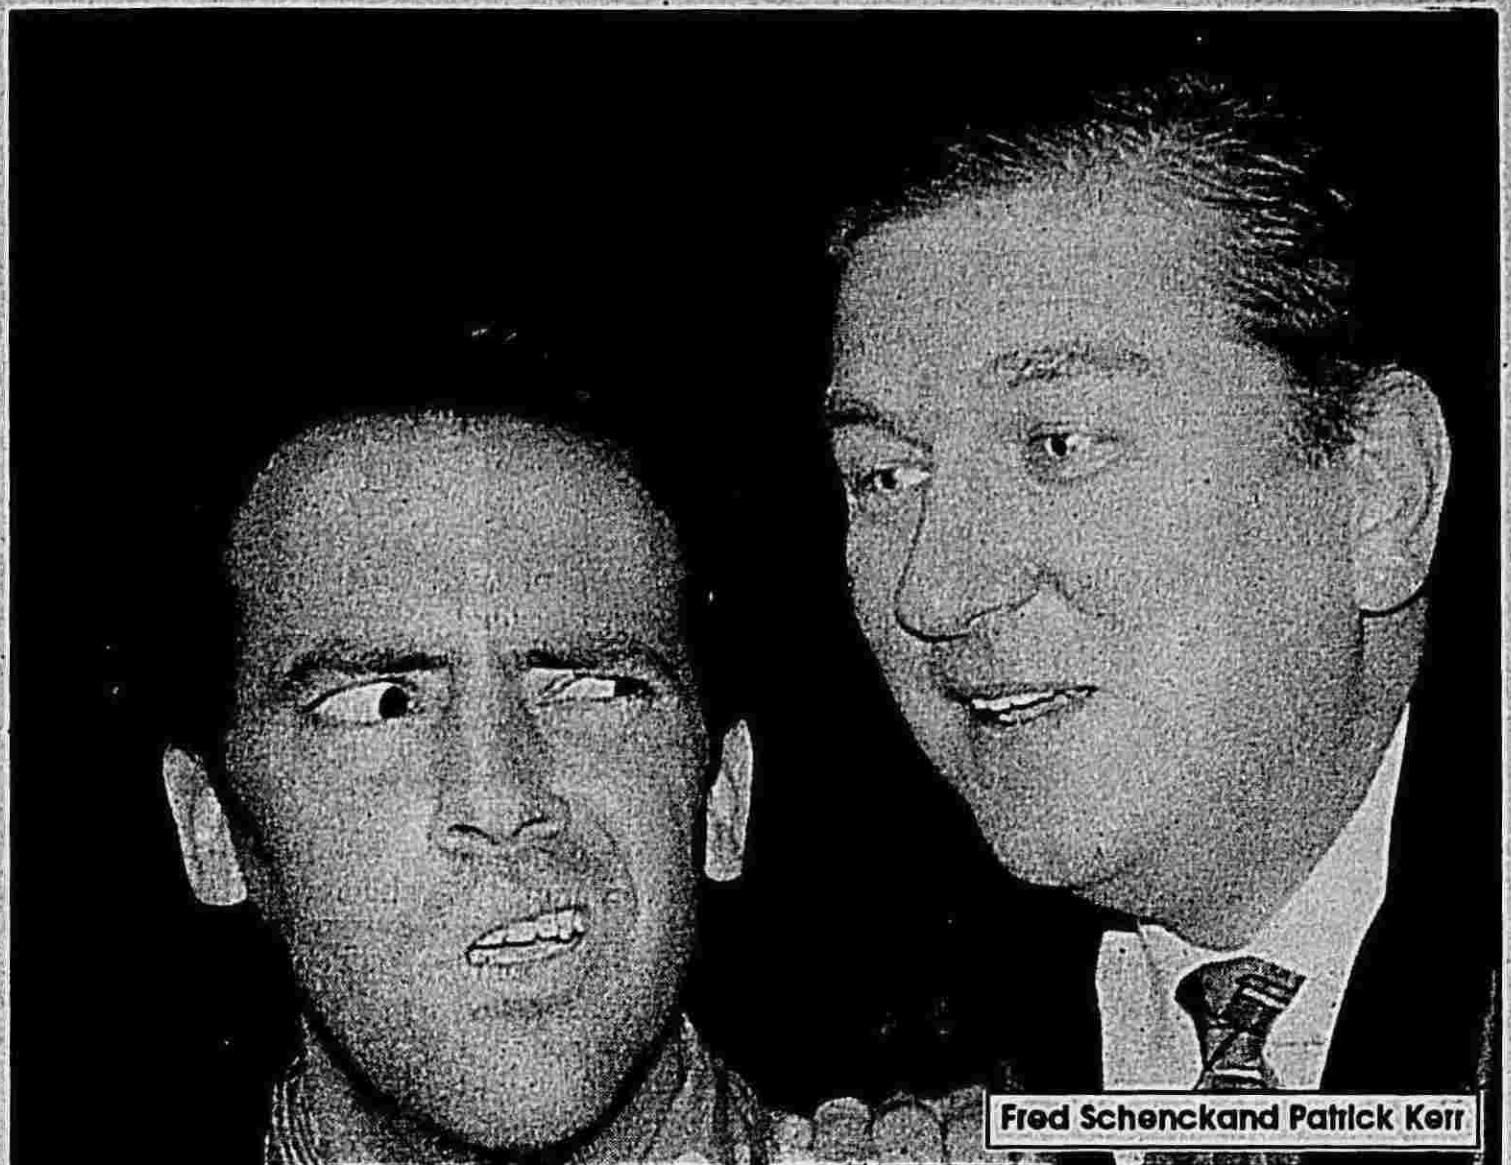

If 'Sleuth' was just a sample of Carlin's work, Bowen Park may have already found their man.

Patrick Kerr is just wonderful as Andrew Wyke, a narcissistic game-player who finally meets his match. Kerr, an Antioch resident, does an awesome job as the past-his-prime mystery writer who is losing his wife to a younger man.

Fred Schenck, playing Milo Tindle, Wyke's wife's love interest, does a fine job throughout the twists and turns of this fascinating play. Schenck's performance in the second act can only be described as masterful.

The play is set in Wyke's country home. With the attention to detail by Jim Neal, set designer, the audience almost feels a part of the room. Nothing seemed to be overlooked, right down to the goldfish.

Performances of 'Sleuth' will be presented at Goodfellow Hall in Bowen Park from Sept. 16 through Oct. 8. Call 360-4741 for more information regarding times and tickets.

Family works together to raise MS awareness

When the family races on Sunday, walking beside them will be Kelly Connolly of Buffalo Grove, an active participant in the fight against MS. Connolly has been instrumental in the success of the Lake County "Bike 'n Hike for Darlene" through her volunteer efforts. Her sister-in-law, Dawn Denman, was diagnosed with the disease nearly five years ago.

"Dawn has a mild case of MS," said Randy Denman, her husband and Kelly's brother. "We have been fortunate. Her symptoms have not increased greatly since her diagnosis. As a family, the impact on our household has not been too bad. We haven't had to change a lot of things—we try to be as normal as possible. The disease has made us closer."

Kelly won't be the only sibling walking for MS. Other family members including Dawn's sisters and their families as well as the Denman's two sons, Danny, 9, and Patrick, 7. All have been active volunteers working with the MS society on various fund raising events.

The core group of family members helping out has included Dawn's sister, Barb Bacsa, and her daughter, Kristen Bacsa, as well as her sister, Laurie Cwerenz, and her husband, James Cwerenz. Even, Dawn's twin, Donna Gardino, who currently resides in Alaska, has participated in a study and other activities for the MS society.

"We really got involved with the MS Society right after Dawn was diagnosed," said Randy. "It has been one of the ways to learn to cope."

Learning to cope and raising awareness have become one focus for the family. The Denman's sons have also walked in fund-raising events. Last year, Danny participated in the MS Society Read-a-thon. "He raised $100 through his efforts," said Randy. "We try to get the kids involved in the effort and they are a lot of help around the house doing chores such as bringing down their laundry and other jobs that minimize Dawn's need to climb steps and things."

Buffalo Grove resident Kelly, a nurse at Lutheran General Hospital in Park Ridge, got involved with the MS Society at Randy's request.

"It's important to give her support and to show her that we care," said Kelly. "This is a disease that affects a lot of people and especially a lot of young people. When it happens to someone in your family it hits you hard. You're not invincible."

Kelly has served as the medical assistant during fund raising events and has also worked to recruit volunteers and in other capacities.

"Participating in the fund raiser is a great day," Kelly said. "When you're finished you'll feel like you've done something good."

Kelly says her brother has worked hard to promote awareness and fund raising efforts to fight MS.

"I use Dawn as an example a lot," said Randy. "She doesn't want to slow down. She does the best she can with it. MS doesn't affect each person that same way."

It can get worse and it can not. Some people have a severe case of the disease when they are diagnosed."

According to Randy, Dawn has a mild case of the disease. For many MS victims the disease will have progressed to a more severe level by the time they are diagnosed.

"This is a disease that can be controlled through exercise, diet and physical therapy," said Randy. "If you think you have the symptoms of the disease, see a doctor and follow his advice. Learn about it and read about it. Every case is different."

For the Denman's, life continues to be a flurry of work, soccer practices and all the other day-to-day tasks. Randy commutes to Chicago each day as a branch manager for LaSalle-Talmann Bank. Dawn works part-time as an administrative assistant and purchaser at Success National Bank in Lincolnshire, where employees and co-workers have been supportive and helpful.

"We haven't run into a shell with this disease," said Randy. "I haven't held back. We let our friends and co-workers know and we try to get them involved in fighting the disease."

21st annual Bike 'n Hike for Darlene at 11 routes, Sunday, Oct. 2

"Whatever Moves You"—walking, cycling, running or rollerblading. Participants in the 21st annual Bike 'n Hike for Darlene on Sunday, Oct. 2, may choose their own style for completing the event which will take place at 11 community route locations.

Sponsored by the Chicago Greater Illinois Chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society, the event has a goal of over $250,000 in proceeds for the benefit of MS research and local client services programs.

Comedian Tom Dreesen is honorary chairperson of the event. Dreesen's service with the chapter began over a decade ago when he developed the MS "Day for Darlene" program in honor of his sister, the late Darlene Bethman, who had MS.

"Day for Darlene" and Bike 'n Hike volunteers have joined forces this year to present "Bike 'n Hike for Darlene" as a unified major event. Activities of the day will include celebrity appearances by sports figures and Hollywood friends of Dreesen.

Household Finance Corp. is the presenting sponsor of the event with prizes and products furnished by American Airlines, Lettuce Entertain You, Salerno, Coca-Cola and Hinckley & Schmitt as well as many businesses in the areas of each route. WMAQ-TV and FM 100 have joined the chapter's team to provide promotional assistance for the event. Mark Supelsa, anchorman at WMAQ-TV, will emcee the lakefront route opening ceremonies. Additional promotional support have been provided by the "Suburban Life Citizen," "Press Publications," "Lakeland Publishers," the "Southtown Economist" and the "Elk Grove Times."

Bike 'n Hike for Darlene registration will be held from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., with the official start at 9 a.m. Route lengths vary from 10 to 34 miles and include the Chicago Lakefront (beginning at Montrose Harbor); DuPage, Joliet, Lake County, at Half Day Forest Preserve in Lincolnshire, the Joe Lessman Division/North Branch, Oak Forest and Elk Grove Village. New routes this year include Crystal Lake, Wayne, LaGrange and Naperville.

The Bike 'n Hike for Darlene is a pledge event, with participants collecting dollars for MS from sponsors. In addition to enjoying the event itself, participants may qualify for prizes awarded at various fund-raising levels. The grand prize is a trip for two to Boston. All participants who turn in $30 or more on the day of the event will receive a souvenir Bike 'n Hike for Darlene T-shirt.

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society, founded in 1946, is the only national voluntary health organization in the U.S. devoted solely to supporting research on multiple sclerosis as well as supplying services to people with MS and their families through its network of 144 chapters and branches.

Multiple sclerosis is the number one disabling disease of young adults. Every hour, an adult between the ages of 20 and 50 learns that he or she has MS. In MS, the protective coating that surrounds the nerve fibers in the central nervous system is damaged which leads to an interruption in and a distortion of nerve messages. Early symptoms may include tingling sensations, muscle weakness, slurred speech and poor coordination.

'Annie' a family event

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor In Chief

Antioch's PM & L Theatre's "Annie" is a warm, touching family drama.

The cast is well rehearsed with Annie understudy Colleen Badtke even able to coach a reluctant "Sandy," the dog, back to the stage during her first stage appearance of the performance.

The Sunday matinee performance was the first for understudy Badtke, who will also lead the cast on Sept. 30 and Oct. 9. If Badtke is the understudy than lead Michelle Mann must truly be a delight to watch as Badtke did not miss a beat playing opposite her father, Mark Badtke, in the performance.

If there is any draw back to the performance it may be a lack of volume on the part of the orphans during some musical numbers and the fact that composer Charles Strouse enjoyed writing tunes that the actors must carry an upper octave range to reach.

Music teacher Cathy Miller is a scene stealer as the orphan matron Aggie Hanagan. Jerod Howard is delightfully wicked as Rooster and Regina Reynolds will make you chuckle in her role as Lily.

"Annie" will be presented Oct. 1, 2, 7, 8 and 9. Curtain time is 8 p.m. for Friday and Saturday evening performances and 2:30 p.m. for the Sunday matinee. Advanced reservations can be made by calling 395-3055 Monday to Thursday, 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.; Saturday, 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

O'Hare Airport Parking Update

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

The best advice for parking at O'Hare is—don't.

Limos are great alternative, friends are even better. But if you're like me and have used up your favors due from friends (and are too cheap to spend 50 bucks for a limo) parking at O'Hare may be your only choice.

At $18 per day, parking at the main terminal isn't even an option for me. The so called "remote" lots E and F are the only economical choices, and with the new Airport Transit System, "ATS" (a mini "L"-Train) linking the remote lots to the terminal, you no longer have to take that long shuttle-bus ride. You may still have to take a short bus ride to the ATS station, depending on where or in which lot you park.

The ATS station is located in lot E, where, if you get a space near enough, you can walk to it. Otherwise there are buses circulating the lot. If you park in lot F, you'll have no choice but to take the shuttle-bus back to the ATS station in lot E. There is a trade-off though. Lot E will cost you $9 per day while lot F is only $6.

To get to lot E, look to your right, just past the Mannheim Road exits upon entering the airport and you'll see signs for remote parking. Lot E is past the car rental lots, again on your right. If it's full, or if you want to save $3 per day, continue the same direction and you'll cross Mannheim and come to Lot F.

While the ATS trains and the shuttle-buses run quite regularly, allow yourself plenty of time. Figure up to 45 minutes from Lot F and 30 minutes from lot E to get to your gate. Add this to the time you want to be at the gate before your flight.

An alternative to O'Hare's lots are the many private lots along Mannheim, such as Pride, which charges only $5 per day for valet parking and includes pick-up and drop off the terminal. Exit Mannheim South and they're at the 5th stoplight on your right, two blocks south of Irving Park.

LIFE'S A BEAR

DONNA ABEAR

Luck be a lady named Bernadette

•If a person carries a rabbit's foot for luck, what does the rabbit carry? Foot insurance?

•Is Murphy's Law a real law, and if it is, who voted for it?

•If I'm one-quarter Irish, does that mean I'm only one-quarter lucky?

•If you're born with a silver spoon in your mouth, is it painful?

These are just a few of the strange thoughts about luck that I've been having this week. No, it wasn't the pizza we had for dinner last night. It's my upcoming vacation to Florida. The other day, my girlfriend, Bernie (that's short for "Bernadette"), who's going with me to Florida, called me and said, "Have you looked at your ticket? Guess what airline we're flying?" My heart sank. Just my luck. USAir. The airline whose latest commercial should go like this:

The camera zooms in on a comedian who is entertaining an audience.

"Riddle question—if a plane crashed on the border of Canada and the United States, where would they bury the survivors?"

An audience member yells out, "You don't bury survivors."

"That's right," says the comedian, "and besides, there were no

The Sunburst USA Pageant is for girls in these age groups: 4 to 6, 7 to 10, 11 to 13, 14 to 17 and 18 to 27. The queen in each age group will receive a crown, trophy, banner and their $200 beauty entry fee paid to the state pageant. Runners-up in every age division will receive a trophy and their $200 beauty entry fee paid to the state pageant.

survivors—the airline was USAir." The audience laughs hysterically. I know how they feel.

Luck can be either a good thing or a bad thing. Good luck is someone who has given birth to six children and has no stretch marks. Bad luck is when the baby refuses to take a nap, the dog has an accident on the floor, your husband says he'll be late for dinner, you forgot to defrost the meat, and finally, as you begin mumbling "Calgon, take me away!" you realize you're out of Calgon. Most people believe they have either one kind of luck or the other. Not me. I have "strange luck."

Let me give you an example. I recently had a birthday, and as part of my present, my husband told me to hire a cleaning person for a day. This person was due to arrive at 1 p.m., but called and asked if she could come early, about 9 a.m. I said that would be fine. Well, 9 a.m. came and went, with no cleaning person in sight. Finally, at 10:30 a.m., I phoned her home. Her husband answered.

"Is Angie there?" I asked. "No, she's at your house," he told me.

"No, she's not."

"Yes she is. She called me from there about an hour ago."

"Really? That's weird, because she's not here." I told him, thinking to myself that perhaps she had used me as an alibi while she conducted a secret affair. I said good-bye to her poor sap of a husband, and waited for the hussy to arrive, albeit late.

By 11:30 a.m., I was really getting mad. I called her number and, again, her husband answered.

"Is Angie there? This is Mrs. Ahear. She never showed up." I said. I hated to be the one to break this to him, but he had to wise up eventually.

"Well, it's kind of a long story...she just walked in. I'll let her explain it to you."

Angie picked up the phone and started babbling something about my house and the house across the street, and the police, and finally I interrupted her.

"Let me get this straight. You cleaned the house across the street by mistake?"

"Yes. Oh, I hope they don't call the police."

"For what? Clean and run?"

So that's the kind of luck I have. Strange. Though I'm not really superstitious, I've decided to increase my odds for a safe flight by stacking the deck in my favor. 1. Clean underwear. No one ever dies in clean underwear. 2. A garlic necklace. Oh, sorry—that's vampires. 3. Wait a minute, I forgot—I have an ace in the hole. There's no need to worry. My girlfriend Bernadette is Irish. 100 percent.

Here's our prayer for take-off—"May we land in Florida half an hour before the devil knows

Movie Pick

'Quiz Show,' return to innocence

Were the post-war 1950s as innocent as we remember them to be, or did we just think they were?

Robert Redford, wearing his directorial hat in "Quiz Show," captures the real essence of those years when we all thought that "Father Knows Best," and were ready to canonize him—although he could have been chasing the Beaver's mother around the studio.

"Quiz Show" is the story of the time when there was no "Hard Copy," or "Inside Edition," to dish us the dirt every evening. It takes us back to an era when the eggheads who were sending rockets into outer space and seemingly upright intellectuals like the Kennedy brothers fascinated us all.

We were involved in TV shows centered on outstanding people and not scandals, like Ralph Edwards' "This is Your Life," and a few quiz shows offering thousands of dollars (big money then) in prize money to those who knew the right answers.

This was before $100 million lottery were commonplace, when winning $64,000 was a biggie.

In "Quiz Show," Redford deals with the beginning of our disillusion with heroes who have clay feet, as it dramatizes the real life story of the quiz show "Twenty-One," and of two popular "nerdy braintrusts," Herbie Stempel, played by John Turturro, and Charles Van Doren, played by that fine actor Ralph Fiennes, who received an Oscar nomination for his great work in "Schindler's List."

We see gigantic cult followings grow and grow—as Stempel keeps answering those tough questions week after week—and fertilized as a better-looking son of a well-known family of high class academic WASPs takes over.

Fiennes is perfect as the neat and impeccable Van Doren, son of an admired American poet, played with finesse by Paul Scofield.

We see this academic aristocracy crumble right before our eyes as those shocking headlines scream that everyone, from the network, to the sponsor, down to Van Doren, were cheating, while we were all holding our breaths and cheering Van Doren on.

Turturro just about steals the show as the shadowy, irate and beaten Stempel, but is passed at the finish line by Scofield, as the real core of the plot turns out to be young Van Doren's effort to live up to his famous father's reputation with the intelligencia, even if he has to compromise his integrity to do it.

Rob Morrow, of TV's "Northern Exposure," does well as a nosy Jewish reporter who enjoys moving into Van Doren's WASP-ish circle, as he surprisingly becomes Van Doren's guardian.

We give "Quiz Show," 3.5 stars out of five since Redford does get a bit longish in a few scenes. As a whole though, this is the best "people" picture he has done since "Ordinary People." —by GLORIA DAVIS

Critic's Choice

Ron Orbach as Max Prince in Neil Simon's 'Laughter on the 23rd Floor.'

Simon makes audience laugh

Neil Simon knows how to make an audience laugh, and his creative genius shines brightly in "Laughter on the 23rd Floor," his most recent autobiographical comedy that focuses not only on his life but on our cultural heritage as well.

The play, being staged in an open run at Chicago's Briar Street Theater, recalls events based on Simon's early career as a television writer in the 1950s for Sid Caesar's "Your Show of Shows." It stars Ron Orbach as Max Prince, an obvious takeoff on the colorful Caesar.

Orbach has a real stage presence as Max, an eccentric TV personality, charged with being funny each week for 90 minutes before a live audience. It's a challenging role, and beyond the camera lights scotch and tranquilizers ease the way.

"Laughter on the 23rd Floor" takes place in the New York City office where an oddball collection of creative pranksters piece together, joke by joke, the skits that will constitute the following week's TV show.

The group is introduced by Lucas, the Neil Simon character, who is played by Peter Regis-Civetta. And the room is a cauldron of petty jealousies, earthy language and battered egos. It's fascinating to watch Mike Houlihan, who plays Brian, an aggressive Irish writer, spar with Ira (Matt DeCaro), a perennial hypochondriac. William Brown, as Kenny, delivers cutting lines with a subtle, stiletto approach, while William Dick is a scene-stealer as Milt in an unlucky white suit.

But Orbach is the most commanding presence of all, with his quick mood swings (he punches a hole in the wall at news that the notorious Joseph McCarthy was accusing Gen. George Marshall of being a Communist.). He's ego-centric, yet fully devoted to his loyal "family" of writers.

Directed by Michael Leavitt, "Laughter on the 23rd Floor" adds up to one amazing night at the theater. Ticket information is available at 312-348-4000.—by TOM WITOM

Country Squire doesn't feature anything special on the menu for Halloween, but their fall decorations will be up for everyone's enjoyment. For Secretary's and Sweetest Days, you'll certainly find something special on the menu that'll be an extra treat...come and see!

When Country Squire came up with the "Specials for the Week", they weren't certain how their customers would respond to the items that weren't on the regular menu. Well, they found out...due to the overwhelming response, a 5th week was added to the special menu, so look for the weekly ads. They've even repeated items because customers have asked them to!

Country Squire's full course dinners are cooked to your order (they wouldn't have it any other way!), and like their regular dinner menu, you'll enjoy their famous Lazy Susan (some folks call it a meal in itself), a salad with choice of dressing and potato, vegetable, beverage, and dessert. This, along with your entree, is a great combination for a reasonable price!

The regular menu hasn't changed, so you'll definitely find your old favorites! Just remember...the specials are served beginning on Tuesdays after you see their advertisement in the paper, and continue every day except Saturday and Sunday. Response to the Sunday dinners have been terrific! A lot of families are remembering the way it used to be with those Sunday family dinners at Grandma's, and it's nice that so many folks are celebrating those days at the Country Squire without the hassle of cooking up a storm.

Leisurely family dinners where you can sit around and chat over a delicious meal...if you haven't tried it, get your family together and give it a whirl. You'll probably wonder why you didn't do it sooner. Don't forget...Thanksgiving is right around the corner and, yes, Country Squire will be serving those great turkey dinners that lets you take leftovers home so you can snack away the rest of the day! Remember to begin making those holiday party reservations for Christmas and New Year, too.

Country Squire appreciates their customers, whose suggestions are always welcome. Drop by for a delectable meal soon at Country Squire, 19133 Route 120 in Grayslake, 223-0121.

North Shore Lights perfect for weddings

A winding staircase for the bride and groom, a charming lobby, crystal chandeliers, marble dance floors, and a fireplace is exactly what you imagine when you picture the perfect place for friends and relatives to gather in a celebration of marriage or other special event. At North Shore Lights at the Hotel Moraine, it's not just your imagination...it's a reality.

Owners Bob and Tanya Wehrle have created an elegant atmosphere for not only weddings, but events like bar mitzvahs, reunions, company functions, birthdays, and more. Tanya Wehrle said, "There's no size limit...we will accommodate an event for 20 or 500 people." Wehrle stressed that North Shore Lights books only one function per evening in order for the staff to focus on giving you their undivided attention. Wehrle also offers personal consultation for brides and can even help with other aspects like finding bands, DJs, invitations, etc, and recommends booking your wedding reception at least one year ahead for a Saturday night. North Shore Lights even offers a discount for those who book a Friday or Sunday wedding. A wedding package includes everything, including tax and gratuities.

As far as the meal goes, each plate is detailed to perfection by Bob Wehrle, who has 40 years of experience as a chef at places like The Abbey, Lake Lawn, and Interlaken. Start off with tantalizing appetizers, choice hors d'oeuvres or a crisp, fresh salad. The main course includes your choice of sliced roast tenderloin, medallions of veal in a wild mushroom sauce, or delicate cornish hen. Also, broiled swordfish in lemon caper sauce, chicken oscar, or a thick, juicy slice of prime rib. All entrees are complimented with fresh bakery rolls and butter. End your meal with a choice from North Shore Lights' famous sweets table.

Horoscope

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)
Your intuition is a valuable asset in business. Either you or a partner has a tendency toward financial extravagance. A friend may have his or her feet out in the aisle this week, causing you some awkward moments.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)
You could get carried away when shopping for the home. Guard against unnecessary purchases. Tact will be needed in your business dealings, especially where higher-ups are concerned.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20)
A tendency to let things slide on the job needs watching this week. You may not see eye to eye with an adviser either. Guard against being too much of a loner. Those you shun now could be helpful to you soon.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22)
You and a partner are on the same wavelength. However, you may be at odds with a friend. While this friend seems to be taking advantage of you, it would be a good idea to try to overlook this for now.

LEO (July 23 to August 22)
Don't go overboard in your efforts to impress bigwigs on the job. Though your judgment will be keen, you may find yourself dealing with a combative type on the job. Don't let this throw you. It's only jealousy.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22)
A person you'll be dealing with this week tends to exaggerate and a situation at work could irk you.

Don't give in to the temptation to let your temper fly. Instead, count to ten and start over again.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22)
Spending could easily get out of hand and a romantic interest or dependent could be especially touchy this week. You swing into a homebody phase and will prefer the domestic scene.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21)
It's important that you don't forget to fulfill a promise you made to a close tie. This person is counting on you. A matter relating to home may upset you, but partners are in synch.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21)
After letting things slide a bit, you'll rush to catch up this week. Be careful about this since this is when you'll be apt to make careless mistakes. Try to keep on an even keel where your work is concerned.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19)
A friend who likes to hear himself or herself talk will bend your ear. While you may not be in any mood for this right now, try to be patient. Shopping on impulse turns out to be a mistake. The weekend favors romance and leisure.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18)
If you're short-tempered with someone close to you, make sure you kiss and make up. You have a tendency to be obstinate and should make an effort to see the other side. Accent practicality in business.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20)
Keep your mind on what you're doing and you'll prevent a careless oversight this week. A supervisor is watching you closely which means a promotion may soon be in the offing. Be sure to pay attention to traffic rules.

BANKING & FINANCE 1994 Lakeland Newspapers

The sandwich generation—the financial issues

So, your kids are either entering college, in college, or are through with college. Your parents' health is falling and their financial needs are increasing.

It's lucky you have a good job or prosperous business and all the time in the world to take care of both your children and your parents. Congratulations, you are a member of the Sandwich Generation. You are currently healthy, earning a good living and both your children and your parents will continue to be dependent on you for quite some time.

What should you be doing with your own finances to make sure that you will lead a prosperous and successful life, have a comfortable retirement, protect yourself from financial reverses as well as take care of your parents and your children?

Financial evaluation

The first thing you should do is a current financial statement. List all your assets and liabilities as well as your current income to see what your resources are at this time. Only by doing this, can you see the potential effect of any reverses that might occur, which would cause your assets to decrease or your liabilities to increase.

You might contact your accountant or financial planner to assist you with this process.

Catastrophic reverses

Make sure that the liability or general insurance area of your life is well covered. An unexpected liability loss can undo 25 years of planning, saving and investing. Everyone should have a personal liability umbrella policy of at least $1,000,000 and possibly more, as the more assets you have, the better target you are for potential liability suits. Your most valuable single possession might be you home. It's important that you have this insured on a replacement cost basis with all the bells and whistles covered. Taking a higher deductible might allow you to do this without increasing your cost for this coverage.

Protecting your income

The cornerstone of your security, as well as for those who depend on you, is the income you earn each month. Assets are nice, but a few people have substantial enough assets to take care of them in the event of a total and permanent disability. Be sure you have individual non-cancelable disability income coverage in an amount that will allow you to continue your life style and your obligations in the event you are disabled.

Estate planning

Estate planning is more than the drafting of documents and directing of assets. It is taking an overall lifetime look at the direction of your finances and making sure that both the titling of your assets, as well as drafting of documents coincides with your wishes to take care of those who are dependent on you. Too many people do not have a will or give any thought to the direction of their assets in the event of an unexpected death. This can be devastating to all of those who depend on you, such as your spouse, children, and parents.

Government retirement plans

After you have taken care of your children and your parents, will you and your spouse be able to retire some day? Check with your employer to see if there is a 401(k) plan and contribute to this to the very maximum. You should be saving approximately 10 percent of your pre-tax income to provide for a comfortable retirement at age 60 or 65.

The Sandwich Generation is an interesting one. Those baby boomers are now getting into their fifties and have children with high expectations. In order to reach those expectations, most of the children are being educated in colleges and simultaneously their parents are reaching an age where their financial and emotional needs are escalating.—by NICK J. BROWN

Citibank

Can Offer You Balance, Stability & Time Saving Resources.

Citibank has been serving the Vernon Hills/ Libertyville/ Mundelein community for 15 years. Citibank brings worldwide resources to a very traditional Chicagoland community. Citibank's Vernon Hills branch, on the corner of Milwaukee and Route 60 currently serves over 3000 households in the full range of products and services including the Citibank Money Management Account, business and Professional accounts and investments through Citicorp Investment Services. Citibank has recently introduced its newest services: Citigold, Citibank on the Personal Computer, and Bill Payment. "Our staff is especially excited about our new services because they allow our customers to spend less time with their day to day banking and more time with their friends and families," says Paul Nelson, Branch Manager.

Citigold brings together traditional banking, borrowing and investing. By having one combined account, customers can leverage all the power of their money and use time to their advantage. Customers can also connect a compatible personal computer to CITIGOLD ON-LINE to check balances, move money, buy a security through Citicorp Investment Services - even send messages to their Citigold Executive - 24 hours a day.

Citibank on the Personal Computer is an extension of the time and place convenience Citibank already offers its customers through Citicard Banking Centers and its 24 hour Citiphone service. According to Nelson, "Many of our customers have already signed up for the service. With Citibank on the Personal Computer, customers can do almost everything they can do in a branch from the comfort of their homes including being able to review balances, transfer funds and see the last 60 days of account activity, including Visa and Mastercards. Citibank on the Personal Computer also allows customers to pay their bills, buy and sell securities, get free stock quotes and even perform account maintenance such as stop payments on checks or address changes. Customers tell me it makes banking fun!"

Citibank's personal computer-based service works with any personal computer applications platform - DOS, Windows or Macintosh - and supports modem speeds up to 9600 baud. The service is supported by a dedicated customer service group, providing assistance 20 hours a day, seven days a week through a toll free 800 number. ## Know best of both worlds

If you're wondering whether interest rates may be headed up or down in the near future, the answer is "yes."

No one can predict where interest rates will go. For that reason, it's important to build an investment portfolio that performs well under a variety of economic and market conditions.

One of the best ways to protect your savings is by diversifying your portfolio among a number of different investments. This protects you from being severely affected by the performance of just one stock or bond. Many safety-conscious investors working toward long-term objectives find U.S. Treasury securities particularly appealing.

U.S. Treasury securities

U.S. Treasuries not only offer attractive returns, but because they are backed by the U.S. government, they rank among the safest investments available. In addition, they provide regular income on a semi-annual basis, and the interest they pay is state and local tax free.

U.S. Treasuries are available in a variety of maturities, ranging from three months to 30 years. In most cases, the interest rates on longer-term bonds will be higher than shorter-term bonds. However, shorter-term bonds offer more flexibility since money is not locked into one investment for a long period of time. In addition, although all bond prices move when interest rates move, the prices of short-term bonds are typically more stable than those of long-term bonds. That's particularly important if you decide to sell your securities before they mature.

Laddering

Protecting your income by diversifying among a number of different investments is an important strategy to remember. However, a well-planned portfolio is also diversified by maturity dates. A portfolio that includes short-, intermediate-, and long-term bonds offer maximum flexibility and liquidity. This concept is known as staggering maturities, or "laddering."

The long and short of it

Laddering U.S. Treasury securities is an attractive strategy for investors who want safety and liquidity. To demonstrate how it works, consider the following example.

Brian and Judy Moore had $80,000 to invest in U.S. Treasuries. Although longer-term bonds offered the most attractive interest rates, the Moores didn't want to lock all their money into a long-term investment because they planned to use some of it for home improvements a few years down the road.

After talking to their investment representative, the Moores decided that laddering was the solution they needed. They split their investment among two-year, five-year, seven-year and 10-year Treasuries, investing $20,000 in each. As a result, a portion of their investment earned the higher rates of long-term Treasuries and they still had money coming due in just two years. When that time comes, the Moores can choose to reinvest it or use it to meet expenses they may have at that time.

101 questions to ask a CPA

One way to know you have a CPA you can count on is to work with a firm that's a member of the American Institute of CPA's Private Companies Practice Section, a voluntary association of more than 6,500 CPA firms serving private companies.

Here are some questions you should consider asking:

• Which indicators of my company's financial performance should I track weekly, monthly, annually? Should I calculate these key indicators or should a CPA do it?

• When does a business need a full-time controller? What background should he or she have? Can you suggest guidelines for hiring the right person? Can you help me identify appropriate candidates?

• Do I need a credit policy? What should it cover and how should I set it up?

• How much is my business worth? Can you help me with a professional valuation.

Know where to look for money

Where and how to finance small business is the key to beginning a new business or to staving off bankruptcy. Thousands of existing businesses fail annually that might succeed if they could get a little financial breathing space.

Richard D. Smith entrepreneur, publisher and marketing consultant, found that the special knowledge that is required to get and manage money for small businesses does not exist in any practical, easy-to-use form. So he researched and wrote a book, "Getting Money."

Material in this guide would require an individual to read "hundreds of books and pamphlets, contact innumerable banks, lending institutions and government offices and spend hours of research time," according to Smith.

The methods in "Getting Money" have been proven and tested by hundreds of small businesses. Chapter one reviews 115 ideas for finding funds.

"Getting Money" takes you from the beginning through the end of the most common methods of raising capital, with helpful hints at each step.

To purchase the book, call 1(800)355-9500; or mail a check or money order for $14.95 to "Getting Money," 4601 Eisenhower Ave., Alexandria, VA 22304.

Growing number of renters purchase insurance

The number of people purchasing renters insurance has increased by more than 50 percent since 1989, according to the Insurance Information Institute (I.I.).

In 1989, only 26 percent of renters had renters insurance. In 1993, 41 percent had renters insurance. These figures came from a survey conducted by Cambridge Reports for the I.I.

The largest increase was among consumers with annual incomes of $20,000 to $49,000, those 35 and under, and people living in the Northeast and South.

Several factors may have contributed to the increase, including consumer awareness of the importance of being adequately insured, says the I.I.

Many people used to think they were not at risk to suffer from a major disaster. But in the last few years, a record number of hurricanes, tornados, floods and violent storms have stuck communities throughout the country.

The I.I. also points out that crime is another reason why people are purchasing renters insurance. Many renters have sophisticated equipment such as stereo systems, computers and VCRs. These items are expensive to replace.

The I.I. publishes a free brochure on renters insurance called "Here Today, Gone Tomorrow." The brochure answers basic questions such as how to pick an agent, how to get the right amount of coverage and how to file a claim.

Consumers interested in a copy of the brochure or who have questions on renters insurance should call 1(800)942-4242.

Smart ways to borrow money

Carrying high credit card charges from month to month is one of the most expensive ways to borrow money. The Illinois CPA Society says that there are smarter ways to borrow money that will keep interest costs to a minimum and allow you to pay off your debts faster. The options available vary depending on how you plan to use the funds, how much you plan to borrow, and for how long.

Home-equity loans

If you've been haphazardly racking up credit card charges, you can consolidate your debt by taking out a home-equity loan. You can usually borrow up to 80 percent of your home's value, minus the balance on your mortgage. With interest rates on mortgage loans averaging about half that of credit card rates, a home-equity loan may save you thousands of dollars.

In addition, if you itemize on your tax return, you may also be able to deduct the interest on up to $100,000 of home-equity indebtedness.

Credit unions

Credit unions provide a number of consumer credit services, including home-equity, automobile and personal loans. Their loan services are restricted to credit union members who borrow money from a pool of funds, comprised in part of money deposited by all of the credit union's members. If you're a credit union member and need a loan, you will most likely obtain a more favorable rate by taking the loan from your credit union than by borrowing for a local bank.

401(k) plans

If you participate in a qualified retirement plan, such as a 401(k) plan, you can borrow against your investment. Generally loans must be repaid within five years and there are limits on how much you can borrow. The benefits: The interest rate is usually one percentage point above prime—which is lower than the interest rate on most other forms of credit—and your interest payments go into your own account.

Insurance policies

Certain types of insurance policies can be used as security to borrow from insurance companies. For example, if you own a whole life policy, you can borrow against the cash-value of the policy.

The interest rate will generally be lower than that charged by lending institutions. In fact, the interest rate on loans of older policies can be as low as 5 percent. What's more, you do not need to repay the loan. However, in most instances, it will be beneficial to do so. That's because the amount borrowed is deducted from the death benefit. Also, until the loan is repaid, your death benefit grows more slowly.

Government loans

Federal and state governments can be a source of low interest loans for special purposes, such as financing a student's higher education costs or the start-up of a small business. The interest rates on government loans are usually lower than current market rates.

Financial checklist: Evaluating investment portfolios

Some people create investment portfolios the same way they approach buying furniture. After a few years and a couple of moves they realize they have a house full of chairs, sofas and end tables, but nothing matches or seems to fit. The furniture they've collected over the years becomes inappropriate for their current lifestyle.

The same thing can happen when building an investment portfolio. Over time, financial conditions and goals can change, making the allocation of assets in a portfolio inappropriate for the person's current situation.

The following are steps investors should consider when reviewing their portfolios:

Step 1. Going for the goal. Re-evaluate savings and investment goals. The most common financial goals are saving for retirement, a child's education or a home. Try to estimate the future costs associated with these goals and the amount of time needed to save the money. Before putting aside money for goals, create a separate emergency fund in case of a job loss or medical expenses.

Step 2. Made to measure. Based on what you know about your financial situation, goals, tolerance for risk and time horizon, devise an appropriate asset allocation for your portfolio. Asset allocation is the strategic diversification of investments across asset classes such as stocks, bonds and cash.

Step 3. Old vs. new. Compare the asset allocation of the newly devised portfolio with the make-up of your existing portfolio. This comparison will help determine if one is being too aggressive or conservative with investments.

Step 4. Reality check. Investors must have realistic expectations about how much they can save and the probable return on money invested. If you make $2,000 a month and your savings plan calls for you to set aside $1,500 each paycheck, you'll probably fall short of your goal.

Step 5. Avoiding the tax bite. Consider how tax-advantaged investments fit in your portfolio. People who participate in 401(k) plans can set aside pre-tax plans can set aside pre-tax dollars for retirement. If not covered by a company pension plan, your $2,000 IRA contribution is still tax deductible. Annuities and special retirement plans for the self-employed also offer tax benefits.

Step 6. Further refinement. An investment risk can be managed further by diversifying within each asset class. If you determine that 60 percent of your portfolio should be in equities, consider spreading this portion of your investments over several different stock funds. This extra level of diversification gives protection from the inevitable fluctuations of individual stocks and stock mutual funds.

Step 7. Back in balance. Regularly check your target asset allocation and re-balance accordingly. Rebalancing allows maintenance of the desired risk tolerance level. Most experts say investors must review their portfolios at least once a year or when faced with goal and/or lifestyle changes.

Considering investment alternatives

than they have been in several years hits investors hard.

People are seeking alternative investments in greater and greater numbers. This diversification may not only increase their yields, but can add positive long-term dimensions to their investment programs.

Here are some options for people to consider:

1. Stretch out the time frame of the investments. Many people keep their money in maturities of one year or less. By spreading their investments over different time lengths, money comes available for reinvestment on different dates. This limits the risk of having to take what you can get when all your money comes due at once.

2. Look into annuities. Annuity contracts are popular alternatives to CDs. When you purchase an annuity, the money is deposited with an insurance company. During the "buildup phase," the money collects interest at competitive rates—in many cases, one or two percentage points higher than CDs. During the "payout phase," the insurance company makes regular payments to the investor, while the remaining balance continues to earn interest.

3. Consider bond funds. Unlike CDs, the value of the money invested in bond funds can go up and down over time. Bond funds can hold short, intermediate or long-term investments and can also be found in high, medium or low-grade quality. While you must select carefully and be sure to read the prospectus before investing, bond funds can increase yields and diversify one's investments.

4. Look into stock funds. Financial professionals generally say equities should be a part of most investment portfolios. While prices can be volatile, over time the stock market has averaged an annual return of approximately 10 percent. Use assets you don't expect to need for the next few years, and use tested techniques such as dollar cost averaging into stock funds to make these investments.

October is domestic violence awareness month

A Safe Place/Lake County Crisis Center, the Lake County shelter and counseling program for victims of domestic violence, will hold its second annual Candle Lighting Ceremony at 5 p.m. Thursday, Oct. 6, on the east steps of the Lake County Court House, 18 N. County St., Waukegan.

The ceremony was organized to increase awareness during October, Domestic Violence Awareness Month, of a crime that invades homes, ruins lives and kills women and children. The lit candles will symbolize the renewed commitment by A Safe Place to help victims become survivors and work toward an end to violence.

Research shows that half of all women experience some form of violence from their partners during marriage; more than one-third of these women are battered repeatedly every year; and 70 percent of men who abuse their female partners also abuse their children.

T-shirt art hanging outside the court house during the candle lighting portrays the pain, fear and hopes of these victims. The shirts were created by abused women and their children who are clients of A Safe Place.

Speakers at the ceremony will be Lake County State's Atty. Michael Waller, Circuit Court Associate Judge Victoria A.

Rosetti of Domestic Violence Court, A Safe Place executive director Phyllis DeMott and survivors of abuse who found safety, counseling and courage to start their lives anew at A Safe Place.

The public is urged to light a candle with A Safe Place friends and supporters to remember and recognize victims of domestic violence. For information call A Safe Place at 249-5147.

'Cool suit' aids MS patients

Officials from the Multiple Sclerosis Assn. of America and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration have signed an historic 'Memorandum of Understanding' which expands cooperative efforts to develop assistive technology for the physically disabled.

MSAA currently utilizes NASA spin-off technology, known as microclimate cooling, to assist thousands of MS patients who suffer from heat stress. According to research reports, patients wearing a lightweight vest, dubbed a 'cool suit', experience improvements with their speech, fatigue, and other symptoms associated with the disease.

Truth is fleeting in health reform debate

Throughout the health care reform debate the cost of paying for universal coverage and rich health benefits packages has been hidden in employer mandates, proposed cuts in Medicare payments and premium taxes. The latest health care reform proposals in the Senate and the House are more of the same. They shift the costs around and try to disguise inadequate revenue sources as something other than what they are, taxes.

It's way past the time to play it straight with the American people. Americans understand the concept of "no free lunch" and are capable of making decisions when presented with the facts. Surveys have shown that Americans support universal health insurance coverage and are willing to pay a reasonable cost to achieve it. What's required now is the effort to make that cost reasonable and to be clear about how it will be paid.

Unfortunately, there are some in Congress who prefer to play games, creating hidden taxes which still fall far short of offsetting the expenses found in their grandiose plans.

No matter one's opinion of employer mandates, Americans should be told that having employers foot 50 or 80 percent of health insurance premiums is not without cost. Employers must cover that expense by reducing wages, eliminating jobs, increasing prices or a combination of all these things. In the end, workers and consumers will pay.

Cutting Medicare payments to hospitals and physicians is another proposed tactic for paying the health care reform tab. It's another hidden tax. Providers make up their underpayment for Medicare patients by overcharging those with private insurance. Insurers, in turn, are forced to increase premiums in response to this cost shifting. This has been going on for years, but it's certain to get worse with additional Medicare cuts. Americans pay the cost whether they realize it or not.

Premium taxes and taxes on self-funded plans are more examples of making people think someone else is paying the health care bill. They are correctly labeled as taxes, but the taxpayer is misidentified. There is little doubt that such taxes would be passed along to consumers.

What is required in the health care debate is a large dose of reality. Americans must be told the truth about costs. Lawmakers must stop hiding the tax bean under one shell or another. They must propose straightforward revenue sources. Simply put: a broad-based tax may be the answer. It has worked for Medicare and Social Security.

Once Americans know the facts, they can let their Senators and Congressmen know whether they want to pay additional taxes for universal coverage, and, if so, how much.

Truth in taxation must be an element of any health care reform legislation.

Schultz said, "I have truly enjoyed the family atmosphere and being in the medical field," she said. "It's hard to imagine that when I started World War II was going on, and that Franklin Roosevelt was president."

Questionnaire uncovers depression symptoms

Have you felt miserable, "empty" or sad for at least two weeks? Do you lack interest in activities you once found enjoyable? Are you having difficulty sleeping through the night? Or have you been sleeping too much? Have your eating habits changed? Are you uncharacteristically tired or irritable?

If you, or someone you know, answer "yes" to any of these questions, it may be a sign of depression. Depression is an illness for which more than 80 percent of patients can be successfully treated, but nearly two thirds of the people with this disease never seek help.

"The term 'depression' can be confusing because it used to describe a normal mood as well as an illness," says

Linda Hale, patient care director of Mental Health Services at Victory Memorial Hospital. "We all feel depressed or blue from time to time; it is a normal reaction to distressing events in our lives. But, if feelings of sadness are accompanied by feelings of hopelessness and helplessness or if they persist unrelieved for more than two weeks, they may be symptoms of depressive illness."

Self-rating questionnaires which can help uncover symptoms of depression will be made available to participants at Victory Memorial Hospital's free Depression Screening Day, Thursday, Oct. 6. The questionnaires will be evaluated by mental health professionals, who will confidentially discuss the results with participants and make appropriate recommendations. Victory's screening day also includes an educational seminar, "Unmasking Depression: Seeing Things in a Different Light." The seminar will discuss symptoms of depression, diagnosis and treatment.

Victory has scheduled two sessions for this important free community screening. The educational seminar will be held at 3 p.m. and again at 6 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 6 at the hospital, 1324 N. Sheridan Rd. Depression screening interviews with mental health professionals will immediately follow each seminar. To make an appointment for a confidential screening, call 1(800)843-2464.

Symptoms of depression

People suffering from depression may experience some or all of these symptoms:

- A depressed mood-sadness or "emptiness"—lasting at least two weeks
- A decrease of (less often) an increase in appetite or weight
- A disruption in normal sleep pattern
- Feeling either agitated or slowed down
- Loss interest in usual activities
- Loss of energy
- Feelings of worthlessness and guilt
- Difficulty thinking and concentrating
- Thoughts of death or suicide

Advanced technology erases years from ears

While medical progress in areas such as cardiac care and organ transplants are making headlines, significant advances are being made in hearing health care as well.

Digital computer technology, for example, has had a major impact on the size and effectiveness of hearing aids. Now smaller and more effective than ever, they are inconspicuous yet can help enhance some of the hearing that most of us lose over the years.

These tiny, in-the-canal models, similar to the one worn by former President Reagan, can now be programmed with a computer called the PMC to help correct an individual's unique hearing loss.

The computerized hearing aids have over three million adjustment possibilities, according to Laura Liddle, audiologist for Siemens Hearing Instruments, Inc., the company that manufactured Reagan's aid and pioneered these advancements in models such as the LifeSound™ hearing aid.

"It's similar to getting eyeglasses. The patient, together with his or her hearing health care professional, can select those settings which provide the best hearing possible," she explains.

People urged to save their sight and see an ophthalmologist

Half of all blindness is preventable, and blindness can come without warning, no symptoms at all. The best way to make sure your eyes are healthy is to have an examination by an ophthalmologist, a medical eye doctor.

Take this true/false quiz, and prepare to be surprised:

Reading in dim light is harmful to your eyes.

False. Working on computers will not harm your eyes. However, you can develop eye strain or fatigue after working at a terminal for long periods of time, just as you can from reading or doing other close work. Take regular breaks to look up or across the room. Looking at objects farther away usually relieves the strain on your eyes.

If your vision blurs or your eyes tire easily, you should have your eyes examined by an ophthalmologist.

Wearing the wrong kind of glasses hurts your eyes.

False. While the correct glasses or contacts help you see clearly, wearing a pair with the wrong lenses, or not wearing glasses at all, will not physically damage your eyes.

Children outgrow crossed or misaligned eyes.

False. Children do not outgrow crossed eyes. A child whose eyes are misaligned will develop poor vision in one eye, because the brain will "turn off" the misaligned or "lazy" eye. If caught early, crossed or misaligned eyes may be straightened by glasses, patching, eye drops or surgery. Children who appear to have misaligned eyes should be examined by an ophthalmologist.

Eye trouble is the cause of learning disabilities.

False. There is no scientific evidence that eye trouble causes learning disabilities, or that eye exercises cure learning problems. However, all children should have a complete medical eye exam to determine whether they have a vision problem that may affect reading.

Sitting close to the television can damage children's eyes.

False. There is no evidence that this behavior damages the eyes, and the habit usually disappears as children grow older.

People who wear glasses should avoid reading fine print and doing detail work.

False. You can use your eyes without fear of "wearing them out."

All eye doctors are the same.

False. To become an ophthalmologist (MD or osteopath) requires eight years of medical school and hospital training after college. An ophthalmologist is a medical doctor qualified to provide all aspects of eye care, including vision care, diagnosis and treatment of eye diseases and surgery.

Eight reasons older adults eat poorly

As Americans age, they face health threats from many areas. One often overlooked health threat is malnutrition. The fact is many older adults are not eating well, and this puts their health at risk.

"There are many factors that enter into healthy eating habits and diets," said Sue Polltak, chief dietitian at Victory Memorial Hospital.

"When seniors don't eat properly, they can lack essential vitamins and nutrients, as well as the necessary fuel to energize the body. It is important that they have good nutrition because a person's immune system is affected dramatically by their nutritional status."

Among the factors leading to poor nutrition in older adults are: depression; medications which reduce appetite and/or change the taste or smell sensations people experience; problems with teeth, gums and dentures; cost of groceries; lack of social interaction which reduces the pleasure of eating; difficulty in feeding themselves because of arthritis and other handicaps; inability to travel to the grocery store and carry groceries home; and boredom with cooking and eating alone.

"Family and friends can often help older adults to safeguard their health by ensuring that they eat well. Sometimes the interest shown in a person's eating habits is all the incentive someone needs to make them want to eat three good meals a day," said Polltak.

It may be important to check on a person's eating habits, especially at meal times. Create interest in meal time by sharing a friendly lunch or dinner once a week. To make sure the refrigerator is well stocked, offer to take a person grocery shopping or to do it for him/her. Encourage the person to become involved in outside activities through church, the park district and local senior centers. Getting seniors involved in a physical activity is also critical in helping to maintain muscle mass and helps stimulate their appetites.

"Often, seniors have limited physical activity due to arthritis, joint pain or loneliness," said Polltak.

"Unfortunately, muscles that don't get used begin to shrink, making that person feel weaker, thus further weakening him or her and reducing the appetite."

Polltak stressed that any activity, as simple as walking or swimming, is helpful. Weight training designed for older adults is also a good activity.

If walking is not appropriate, due to physical limitations, she suggests contacting the park district, YMCA and area senior centers to find senior exercise groups.

The leaders of senior groups are trained to adequately judge a person's abilities and can tailor activities for individuals.

When concerned about the eating habits of an older adult, talk to him/her about it. Together you may be able to safeguard his/her health.

Service protects homeowners from scams

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Need work done on the house—roofing, plumbing, remodeling or concrete work—but are afraid of scam contractors not finishing the job or disappearing after the down payment is made?

Negligence and deception have become widespread within the construction industry over the years, and reports of elderly victims are especially becoming more frequent.

That's where the Vernon Hills-based Homeowner's Referral Service steps in.

"I am working on a case as we speak of a concrete contractor that ripped this poor lady off," said Kimberly Sieler, who heads Homeowner's Referral Service.

Generally, here's the scenario: A homeowner wants a job done on the house but has neither the time nor the money to seek out a reliable contractor. Instead, the homeowner finds a cheap contractor who later skips out on the work or does a shabby job.

"A homeowners figures he will spend $2,000 less to go with these companies that they know nothing about," said Sieler. "We get honest, competent, reliable companies instead of people working out of their truck, demanding a down payment and later running off."

Her business serves as a liaison between construction contractors and homeowners, referring homeowners to reputable contractors, she said. Not only do they refer contractors but they also send out inspectors to a site to guarantee a quality job is being done.

If the job is not completed to the homeowner's satisfaction, Sieler said she will take the necessary steps to make sure the job is completed satisfactorily.

Depending upon the season, Sieler said she makes approximately 80 to 100 referrals a week. As an incentive to insure quality work, contractors pay a percentage to Homeowners Referral Service. Sieler also has all the insurance and licensing back-

Grand Hunt Center in Gurnee fully leased

Opus North Corp. has announced the signing of four leases totalling more than 52,000 square feet of retail space at Grand Hunt Center in north suburban Gurnee, bringing the shopping center to 100 percent occupancy.

OfficeMax, Fashion Bug and FuncoLand have signed leases in Grand Hunt Center, a 60-acre retail development on the southwest corner of Grand Ave. and Hunt Club Rd. that includes a Target, Circuit City and Jewel Foods. Opus is building a 133,000-square-foot portion of the center on 12.5 acres between Target and Jewel.

Gary Pachucki, director of real estate for Opus, said the strength of the Gurnee area retail market and diversity of stores located within Grand Hunt Center contributed to Opus' reaching 100 percent occupancy so quickly.

Opus purchased the land earlier this year and immediately announced a lease to Kohl's for 80,684 square feet of space. With these new leases, the center has reached 100 percent occupancy.

"Gurnee continues to be one of the fastest growing retail markets in the Chicago metropolitan area. With Grand Hunt Center, we have attracted an excellent combination of soft goods and specialty retailers that are necessary for long-term success in such a competitive marketplace," Pachucki said.

OfficeMax, a subsidiary of K-Mart based out of Shaker Heights, Ohio, will open a 23,500-square-foot store featuring a variety of office products, including furniture, computer accessories and office supplies.

Fashion Bug, which is based out of Bensalem, Pa., and carries moderate-priced casual wear clothing for women, has leased 12,500 square feet of retail space.

FuncoLand, which leased a 1,650-square-foot store, is owned by Funco, Inc. based in Minneapolis and specializes in buying and selling new and used video games.

Also Raskin and Peggy McNamara, of Mid-America Real Estate Corp. in Oakbrook, represented Opus, OfficeMax and Fashion Bug as leasing agents. James Paul & Associates, Inc., in North Riverside, represented FuncoLand, as the leasing agent.

Kohl's opened Aug. 5. OfficeMax, Fashion Bug and FuncoLand are scheduled to open in the late fall.

Opus North is a design/build construction and real estate development firm with extensive experience in retail centers, business parks, office buildings, commercial and industrial facilities.

Marcus plans expansion

The Marcus Corporation announced plans for its theater division, Marcus Theaters Corporation, to double the size of its Milwaukee-based motion picture theater circuit within five or six years.

"Our goal is to have at least 400 screens by the year 2000 while maintaining our historic margins," stated Bruce J. Olson, president of Marcus Theaters. "We will accomplish this goal through a combination of at least 10 to 12 new projects, screen expansion at existing locations and pursuing some key acquisitions," Olson added.

The company currently operates 189 screens in Wisconsin and Illinois. It is the largest exhibitor in Wisconsin and is ranked 18th nationally.

The company's planning is already underway to add 48 screens during the current and next fiscal years. An eight-screen complex is under construction in Delafield, Wisconsin. The company previously announced plans for a new theater in New Berlin, Wisconsin. Twelve additional new screens will be added at existing locations in Racine, Wisconsin (2), Mequon, Wisconsin (3), Oak Creek, Wisconsin (3), and Gurnee, Illinois (4). Also, 54 screens (six new complexes and one addition) are presently in various stages of negotiations or planning in the Midwest.

"Contrary to some doomsayers in the 1980's who predicted the demise of the movie theater, we're here to say that we're not only alive, but very healthy—having achieved record results for fiscal 1994, which ended in May. In fact, the entire industry is healthier today than it was five or six years ago. Attendance is up, quality film production is increasing and new production companies are being formed," Olson noted.

"Two significant technological achievements have quietly gone unheralded over the past year which we believe are greatly responsible for the resurgence of movie going. These are computerized special effects and digital sound. The special effects that people are seeing in Jurassic Park, Forrest Gump, Mask, and other movies are computer-generated. Producers can now bring effects to the screen that previously they only dreamt about. Just as important as dazzling the audiences is the lower cost of production using computers. Lower film costs will translate into more production and higher profits," Olson said. "Digital sound is so dramatic in our theaters that people walking out are talking as much about the sound as the movie itself," Olson added.

She also works with homeowners who have experienced scam jobs by hunting down the contractor and threatening legal action. In the meantime, she finds another contractor to complete the job.

"We can lead you in the right direction and give you the necessary steps to get your problem resolved," said Sieler.

She said anytime homeowners hire a contractor they should check out the contractor's credentials and call the references. "Don't take their word," she said.

The Vernon Hills company serves all of Lake County, parts of DuPage, McHenry and Cook counties, and southern Wisconsin.

"There was a great need for personal protection," Sieler said. "We're here to help."

MURPHY ON REAL ESTATE

Terri Murphy

Buying low, selling high, and holding out

The real estate market and the stock market run a number of parallels. Shrewd investors pluck the low stocks and know the perfect time to sell for a profit. Although the stock market is more quickly volatile than the real estate market, there is one universal similarity that endures.

In most cases the seller must sell and close the home before purchasing another. In this situation, the seller, as would anyone, wants to get the highest and best price for the property.

The buyer, of course, is looking to get a property at the lowest price possible to effect a "good deal." The seller will also be wearing a buyer's hat simultaneously when looking for a new or different home, and will also expect to purchase at the lowest, best price possible.

If the purchasers are limited to the same areas, and the economic factors run fairly equal, and it is unlikely that the seller will obtain the top range and still expect to buy at below fair market value.

It is necessary to understand that it is not often that one can have both ends of the investment spectrum working for you at the same time. There are other key factors that can influence the situation in other ways. If the property that the seller has an interest in is a foreclosure, the normal rules of supply and demand are different, and do not often apply. Additional points that affect the normal pricing can be due to the financial situation of the selling parties. Those individuals carrying two mortgages or heavy personal burdens are more likely to sell at slightly below fair market value to effect a quick sale.

If the property is owned by a third party holding company, they will need to consider future and present carrying costs before making a "deal" if any deals are to be made. Other considerations to figure bottom line is what the company's investment is to the employee. In some cases the company may have offered a bonus to the employee to induce a quicker sale and reduced management costs. Third party appraisals can run more conservatively due to customized decorating, competitive housing and bonus plans the employer may consider when transferring an employee. Purchasing one of these homes may require more time and less pricing flexibility, depending on the individual case.

Other areas of the country may offer different investment potential than your present area. Areas that have suffered economic impacts like the southwest may have more supply and less demand, making the investment on the other end richly rewarding.

The bottom line—when moving within the same area, selling high and buying low is certainly everybody's dream. Remember that fact when you are the seller on your end, and buying later. Do not be insulted with offers lower than fair market value for your home. You may not know where the buyer is coming from geographically or otherwise, or the "coaching" they may be getting.

Working with a good appraiser and a good agent can keep you focused on the constant changes in your market place.

Winning the war, not the battle, is what makes negotiations successful. Keep a clear focus, understand the reasons for counter offers, and make the decisions that are

First Midwest employee celebrates 65 years of banking

NEAL TUCKER
Staff Reporter

First Midwest Bank will be a different place someday without Mary Eiffler. That is because the 83-year-old Eiffler, who just celebrated her 65th anniversary in banking, has been a fixture with the bank for over 20 years.

Eiffler began in banking at the Illinois National Bank, Oct. 1 1929. That building is across the street from her present employer, just off of Sheridan Rd on Washington St in Waukegan.

Her duties at that first bank job were to prepare statements and file checks, which involved much more paperwork than today. Instead of receiving their monthly statements by mail, customers would come to the bank in person. This gave Eiffler the opportunity to know each customer by face and name. After the Great Depression took hold of the economy, the bank eventually failed.

She was unemployed for only a short time, taking a job at Citizens National Bank across the street in building that now houses her present employer. Years earlier, she had attended Waukegan Business School on the fourth floor of that building, taking accounting and other business courses.

Eiffler started in banking earning $60 a month and thought she "had the world by the tail." Her husband worked as a printing pressman, so her income was supplemented by his salary of $25 per week.

"We lived like rich people in a three-room apartment for $9 a week, including utilities and furniture," she said.

Many things have changed in her industry after more than six decades. Technology has been responsible for most of those changes. Everything used to be done by pen and ink. An adding machine was even a luxury.

Even the physical size of paper currency changed. President Franklin Delano Roosevelt made the order. This was expensive for already financially troubled banks, because they had to buy new cash drawers to handle the money. The change did cause extra work, though, which was something most people were looking for.

Today, most banking transactions are done on computers. Eiffler also says the customer has changed significantly. They are more educated about investing money and making it work for them.

"In the old days, a lot of people put their money under the mattress or in a sugar bowl," she said.

Eiffler now works in the auditing department at First Midwest. Many people would probably like to invite her over to the house because she primarily handles the confounding job of solving statements that do not balance.

She still has time on the side to participate in charities and has three times acted as president of the Zonta Club, an international women's charity fund-raising organization. She drives women to the grocery store, as well as others to events held by the Waukegan Community players and to Waukegan Community Concerts. Her other volunteer interests are the Waukegan Historical Society, the St. Therese Medical Center Auxiliary and the Little Fort Lioness Club.

Family is also very important to the mother of one and grandmother of two. Daughter Sue Brandt lives in Lake Villa while granddaughter Karen Funderbunk lives in Fox Lake and grandson Mark Brandt resides in Grayslake.

Eiffler feels privileged that she has been able to succeed in a banking career for so many years.

"I can't believe I have spent my entire life doing exactly what I want to do. It's perfect," she said.

Volunteerism creates good feeling

"I have the opportunity to work with over 4,000 volunteers in order to keep the United Way operational," said Jan Edgar, president of the United Way of Lake County. "And even more are referred by our Lake County Volunteer Center to other agencies," Edgar continued. The Volunteer Center for Lake County provides a clearinghouse on volunteer opportunities in Lake County. Prospective volunteers can select from over 300 different opportunities based on their interests and time availability.

At a meeting of the Lake Suburban Chapter of Women in Management, Edgar gave an overview of the trends in volunteerism. According to a 1991 Gallup Organizational National Survey on Giving and Volunteering in the U.S., about 51 percent of Americans volunteer—even though they have experienced a decline in their household income.

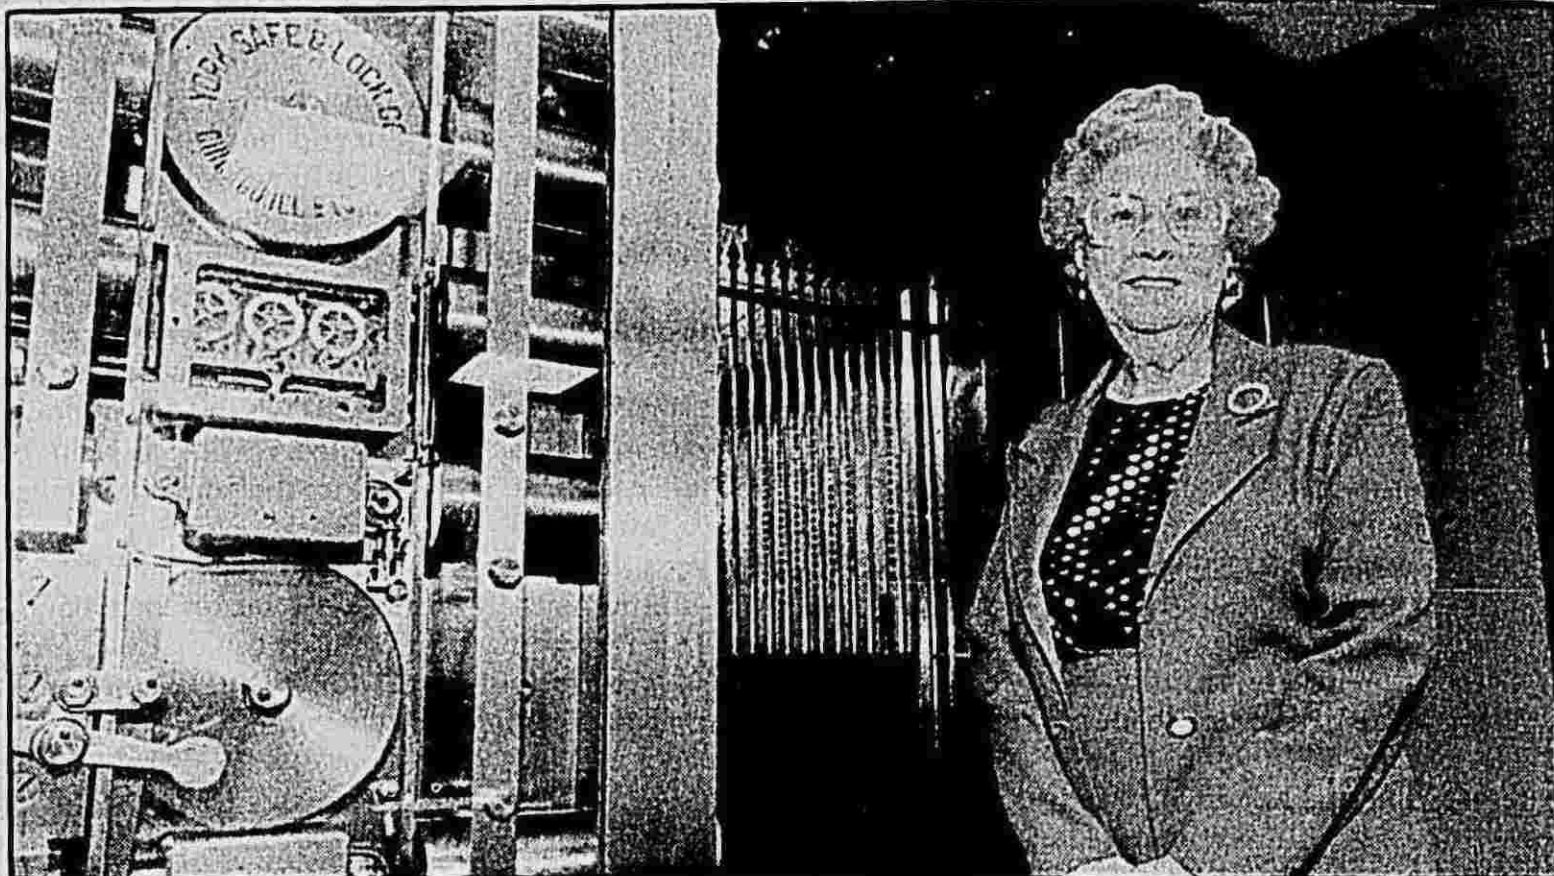

Edgar went on to report the total number of volunteer hours in 1992 amounted to 20.5 billion.

When placed with a monetary value of $11.58 per hour (as reported in the Gallup survey), the value of the volunteer hours came to $176.4 billion, or 5 percent of the Gross National Product.

"There are many reasons why people volunteer," cited Edgar, "including the sharing of experience or expertise in helping others and solving or impacting on a community problem. Others volunteer for the opportunity to develop new skills, gain insight and personal growth and development."

While a number of national surveys have found that volunteers tend to be healthier and happier than others their own age, one study suggests that volunteerism contributes to a longer life.

In closing Jan Edgar reported there are unlimited opportunities to volunteer in Lake County. Volunteering can be an activity where a little goes a long way. "Don't give till it hurts—give till it feels good," Edgar concluded.

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (708) 223-8073

Lakeland
Newspapers

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Methuselah's mail

With all due respect to the lovely Wauconda lady who 104 years old, I want to advise you that I am a 936-year-old resident of Wauconda. I got this old by standing in line at the Wauconda post office.

Trains and planes

This is in response to "Stop horns." If you move near a train tracks, you are going to have trains. If you move near an airport, you are going to have airplanes.

Inspect your homes

To all you Sweetwater Mill residents who constantly complain how shoddy your homes were built, why don't you get a life? The fact of the matter is you shouldn't blame your builder, but your former village inspector. Thankfully, my home was built before this time.

Speed kills

This is in response to the person talking about the speed in Antioch. This is not a question of them speeding through town, but in a subdivision from Lake Marie to Rte 59. The road is surrounded by trees so it is not a beautification problem. It is the question of idiots zooming out of there.

No illegals

This is regarding the Upservice call "Boot them out." That person was totally right about illegal aliens coming to this country. People in this country who don't vote and those who do vote should call the congressmen and get them to stop allowing illegal aliens from coming into this country and taking full advantage of entitlements. Our system is taxed enough paying for our own residents. To get benefits, you should be in this country at least five years and paying into the system. People need to start calling their congressman. Talk to people you know about it. If congress doesn't act on it, we can vote them out.

Multiplying trains

I agree with the caller "Losing sleep." We have a similar problem in Grayslake. Many trains come through this town at nights. Sometimes they are five minutes apart, and have steadily worsened since we moved here five years ago. We understand the need for horns at crossings but why do they have to be so loud and sound so continuously? Does anybody know what can be done with this?

A country mile

This is for "Losing Sleep." You in Lake Villa are not the only ones losing sleep. We in Antioch as well as other towns along the Wisconsin Central Line are losing sleep as well. Even two miles away we are seriously affected by the train.

Keep the faith

I'm calling regarding the Round Lake varsity football team. We are 0-3 and are not doing too well, but I still have faith in them. Good luck.

Wrong address

I would like to find out if the people from Round Lake, Grayslake, Lake Villa and all the surrounding areas like Fox Lake are having as much trouble as we are having in Ingleside with getting our mail delivered. I am constantly getting things delivered that do not belong to me. I also have people bring me my mail that they received. Yesterday a very important letter of mine was delivered to someone else. It really worries me.

Same old tune

This is a complaint about the Grayslake marching band. The football team finally won their first game after 22 losses and the band left the field before the end of the game. Couldn't they have stayed and cheered them on?

Fence it

This is in regards to the two callers that talked about the children's plastic toys. First of all I cannot believe a person can criticize a child toy. They are brightly colored for the child's pleasure and they are plastic for safety. At what these things cost, they will not end up in a landfill. They will be given away, sold recycled, or donated. If you don't care about the look of toys in your neighbors yards, then put up a fence.

Rank has privileges

To the taxpayers of Grayslake School District 46. Is our money really going for better education? They have classes of over 30 kids and growing. They have cut many courses from the Middle School and many children are now walking to school because they have cut the bus routes. How many new computers and phone systems have been purchased? Have you seen the new look at the district offices? I think many of our children are being cheated at the expense of the District 46 administration.

Clean up

I'm glad that someone else noticed the custodial problems in Grayslake School District 46. The busing issue in the paper was right on.

Herald the hero

My gripe is about the Lakeland

Newspapers obituaries for Robert C. Christensen from Round Lake Beach. I am looking at a lot of the people who have passed away and they do not get a write up if they don't have money or don't know somebody. This gentleman was a serviceman for five years in Cuba and received a Silver Star and a CMH, which is a Congressional Medal of Honor. It breaks my heart that there is not write-up about the CMH. They just don't give those things away. Something is owed to this man and his family. This man was truly a hero and deserves a separate column outside of the obits.

Very gross lakes

I'm calling to applaud the person who called in "Gross Lake." These lakes here are terrible. Last year in Round Lake I almost lost a toe by stepping on something sharp. These lakes need to be dredged and cleaned. They are not fit for fishing, swimming, or water skiing.

MYOB

This is in response to "Not toying around." They are concerned about the young neighbors who have brightly colored toys in the yard making it look like a nursery school. I think they should mind their own business and not worry about it. Maybe they will donate them to other young families or sell them in a garage sale so they won't end up in the landfill. They should keep their noses in their own backyards.

Big Brother missing

This is in response to "Not toying around." I noticed the person has been observing all these toys in someone else's yard. The first thing: get a life. The second thing: when you put your garbage out by the road, where does it go? Duh... landfill. Leave everybody else alone and do what you have to do and let other's do what they have to do. Your neighborhood can then be happy. Just remember, Big Brother isn't always watching.

Handicapped help

I am a handicapped person from Mundelein. I went to the Vernon Hills Days and could not get out of my car when I parked. Please have parking facilities for the handicapped. Next year, could you get more parking spaces for people who can't get out of their vehicles. I want to thank the Vernon Hills Police for giving me a parking space and the County Sheriff's Department for helping me. They were very kind.

Bathroom reading

I have a suggestion for the mother who is trying to potty train her son. I used to sit in the bathroom on the edge of the tub and read to them. The time and patience really helped. It takes a couple of weeks, but it eventually works.

Mow your own

The toys in the backyard keep the children occupied and keep them in the safety of the yard. Since you are not the one who has to mow around them, I don't see much room for complaint.

Stop light?

We'd like to know if there will be a stoplight erected on Rollins Rd and Nicole. It is very dangerous for people trying to get out of the subdivision. There is going to be one heck of an accident. The street that goes into the Willow Ridge subdivision has a bunch of speeders going into the next subdivision, Country Walk. They do not care that children are playing there and may get hurt.

Passed bus

This afternoon, I was on my way home from work going east on Rte 134. I was stopped by a school bus which was headed west. There was traffic backed up in both directions. The driver opened the door to let the student off when a little red car came around the left hand side to pass the bus. The bus driver saw what was going on and stopped the child from getting off until she saw that there was no danger. This upset me a great deal. The car in question pulled into the parking of the liquor store. I thought of going to the lot to get the license number but I did not know what to do with it. Would I need to give testimony? The was a lot of traffic, but now it is startling to bother me. What should I have done? Would I have been sorry if I had become involved. Would the police believe my word if I reported it? I wonder what I should do if this ever happens again.

Always open

A short while back in the orientation lecture at Antioch High School, my daughter was advised that the high school has a 24-hour message service so parents can call in sick or tardy. We had one occasion I called my daughter in and the machine malfunctioned. My daughter had unexcused absences until they could talk to me. It was fine until the assistant principal lectured the classes that the service was available. When my daughter questioned it, she was asked if she reported the malfunction of the machine.

I don't believe that is my daughter's function. It is now 1 a.m. and I am trying to report my daughter's absence. There is no answer at this 24-hour number. Your system has failed. If my daughter has an unexcused absence because we are not up at 7 a.m. in the morning to report it, I am sorry. If you want money for another referendum, you should start making things better with a new answering machine. We have a private bus service and new security service. It took four of those uniformed people to identify a car that peeled rubber at the entrance of the high school. I seriously wonder about the appropriation of funds. I think they can be better used than for things like that. There is a problem at Antioch High School. It has only been a couple of weeks for this new system and I have had it already.

Not important

Once again Lakeland Newspapers has failed to give the names of the Lake County fair amateur contest winners. No one was there to take a picture. We will never forget queens who walk in bathing suits. See LIPSERVICE page C6 and walk in $5,000 evening gowns, and cite prepared speeches. The junior division winners were Kaja Milovanovic, third, Amber Dusak, second, and Angela Beltchenko, first. The senior division finalist was Christina Vanni. It is too bad the paper finds this matter to be too minute to put it in the paper. Isn't it sad.

Fireworks ratings

Now that the summer is over, I wanted to rate this summer's fireworks. Vernon Hills' were the greatest and Great America's were the worst. The parking was terrible and the fireworks were worse. Island Lake gets four stars, and Buffalo Grove has some good one's. Taste of Chicago's were wonderful. Venetian Night in Fox Lake rated a fabulous. Have a great fall everybody.

Gumshoes?

Here it is again, another situation with the Gurnee School District. Where were their minds when they decided to let junior kids chew gum in school? Now, my daughter had come home with gum on her shoes. On the bus they were throwing gum all over the bus. Last year they were having trouble with children on the bus, and now they let them have gum. I can't believe it. I know they didn't do this at Woodland Grade School. This is the same school that suspends students for not bringing their pencils to class. It is a wonder how our kids come out of there with the ability to think for themselves. That school is so wishy washy.

Football tax

This is a question for the Gurnee Park District. After reading the booklet on what is available, it seems to me that the substance of football is left out. I don't know why our park district cannot provide football when it is available in North Chicago, Waukegan and Round Lake have it? Does this mean the taxes we pay in Gurnee are not enough to provide this service, but they are enough at these other communities? Warren Township also provides football. Where is all the money?

Unhappy employee

The teacher from Grayslake School District 46 is not alone. I too, am an unhappy employee. Why have we lost so many good teachers this year? Has anyone asked these ex-teachers why they left? There is a lot of back-stabbing going on.

Keep your smell

I live in an apartment complex in Antioch. I am a nonsmoker. Periodically I like to open my windows to get some fresh air. Do you know what it is like to open your windows and get the stench of cigarettes wafting up into your apartment? I realize you people stink and don't care about your health and others' but if you want to breathe your own smoke, then turn on your air conditioner. Then your smell won't intrude on others.

Abusive engineers

I agree with the callers who don't like train horns. Since the petition against them started, the engineers have become more abusive with their horns. It has been louder and longer. This is their way of getting back at us for complaining. I don't think they should hold their horns all the way through town. They should only blow them at crossings. They can follow their regulations and still be considerate too.

Halloween scrooge

This is in response to 'Toying around' and 'Not toying around.' You sound like someone who was lucky enough to have 'Architectural Digest' over to do a photo shoot of your home. Probably not though. You are probably someone who hasn't had children or grandchildren lately. The two major manufacturers of children's toys are making them in bright colors that children like. They are also colors that children are learning the names of. These are just a few of the ugly toys that I will not have to throw away. I will just sell them at a garage sale and put the money away for college or buy basketball hoops so we can continue to drive you crazy. I would suggest if our toys bother you then you should move to a senior complex or a mobile home park. I bet you are the type who leaves the lights off and doesn't answer the door on Halloween either.

Nobody's perfect

This is in response to your editorial note on the Lipservice call titled 'Hammer time.' You neglected to mention that 'Hammer time' was called in Aug. 26, before your Sept. 2 article.

Only winning

I read the last bit that someone wrote and their son went to the Warren Township Center to play football. I've been around for a long time, back when it was the Gagewood Packers. It stinks now.

The coaches are only concerned about winning. I have seen a championship game played in weather so bad, animals would not even be out in it. Parents were yanking their kids out and taking them out because they were bench sitters. All the fathers who were coaches and their kids get all the skill positions. There is something wrong here. Gurnee Park District should have its own football team. A lot of parents feel this way.

Keep going

This is in response to the Hainesville Police Department. I thought police officers are to be more kind than those officers are. There was an accident on Rte 120. My niece was on her way to work. She was told to go down a street as a detour. She did and couldn't find a way out. She came back and asked the police officer for some assistance. He bluntly said to her 'Keep going.' She had to find her way to work.

Pageant psycho

This is in response to the 'One little cutie' call and its responses. Has it ever occurred to anyone that the person who made that call in the first place isn't even a parent of one of the contestants, and instead is a psycho who makes up titles for her little daughters? Nobody ever said the little miss shouldn't have won, but the emcee should watch what he is saying when little ears are listening. See LIPSERVICE page C7

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (708) 223-8073

Lakeland

Welcome tax

I am a life-long Lake County resident and would like to respond to the whiners and the train noises. Welcome to the neighborhood. It is too bad you had to move here from wherever you came from. That is why I don't live near the tracks. Also, welcome to higher taxes.

Traffic stop

This is to 'Losing sleep.' It is obvious you bought a house close to the tracks. It is a nice expensive one. I'll bet. If you didn't like it, you shouldn't have bought one close to the tracks. The trains run at night so the traffic isn't fouled up all day long.

God exists

I wanted to totally agree with the call regarding Christianity. Why are people so condemning of God? He does exist. How do I know? I am alive. Look at our beautiful things of nature around us. God made it all. When you finally can't take it anymore, Jesus will forgive your sins and come into your life. Let's put God back into our daily lives. With God in our lives, there would be less violence, less gangs and structured families. So when you read this don't think it is another nut or Jesus freak. It is just me telling you how great God has been to me.

Backyard dump

This is regarding 'Toying around.' What is wrong with that person for complaining about toys in other people's backyards? If people throw the toys away, then maybe they should throw them in this person's yard.

Which was first?

I am curious about the people who are complaining about the train horns at night. Tell me, did they move there before the railroad tracks were laid?

A different drummer

Congratulations to the organizers of the Undenfest Parade for allowing people from the Waukegan Christian Fellowship Church to march in the parade. The pastor is serving time for sexually abusing teenage boys. What a great example of forgiveness and tolerance, not to mention a great inspiration to our community youth. However, I prefer to march to the beat of a different drummer.

Train noise

I read the Upservice call 'Worthless petition.' That person said if the law is repealed, they hoped the ones responsible for the petition are the next ones to get hit. Obviously this person doesn't live by the tracks. In the past year they have become a lot worse. They used to honk once. Now they hold on the horns for two minutes. You can't talk on the phone or hear the television. Who do we call? It is really getting out of hand.

Bright teachers

I am calling about the back-to-school night at the Antioch High School. I was pleasantly surprised at all the teachers I met. They are doing a wonderful job of trying to educate our children. They were bright and enthusiastic. My neighbors said the same things. We have heard so many negative things about the high school. We have a wonderful group of people working there. Let's remember that at the next referendum.

Brainless

This is in response to the person who called about the kids who tried to cross Lake Michigan in a boat. I am sorry that they find those people are their only real friends and that they were good kids. They probably did not think of any repercussions for what they did. They probably wanted to do it for the publicity. The thing they will probably get is jail time and heavy fines. Did they ever stop to think they could have drowned, and all the problems this would cause? What about the grief their parents would suffer? Shame on those kids. They probably don't have any brains or expectations in their own lives. They obviously did not have anything better to do. Get a life.

Hooray Jaycees

I wanted to call in and congratulate the Antioch Jaycees. It seems they are always doing something for our town. I took my son to the circus. It was very affordable. They also sponsored some children to go to camp. They delivered Christmas presents to people who were financially strapped. They also made calls to the school children during the Christmas season. Keep up the good work. It doesn't seem anything else gets done in the town except by the Antioch Jaycees.

No butts

I want to make a comment on the smokers who throw their cigarette butts anywhere but in the trash containers. I noticed in the parking lot at the Orchard Medical Clinic in Antioch that some people dump their cigarette butts from their car ashtray onto the black top. The sidewalk by Jewel is covered with them. The filters don't deteriorate. They last forever. Some get on lawns and get cut up to make a bigger mess. I call it first class litter-bugging with no respect for others or to keep America beautiful.

Worthwhile petition

This is to 'Worthless petition' regarding the sounding of train horns. Evidently this person does not live near a train. They come through at all hours of the night and blast their horns from Rollins Rd all the way to Rte 173. Some of them are continuously blowing them. Villages do have control of the horns in their village. If they have crossing gates at an intersection, a train horn is not necessary. It does take a petition. Keep up your good work.

Grumpy old people

I'd like to know what the problem is with people who have play sets in the backyard. At least my children are at my home, safe and sound, where I know where they are at. They are not in your yard bothering you. As for brightly colored toys, you obviously have no children and have not been to the store lately. That is all there is to buy. I'm sorry they are ugly to you, but there is not much we can do about it. These play sets are better than letting kids run around town unsupervised. These toys will not be thrown away after my kids are done with them. If the toy is not broken we give them to other kids who aren't fortunate enough to be able to afford them. You are probably one who also complains about kids running around town instead of being at home. You are ornery and grumpy old people who apparently don't like children.

Bear fort

We have been season ticket holders to the Chicago Bears for years. I have a solution for them if Mike McCaskey will listen to me. Try to get some land at Fort Sheridan and tell the Chicago Park District 'We're moving. Forget about it.'

Sink or swim

I read the story about the Cambridge Homes wetlands violations, then the follow up that the Army Corps of Engineers had made a mistake. I still have to wonder why development is allowed on an 80 acre site when only half of it is developable land. When those areas flood, these people want to declare it a disaster area and federal aid. That is my money. Let's be clear about this—wetlands are swamps and nothing more. If you are someone who chooses to buy your home in a flood plain, you can sink or swim.

Just wait

This is to all you people already griping about the Antioch High School referendum next spring. If you continue, you are going to be blue in the face because you ain't seen nothin' yet. Housing in Antioch High School District 117 has not even begun to reach the massive growth proportions already being felt in Grayslake and Round Lake. Those schools are finding, with the popular tax cap firmly entrenched, that business by referendum is becoming a way of life. How is this school going to operate when there are even more students coming into the district than there are now? I'm not sure if I am for or against the referendum quite yet, but it is clear from some of the Upservice calls that I have a better perspective on the world than some. In fact, I would be surprised if half the callers to Upservice in general have ever left the borders of precious Lake County.

Several suggestion for planting shady groundcover

Q: We have a very shady condition where we'd like to plant some groundcover or shrubs, or anything you could suggest for our gardens.

Groundcovers

Ajuga reptans—Carpet Bugle. The foliage forms a rosette at the plant's base. Blue flower spikes in late April. Other Ajuga reptans are the "Silver Beauty," "Atropurpurea," "Burgundy Glow." The Ajuga reptans Burgundy Glow has shiny leaves with a white and pink variegation. It spreads by runners. The blue flower appears on a spike about six inches tall and appears in April and May. A very hardy, easy to grow plant.

The Euonymus offers many varieties of value to the shade garden. The Euonymus fortunei "Coloratus"—Purpleleaf Wintercreeper is a spreading broadleaf evergreen widely used. The glossy green foliage turns purple in the winter months. Helps to control erosion in gardens. Euonymus is also quite attractive on stone walls when allowed to climb on. The Hedera helix "Bulgarica," "Thorndale" are a spreading evergreen groundcover that roots where they touch soil. They need moist, organic soil to grow in a healthy, vigorous manner.

Pachysandra terminalis is another spreading evergreen groundcover. It spreads by underground stems and does produce white flowers in spring. Once again, it prefers a moist, organic soil content. The "Green Carpet" is a cultivar of the Japanese Spurge and is a bit more deeper green and compact. It will also spread by underground runners. Since this plant grows in a stoloniferous manner, it protects soils from erosion in a sloping garden. A landscape designer's dream plant, creating function as well as aesthetics in a garden.

The Vinca minor—Periwinkle, or myrtle, as some call it, is another spreading evergreen groundcover with shiny green foliage that produces a violet-blue flower in May. This plant spreads by above-ground runners. Will perform in heavy shade as well as full sun. Does require moist, but well-drained organic soils.

Some hardy cultivars of the Vinca minor are "Alba," a white flowered form that exhibits a deep green, glossy foliage; the "Atropurpurea," a reddish-purple flower and one of our favorites; "Bowles," which has deeper blue flowers than the common periwinkle and a glossier foliage.

At last count, with a friend of mine, we had over 70 perennials that could grow in the shade. This does include the Hostas, Astibes and ferns, which helps with all of their cultivars. One thing that stands out in my mind is the need for well-drained, organic soils for most of these plants. Remembering that the health of the plant starts from the ground on up.

Shrubs for shady conditions

The Euonymus family has many upright varieties that can grow from three feet tall to 15 to 18 feet when crawling on a wall or fence.

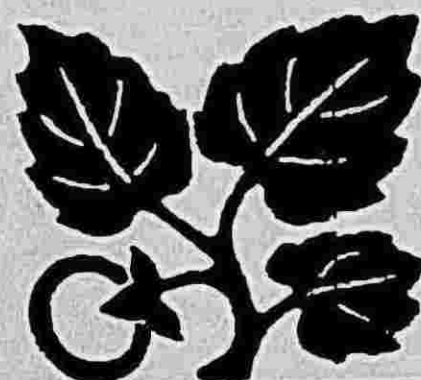

The Euonymus fortunei "Carrier" is an evergreen shrub with glossy, green foliage that often produces an orange fruit. The Euonymus fortunei "Sarcocoe" will spread about four feet wide as well as 4 feet in height. Can be sheared to form a shrub border. Foliage will turn a bronze-red color in the fall. The Fothergilla gardenii shows seasonal interest with bottle brush-like white blooms in the spring. In the fall, the foliage turns orange and red, and adapts to either sun or shade locations.

The Hamamelis vernalis: spring blooming Witchhazel blooms in March with fragrant gold flowers. This shrub becomes more beautiful with age. The fall blooming Witchhazel, Hamamelis virginiana has light yellow blossoms, flowers in October and also gets better with age. I'd like to see this plant used more in a shade garden.

The Symphoricarpos vulgaris, "Coralberry," is a delicate leaved shrub showing coral colored berries through winter. Tolerates dense shade and is a nice bank planting shrub. Most of the Taxus varieties also will tolerate heavy shade, however require well-drained soils for proper growth conditions. A specimen, Viburnum prunifolium stands out nicely in a shade garden as its horizontal growth habit carries away one's eye. The flower is a creamy-white flat-topped blossom that appears in spring. In the fall, a black, edible fruit appears.—by MIKE GRECO, landscape architect/owner of Mill Creek Nursery, Wadsworth.

Beautify yards by attracting various song birds

From the simplest backyards to the most complete of gardens, any landscape setting can be made far more beautiful by the presence of singing birds. Attracting an assortment of colorful birds to your lawn is an effortless project that the entire family can enjoy. All that it involves is the hanging of a prefilled plastic bird feeder.

Prefilled feeders such as the Easy Feeder from Easy Gardener, invite a wide variety of colorful birds to visit your yard year-round. This is because feeders like the Easy Feeder come stocked with the appropriate mixture of seeds and grains. They are refillable and recyclable and can be found in any garden center or hardware store. Such prefilled feeders are a realistic alternative to decorative, large and often very expensive bird feeders that often adorn avid bird watchers' properties. The Easy Feeder not only brightens up your landscape, it also provides a healthy source of food, which is often much needed by birds, especially during the winter months. Simply hang it in a place convenient for observation, out of the reach of the neighborhood cat.

The Easy Feeder is also perfect for home owners who want to enjoy the benefits of having feathered friends without having to work so hard. It comes ready-to-use, is durable and is light enough for children to hang. Such feeders are also a logical choice because they dispense seed

Let the children be in charge

Bird feeders make for great educational projects for children. A child who is given the responsibility of choosing the location of the bird feeder, as well as hanging it, is likely to take a real interest in the different species of birds that frequent the feeding spot. Armed with a bird guide or encyclopedia, your child will be identifying the feasting birds in your yard in no time. Your child can subsequently take credit for, as well as explain the new bird retreat located on your property to family and friends.

Bird varieties

for people of all ages and interests, not just for children. The most commonly sighted bird at a typical feeder is a robin. They are easily identified by their deep colored red breast. What is not as widely known is that they can nest in any of the various terrains of this country. From the ocean coasts to the peaks of mountains, robins are at home.

Blue Jays also seem to flock to bird feeders in great numbers. They crave the sunflower seeds found in the Easy Feeder. Their vibrant colors and distinctive markings make them easy to spot. It is, in fact, more difficult to take your eyes off a blue jay than it is to find one. Doves, cardinals, goldfinches and brown headed cowbirds are other types of birds that will become common sights to the owner of a simple bird feeder.

Birds speak too

interesting and often soothing sounds. The different pitches and tones are often enjoyed by homeowners as background noise. But, they can also be understood for what they truly are: Forms of communication. For example, short fierce bursts serve to signal other birds of impending danger, whereas a strong piercing cry serves to ward off other birds and establish a territory. A male bird might attempt to attract a potential mate by singing a rich, sweet song. All of these different calls are pleasant sounding, and at the same time, they can also serve as a fascinating reference to the trained ear.

Now that you know how a simple bird feeder or two can turn your yard into an educational sanctuary bursting with song birds while making it a far more beautiful locale, why not take the time to feed a bird and beautify your yard?

Mommy, everytime I think about Dad's death I want to cry.
You won't leave me, too, will you?

The death of a parent can be very upsetting to a child. Besides feeling sad and lonely, many children feel very insecure. The safe environment that the family unit provides has been destroyed and often children don't know what to expect next. Children need a lot of reassurance and love when a parent dies. They should be allowed to cry and to express their feelings. Children should be allowed to share in ceremonies for deceased parents, if they wish. While the gap created by death won't ever completely close, love and understanding will help bring a family closer together.

Job hunting: Turning failure into successful employment

For millions of Americans, the task of conducting a job search produces little more than frustration, anger, humiliation, rejection, and personal defeat. In working with thousands of job seekers, most individuals will place job hunting close to the top of their list of things they fear most in life, just after death, serious illness or injury, financial ruin, and divorce. It is not surprising then to find that the suicide rate among the unemployed is higher than among the employed group.

There is no question that the process of finding employment, for many people, is a difficult task incumbent with a high rate of personal pain and failure. Knowing this, countless numbers of employment placement agencies have sprung up across the nation to supposedly relieve people of this burden.

Are you then doomed to face this terrible situation alone? Is the task of hunting for employment one which you should simply understand and accept is filled with pain and suffering? Is job hunting one of life's bitter moments?

No, not if approached intelligently from an informed perspective. Specifically, not if you acquire and use effective job seeking strategies and skills.

The process is akin to watching two individuals who each speak a different language trying to talk to each other. Their intentions may be good, but because of their inability to understand each other, the outcome is predictable. Many people simply do not understand the needs of employers and therefore, fail to communicate the very information which employers require when selecting employees.

The process of seeking employment is a task, a task which can be learned and mastered just like any other task in life. Unfortunately, few people take the time to learn how to successfully seek employment.

The bottom line then is simple—If you are willing to learn several effective job seeking strategies and skills, you can decrease your pain and failure and increase your success.

It is surprising how many people use the same old failure-ridden strategy for seeking employment. Once the decision has been made that a job is needed, most people will prepare a resume and cover letter (which is their way of announcing to the world that they are available) and then start looking for any individual or company where they can forward this information.

This process, often referred to as the "shot gun" approach, requires that you send out dozens, if not several hundred,

Now you would think that after sending out hundreds of letters and resumes, and after making countless numbers of phone calls, that you would be offered several positions. Well, the truth of the matter is just the opposite. I'm no longer surprised to hear from people who followed this strategy that they received maybe one or two responses and even these were not exactly what they wanted.

After completing such a seemingly thorough job of seeking employment and after getting such a poor response, the conclusion that most people draw from this experience is "there are no jobs out there for me". This conclusion often turns into panic and depression. At this point most people become desperate and will accept just about any job, rather than getting the one they really want.

Unfortunately (or fortunately, if you own or work for an employment placement agency), this is the time when many frustrated and defeated job seekers will seek help from professional services and will be willing to pay "big bucks" for them to do what they believe they can not do for themselves. In addition to using placement agencies, other resources are often used, such as Career Planning and Placement services on college campuses, the Department of Employment Security, Classified Help Wanted ads in newspapers, computerized job banks, labor and trade unions, professional organizations, and private head hunting firms.

In spite of the combined resources and efforts of the above, research clearly reveals that none of the above resources is usually more successful than 20 percent of the time. That means that for every 100 people who use these resources, 20 or less actually secure employment from this assistance. If you're part of the 80 percent group who does not find them useful, where do you then go when all resources have failed?

That's the bad news. Here's the good news. The same research studies also indicate that the best way of securing employment is to seek out employers directly by yourself. That is it, put most of your time and energy into contacting employers who have a need for you.

But there's a catch. Don't use the "shot gun" approach and send your resume and letter to every company you think may hire you. That approach will not work well for you. Here's a four step strategy you should adopt which has demonstrated over the years to See JOB HUNTING page C16

Job Hunting

produce more job offers and better job offers than the conventional strategy.

Step No. 1—Determine Your Career Objective

Before you even start the process of job hunting, know what kind of job you want to find. If you do not know what you're looking for, how will you know where to look for it, and how will employers know what you can do for them?

Do not go into the job market with a vague or general idea of what kind of position you want. Many people falsely believe that their odds will be improved if they do not indicate a specific career objective on their resume, in their cover letters, or in conversations with company representatives. The more general they are, the more positions they believe they will be offered. This is a fatal mistake. Do not ask the employer to determine what type of position you should be offered. If you are unclear in your objective, the employer will be unsure of your value, and you will simply be passed over in most situations.

If you are unsure of a career direction, seek out professional career guidance before you start your job search. Know what talent (knowledge and skills) you possess, and which occupations typically require your talent.

Step No. 2—Determine Who Needs You

Depending upon your talent, your next job is to identify those employers who have a need for your assistance.

Specifically, you need to identify employers who typically hire the kind of position you would like to secure. There are many ways to identify potential employers, too many to go into detail in this article. However, the commercial bookstores are loaded with books on how to find potential employers.

Don't worry whether or not these employers have any current employment openings. Most job openings are never advertised. Therefore, if you only seek those with advertised positions, you'll be looking at only a fraction of the real market. Plus, if you identify an employer at the time an advertisement for employment has occurred, you will be contacting the employer at the very time when the competition will be the keenest. You want to get to the employer before he or she places a public notice for help. This strategy is referred to as finding the "hidden" job market.

Don't concentrate solely on just those employers who have publicly stated that they have an employment position available.

Once you have identified a list of potential employers, eliminate those on your list who represent the least attractive opportunities.

Step No. 3—Determine Why the Employer Needs You

Understand that for the vast majority of employers, the decision to hire someone comes down to one simple point: A person is hired because he or she is seen as the person best suited to help the employer reach his or her business goals. This connection between the employer's need and your talent is critical to your job seeking success. Understand the connection and you can succeed, fail to realize how you can help an employer and your application for employment will usually be

To understand what an employer needs and whether or not they need you will require you to do some research of each company. You need to find out such things as, what are the company's objectives, how are they currently trying to reach those objectives, what are the current obstacles which exist that are prohibiting them from reaching those objectives, and most importantly, what role does the position you want play in reaching those objectives.

The bottom line here is ignore the more informed you are concerning the employer's needs and how you can help him or her satisfy those needs, the better chance you have of convincing him or her to hire you.

To gather this information, read anything and everything you can on the company. Call or write and ask for any available literature on the company, its product or service line, and its mission statement. Talk to anyone employed by the company or by a similar company. Research the company in various pub-cations (check out your local public and school libraries). Contact the Better Business Bureau in the town where the company resides for information. Talk to customers who have purchased products or services from the company. Talk to past employees. In short, take on the role of a researcher or "private investigator" to gather all the information you possibly can on the company.

After gathering the information, you will begin to see the "big picture" and specifically what they are trying to do. Once you recognize their objectives and the problems (obstacles) they are facing, you can then recognize their needs.

If you have the talent to satisfy their needs, then you are someone they are going to be most interested in meeting and hiring.

Without the above information, you may make the fatal mistake of telling the employer only what you need (a job), rather than how you can help him or her meet his or her needs. The difference between these two points is easy to understand, but critical to your success.

Local Manpower operation celebrates 35th anniversary

This month the Lake and McHenry counties Manpower operation is celebrating its 35-year anniversary of service to the community. The Manpower offices in Lake and McHenry counties comprise one of the largest Manpower operations in the United States.

Through this 10-office network, Manpower sends more than 4,000 temporary workers on assignment each year to customer firms needing skilled workers for office, light industrial, technical and health care positions.

"Many workers seek employment at Manpower to enter or re-enter the workforce. About a third of our workers actually end up in permanent positions with our customers after taking advantage of our free training and working a few temporary assignments," says Charles Bartels, president of the local operation. "It's a natural transition for both the customer and the worker."

The first Manpower office in Lake County opened in Waukegan in 1959. In 1973 the Bartels family acquired the operation and has since expanded the business to include offices in Waukegan, Vernon Hills, Wauconda, McHenry, Marengo, and Harvard. Charles and Teresa Hall Bartels are active in the business operations and J. Michael Bartels is corporate secretary and a board member.

Manpower provides a unique opportunity for many workers. It is a flexible option for parents, seniors, students, and those in career transitions. Many other employees work for Manpower as a career—with more than 10 years of service. "We believe in investing in our employees and giving them opportunities for self-development," says Teresa Hall Bartels, vice president of the local operation. Manpower employees are eligible for health care benefits, and flexible spending account, computer training, skills assessment and enhancement, unique work experiences and more.

Manpower has become a world-wide force in computer training. To meet the demand for skilled computer operators, the company developed Skillware®, a hands-on self-paced computer training program. All Manpower employees are offered the training free of charge.

Training doesn't stop at the keyboard. Manpower recently developed a comprehensive service quality training program for its temporary workforce. The training is based on its customers' expectations of temporary worker performance.

"Our research found that companies need temporary workers with more than just technical skills. Companies are focusing on customer satisfaction through quality service and demand the same commitment from temporary help firms and temporary workers," says Bartels.

Bartels' Lake and McHenry counties offices are part of Manpower's network of 2,000 offices in 36 countries. The world's largest temporary help firms and temporary workers," says Bartels.

Bartels' Lake and McHenry counties offices are part of Manpower's network of 2,000 offices in 36 countries. The world's largest temporary help firm, Manpower annually provides employment to more than one million people worldwide.

Resumes: Saying only what you need to say

The four most commonly used resume styles are described below.

(1) Chronological—This style (the most common and traditional) incorporates a listing of the job seeker's work history starting with the most current position and working back in time. Each job is described in terms of a title, dates of employment, employer's name and a description of the duties and accomplishments. No mention of a specific job objective is recommended with this style.

This resume style is recommended if you have a solid work history with no gaps in time, if the job you want is directly related to your work history, or if you have worked for a well known company and you want to use the company's name to bolster your professional image and reputation.

(2) Functional—This more contemporary style incorporates a listing of the job seeker's major areas of knowledge or accomplishments, usually arranged in priority from the most developed skills to the least developed skills. (Note: you may also arrange your skills in any order to best support whatever position you are seeking). Job titles, names of employers, dates of employment and a description of duties are usually left out when this style is used. Like the Chronological style above, no mention of a specific job objective is recommended with this style. This resume style is recommended if you are making a career change and are attempting to secure a position very different from your past work history. This style is also useful if you are seeking your first job (you have no work history), or when you are re-entering the job market and you have gaps of time when you did not work.

(3) Targeted—This style incorporates information found in both of the styles listed above—information about your work history and major areas of skills and knowledge. The main difference with a targeted resume is that you DO mention the title of the position you are seeking, and then list those skills and accomplishments you have had and relevant work experience which are related to your job objective. In short, the whole resume is geared or focused at one specific job (target).

The resume style is recommended when you are confident in your job objective and have related knowledge, skills and experience to support your objective.

(4) Alternative—This style (in the form of a business letter) requires that you first research the company(ies) you would like to work for to learn what their business objectives are and what they need in terms of talent, and then prepare a letter describing how you (with that same talent) can be of help to them.

While this style requires more work (i.e. the research) than the other styles, it can offer certain individuals with limitations (i.e. those people with work gaps, no work experience, etc.) an opportunity to be seen as talented and valuable. This style has also been used very successfully by individuals who could use one of the three styles listed above, but who wanted to demonstrate a uniqueness and willingness to focus in on the employer's needs.

How to answer ads more effectively

Unemployment rates continue to soar. So how do you wage a successful job-search campaign today? Answering newspapers ads still works, but you must be careful.

To help cut through the resume clutter follow the following tips:

- P. O. Box numbers can be an obstacle because you cannot address your cover letter to a specific person. In many cases, however, you can identify the company and subsequently the person to whom you can address your letter by calling the post office that represents the zip code in the address. Often the post office will tell you the company. This won't work, however, if the company rented its box through the newspaper in which it advertised.

- If the first sentence in your cover letter says, "This letter is in response to your ad," you will sound just like the other 150 to 400 applicants. Try a different approach. Go to the library and get an annual report or trade magazine article about the company. Then write a beginning paragraph that addresses how your qualifications can help a company increase their profits, market share or save them money.

- Edit, proof and edit again! Keep sentences in your cover letter short and crisp. Letters and resumes must be grammatically perfect. It just takes one typo and a millisecond to send your credentials flying into the proverbially circular files. Therefore, do not try to write your materials in one night or in one sitting. Finally, don't mention salary, bonus or perquisites.

The key to obtaining a better response from employment ads is targeting your cover letter and resume to particular employers and the positions you seek.

Creating opportunities for women and minorities

Is it worth the effort to design recruitment programs for minority and women franchisees? A growing number of franchisers, including Dynamark, Staff Builders and Ben & Jerry's answer with a resounding "Yes."

It's a response that makes a lot of sense. Consider this: as our communities grow more culturally diverse, successful businesses are those that reflect this new diversity. Franchisers who recognize this are now actively seeking and attracting top quality individuals who might have been missed. Simply put: franchisers know it makes good business sense to create opportunities for individuals who have played a part in their company's success over the years.

In addition to minorities, a growing number of women have been attracted to franchising. Here are some facts about that area of the $800 billion a year franchising business that may surprise you. According to the International Franchise Association (IFA), about 18.5 percent of the nation's 550,000 franchises are now owned by women. This is a dramatic increase from about three percent in the early 1980's.

In order to help women already in franchising and introduce others to this exciting field, a new Women's Franchise Network (WFN) was formed that will create more opportunities at every level.

According to WFN Chairperson, Linda L. Burzynski, "Franchising is an excellent opportunity and career alternative for women. In fact, women are starting businesses at twice the rate of men. Yet, education will be the key to our efforts because women often aren't aware of the many diverse careers in franchising." According to members of the Alliance for Minority Opportunities in Franchising, the IFA is making a significant effort to insure the continued growth of minority franchises and vendors. By pooling information and resources, they have opened lines of communication with major minority and women's organizations to increase the level of awareness of opportunities in franchising.

The Alliance currently includes minority media that regularly provide franchising information, financing resources and sources for general small business information. Franchising is a growing business for everybody, expanding at twice the rate of the economy and creating more than 170,000 new jobs last year alone.

Turn those 'negatives' into 'positives' during interviews

If your qualifications are not exemplary and you have some troubled spots on your resume, don't worry. The employer may need an explanation, additional information or a new interpretation if you have something in your employment history which is negative or is the kind of thing frowned on by employers.

It's up to you to provide a positive explanation, either in response to a question or on your own initiative.

The following is a list of "negatives" which can be turned into positives.

Job Hopping

Employer: It seems that you have problems holding onto a job, Mr. X. Why do you change jobs so often?

Possible Solution: Mr. Employer, it's true that I have held a lot of jobs. I tried a variety of things and learned what I like to do and what I can do well. I assure you that if you give me the chance to work for your company, you will have a stable, dependable employee. It's time that I settled down.

Notice that you can agree you were a job-hopper, but then turn it around to your advantage. Also, you can be reassuring that you will stay with this employer.

Firing

Employer: "Why were you fired from your last job, Mr. X?"

Possible Solution: "To be honest, I was at fault. I was unhappy with the job, didn't take an interest in it, missed a lot of time. I realize I was wrong and would never be that unfair to my employer again. I've learned from my mistake."

Possible Solution: "To be honest, it was a different situation. I'm sure my employer had sincere and good reasons for firing me. He felt that I was out sick too often and perhaps he was right. However, before last winter, I have always had a good attendance record and I'm confident that this will not be a problem in the future."

Note that you can just admit to being fired. Own up to the reasons and reassure the employer that it won't happen again. Often, people get defensive about being fired, but it's better to admit you may have been at fault.

Older Worker

Employer: (This might be a hidden agenda item which the employer will not bring up in an interview. It's a good idea to introduce the topic yourself.)

Possible Solution: "There is something I'd like to discuss with you, Mr. Employer. As someone who has worked for 25 years as a secretary and office worker, I feel that I have experience, stability and perspective to offer your company. I hope that you will value a long record of achievement and performance such as mine."

No Work Experience

Employer: "Since you just graduated from school, you have no work experience. Why should I hire you?"

Possible Solution: "It's true that I have no experience at this kind of work. What I do have is energy, initiative, motivation and I'm willing to learn. Give me a chance to show what I can do for you."

Helpful rules for writing cover letters to get a job

While there are no hard and fast rules which are universally accepted and which govern the writing of employment letters, there are several conditions which most job seeking experts agree should be taken into consideration. For example,

- Always attempt to direct your letter to a specific individual, preferably the person who has authority over the position you seek. This may mean doing a little research to discover the person's name, but well worth the effort.
- Always make mention of the product line or services which the company offers, or some of the major business activities in which the company is involved. In other words, demonstrate to the reader that you are well informed about their business activities.
- Always mention how your experience or talents fits into the company's mission or business activities. Don't assume the reader can determine your value-tell the reader how you can be of value to him or her.
- Don't focus only on what you want in your career or job search.
- Focus in on how you can help the employer with his or her business needs and goals!
- Always ask for an opportunity to discuss how you can be of value to the employer. In short, ask for an interview. Don't "soft pedal" your words hoping the reader will figure out that you're looking for an interview.
- Always try to deep your letter to one page-single spaced and typed with a clear and readable typestyle. Use a good quality paper.

- Don't use slang or abbreviations-use traditional grammar and writing style. Don't try to get fancy in an effort to catch the reader's attention.
- Always check your letter for errors in spelling, grammar, and punctuation!
- Don't ask the reader to "get back to you". Tell the reader you will call, stop in, or write back to further discuss your mutual employment interest.
- Always try to use language which is familiar to the reader.
- Don't use acronyms which the reader may be unfamiliar with, but do try to use the "vocabulary" which is appropriate for the position you seek.

Things to know before you apply

The first step in preparing for your job interview should be researching the company. This should be completed prior to applying since one never knows when the interview will take place.

Know the answers in advance to the following questions should help you prepare pertinent questions to ask the prospective employers. It also will show the employer that you are informed about and interested in the company.

Key research questions:

What does the company do? How old is the company? What industries does it serve? What product/services does it provide? How large is the company? Does the company have a good reputation? Why is this job open? What is the policy for advancement?

The answers to these questions should help you formulate a clearer idea of what your future might be with this particular company.

It should also help you to answer the critical question of "Why do you want to work here?"

Sources of Information

Local Chamber of Commerce: The Chamber will have information concerning most companies and businesses in the area.

Library: The librarian can help with resources for information on company background, such as manufacturing directories or sources on Fortune 500 companies.

Call The Company: Another source of information is to call the company and ask for printed information, if available. You can also talk to someone about the history and background of the company.

Talk to Someone Who Has Worked at the Company: Talk to someone who works at the company. That person may be able to provide some valuable background information. Be cautious in talking to some people. They may give you misinformation. Be sure your sources are reliable.

Midwest Staffing offers benefits for temporaries

Offering benefits such as medical insurance and vacation time, Midwest Staffing of McHenry is unique among area employment agencies.

"We are a staffing agency," said Lee Van Syckle. "We specialize in placing light industrial and clerical positions."

Midwest Staffing does the preliminary work often done by an employer when a new employee enters the company.

"We start with a pre-application. Following that a prospective placement is brought in for an interview as well as several work-related tests," said

Van Syckle. "We even do drug screening on applicants."

Van Syckle says the employment steps he utilizes enables him to deliver a temporary employee to a client who is ready to go to work on their first day.

"Most of the positions we place are full-time 40 hours a week," said Van Syckle.

"We place positions that are for 1-2 days or for several months."

Midwest Staffing places applicants primarily in McHenry County but also has clients in Lake and Kane counties.

For more information contact Van Syckle at (815) 455-1650.

Midwest Impulse seeking employees to grow along with company

With the motto "There is no substitute," Midwest Impulse is seeking career-minded individuals with a strong work ethic and desire to learn to become a part of their rapidly growing company.

Full-time employment opportunities exist for such positions as inventory control, sales and marketing, administration, entry level management, warehousing and personnel development.

"Training at Midwest Impulse is provided in hands-on and in-class fashion," said Rick Toplak, president of the company. "We are a rapidly growing import warehouse company that is able to offer tremendous savings to our customers. We distribute to small business and retail establishments."

Toplak is projecting a major expansion for his Prospect Heights based company in 1995 and is looking to train and fill positions now to meet that need.

"We are a large import wholesale distribution company that has been going strong for 14 years," said Toplak. "We import goods and manufacturing from all over the world. We believe that with our concepts, prices and merchandise we can become a household name within the next few years."

Toplak prides himself on utilizing the "smart business" concept. "We deal directly with manufacturers to end consumers so we cut out the middle man and bring customers a lower price," Toplak said.

By being their own middle man, Toplak predicts Midwest Impulse prices will continue to decrease as he continues to build his buying power.

"Right now our merchandise is 70-75 percent less than average retail," Toplak said.

"We deal with approximately 5,000 different types of merchandise from housewares, gift items, music, toys, electronics, small office supplies and novelties."

Midwest Impulse has offices in Prospect Heights, Elk Grove Village, Downers Grove and ten other cities nation wide.

For more information contact Toplak at 459-1192.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

G: Dear...Search: Let me start by saying I read your column each week and thank you for your interviewing tips. I find comfort in the fact there are other people out there with the same concerns and problems when going through the interviewing process. I have been one of those individuals recently faced with unemployment after 12 years with the same company. I landed my first interview last week and felt very comfortable with the knowledge that I have retained from your weekly information. I am quite proud to say that I landed the position and while although I know I did it on my own, I know you were a good influence. Thank you again and keep up the good work. C.S. - Grayslake.

A: Dear C.S. Thank you. You made my day.

G: Dear...Search: I was on my way to an interview for an outside sales position when I made the unfortunate mistake of stopping for a cup of coffee. A few miles down the road, I found myself wearing a quarter of the cup on my shirt and tie. With no time to spare to run home and change I actually thought of blowing off the interview. Something inside me said don't. I looked like a mess, I was very uncomfortable and only blocks away from what was to be an important interview for me. My instincts said if I didn't go now, there may be no second chance, so go for it! I did. And so it was that I walked in and immediately apologized to the employer for my appearance explaining what had happened. The employer just started to laugh and then began his story of how he was giving a lecture recently when he went to take a drink of water and the glass slipped out of his hands drenching his pants while he stood before a room full of people. There we were the employer and myself laughing about this for five minutes. This broke the tension. I have just celebrated my one year anniversary and over lunch with my boss we reminisced about the day I walked in. "You had guts," he said. "You reminded me of me." I look back now and say to myself how glad I am that I took the step that day instead of turning my car around because I was embarrassed. I don't know if you would have recommended what I did, but it sure worked for me. Les - Vernon Hills

A: Dear Les...Had you not taken that chance, you may never have known...Good for you.

Note: Nancy Sakol is a licensed personnel professional and President of Superior Personnel in Gurnee. Letters can be sent to Nancy at 5101 Washington St., Gurnee, IL 60031.

WINCHESTER 2

If you are looking for a comfortable, well designed home, modest in price, the Winchester 2 is your answer.

Within 1,152 square feet of living space are three bedrooms and two bathrooms. The garage, with an additional 480 square feet, could easily be converted to a recreation room, if the extra living space is desired, or used as a workshop for the do-it-yourself person in the household.

The large living room is the place friends and family can gather to enjoy each other's company. A skylight brightens the atmosphere, and for those cold times of the year, a built-in wood stove spreads the warmth. Weather permitting, a small patio can be accessed through a sliding glass door for relaxing in the sun or having a barbecue with the whole gang. A dining room and adjacent U-shaped kitchen, complete with built-in appliances, transform this entire section of the house into a great room, where foot traffic flows unimpeded. Groceries and other items can be brought inside directly from the garage or the adjoining carport without worry.

The lavish master suite is filled with amenities. Occupying one complete side of the house, it features a huge walk-in closet, private bath, separate vanity, skylight and a sliding glass door that leads to its own private patio.

Two identical bedrooms, each with ample closet space, are nearby. This is an ideal situation for parents with young children. They are able to maintain their privacy, while still being able to keep tabs on the youngsters. For empty nesters or retired couples, one of these rooms could be used as the guest bedroom and the other for a small den, sewing room or home office. This design lets you decide.

The second bathroom is located in the hallway along with extra closet storage space. Another closet is positioned behind the door in the entry.

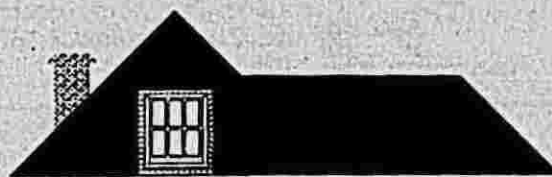

For a study kit of the WINCHESTER 2 (402-28), send $9.00, to Landmark Designs, P.O. Box 2307-LP60, Eugene, OR 97402 (Be sure to specify plan name & number). For a collection of plan books featuring Landmark's most popular home plans, send $20 to Landmark.

College of Lake County's men's and women's cross country runners will be looking to improve times at the Milwaukee Area Technical College invite Oct. 1.

"We have some pretty dedicated runners who are fun to work with," Coach Karen Graham said.

The Lancers are not the power they once were, not claiming a title in three invites. The teams still has lofty goals. "We are still going for the conference championship and striving for nationals," Graham said.

Sophomores Jeff Baumann from Palatine, Rick Quigley from Waukegan and Rob Hannon of Antioch lead the men's team. Freshmen are Rob Rung from Warren Township High School, Mike Reavis of Highland Park and Brian Laford of Waukegan.

Girls are all freshmen: Toni Welzen of Round Lake, Jennifer Carlson of Libertyville and Renee Tessman of Grayslake. The Lancers will be hosting their own invitational Oct. 8.

Yugoslav from Round Lake wins karate title

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Oddly enough, Nenad Brakocevic came from Yugoslavia to the United States to compete in karate.

"I came to the United States to compete in bigger tournaments. I like (the) better competition here," he says in broken English.

And he has certainly picked it up well—karate, that is—because he fought his way to being the national karate champion and was awarded an All-American of the USA Karate Federation, which is the national governing body for karate.

He earned a gold medal in sparring and a bronze medal in forms during the national championships in Jacksonville, Fla. To qualify for the national competition, Brakocevic had to compete in the Atlantic League Regional, where earned a silver medal in sparring and a bronze medal in forms.

Brakocevic arrived to the United States only two years ago and has since reached local, regional and national stardom in karate.

The 17-year-old is now a senior at Round Lake High School, where he was named to the junior homecoming court last year and is a varsity soccer player for the Panthers. He said one of his biggest obstacles since coming here is learning English.

Since arriving to the United States, Brakocevic has won 13 medals, two trophies, and numerous patches, plaques and awards in karate. Under the guidance of his mentor Master John Townsley, Brakocevic trains at USA Karate in Libertyville and teaches there as well.

"Karate is another world for me. I enjoy it," Brakocevic.

His passion for karate came approximately three years ago. While at home in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, he became sick and was lying in bed. His brother Veljko brought home a video for him to watch while in bed.

As it turned out, Brakocevic fell in love with Jean-Claude Van Damme's movie, "The Kickboxer." After that, "I started practicing everyday."

He became interested in competing in this country after visiting his grandfather, Jelenko, who lives in Round Lake Beach. When he decided to come here, he said his friends said he would grow tired of America and return shortly.

"My friends back home don't believe all the medals I have won," he says with a proud grin. He even earned the Presidential Sports Award signed by President Bill Clinton and has his picture plastered on the cover of a national karate magazine.

His mother, Branka, didn't even believe him about all of his accolades until she saw him win the national championship. "It meant a lot to me for my mother to see me compete in the championships," he said.

Now, Brakocevic is the talk of Belgrade.

But Brakocevic intends to remain in this country. He is planning on attending the College of Lake County and wants to play soccer and continue to compete in karate. He was disappointed to learn that only five American colleges compete in karate at the collegiate level.

"I hope to make karate more popular in colleges," said Brakocevic.

He said his heart will always be with karate, and the first thing he teaches his young karate students is the "courtesy about the sport (and) trying to be the best you can be."

In the meantime, the young Yugoslavian is trying to cope with the pressures of being an American teen-ager between school, soccer practice, karate training and teaching. He is also working hard with the USA Karate Federation in trying to make karate an Olympic sport.

Said his grandfather, Jelenko, "He loves to be the champion for the United States."

Bill King is criticizing the decision by Zion-Benton High School not to play North Chicago High in future athletic contests.

"It puts an unnecessary fear in people's minds. The decision not to play us is short-sighted," Coach King said.

An altercation between the two teams took place following North Chicago's 22-17 win Saturday. A resolution of the issue was possible as, by coincidence, North Suburban Conference principals met Wednesday.

"We were at least a hallway away from the home lockerroom. Why were they (Zion players) allowed to come down the hallway and initiate a fight?" Coach King stated. "The participation of one of the Zion coaches in the fracas was also uncalled for. Unless I get an OK from my superior, I will not say who it was."

Efforts to reach Gary Fields,

Zion superintendent, were unsuccessful before deadline.

King, in his second week of head coaching position due to a certification question of former North Chicago head coach Rodney Hampton, pointed to how his team conducted itself following a 31-8 loss to Antioch the week before.

"We got our butts whipped, but our kids did not initiate any fights. We licked our wounds and went on," Coach King said.

He said the decision limits the chances of participation for athletes.

North Chicago coaches received what they believe to be a cold shoulder before the game with traditional rivals. "I was five yards away from Rich Petersen (Zion head coach) and he never shook my hand. The only people who did was the athletic director and track coach," King said. King had to watch the second half See WARHAWKS page C39

Mother Nature delays four Wilmot championships

MICHAEL H. BABICZ

Break out the antacids and sleeping pills as Mother Nature decided it will be another week before the last four of Toft Auto Racing's 1994 Wilmot Speedway Championships are decided.

The Annual Night of Championships is rescheduled for Saturday, Oct. 1. Racetime is 7 p.m. Three days of rains forced the postponement of the season championship main events planned for Sept. 24.

This marks Wilmot's ninth rainout. The features will determine the 1994 Kings of Wilmot in the sprints, modifieds, sportsman and mini-sprints.

Muskego's Dick Colburn holds a 10-point advantage over runner-up Allen Winker of Kenosha, Wis.

Kenosha's Dennis Spitz leads the modified standings by 22 points over fellow Kenoshan Jimmy Uttech, Jr., and leads by 22.

John Poehler of Libertyville is 14 points up on a fast finishing Scott Kuxhouse of Antioch.

Lorraine Miles of Libertyville has become the first "queen" of Wilmot Speedway as she clinched the street stock Budweiser Racing Series title becoming the first female regular season champion in the track's 41-year history.

Defending champion Roy Morrison of Antioch will repeat as he has sewed up the mini-modified title.

"This rainout will certainly add to an already exciting night of championship racing," said promoter Ray Toft. "We've had closer individual championships before, but never this many divisions all to be decided in the final feature events."

"We are keeping with our custom of not raising the grandstand admission for the final special night," Toft continued. "It's our way of thanking the fans and allowing them to see our 'super bowl' at regular season prices."

To close out the season for

"Wisconsin's Clay Center of Speed," all six divisions will compete in season championship features and feature challenges. In addition, there are the 23rd Annual Collis A. Pearson Memorial Modified Race, along with the Beine Excavating Sprint and J&L Oil Modified Shootouts.

For Wilmot Speedway information, phone the 24-hour race-lines (414)862-2446 or 838-RACE, or track office at (414)862-2458.

Knights go downhill early, in league defeat

Sometimes you know on any given day it will not be your shining moment.

The Lake County Knights suffered that fate Sunday at Hanson Stadium. From a second-play fumble to a last-second altercation between a player and Coach Al Clark, it was indeed a rough afternoon for the Knights in a 38-0 loss. The defeat drops the Knights to 2-2 in the Chicagoland Football League. The Panthers stay perfect and in first place at 4-0.

The misery began early. Trailing 6-0 after Avery Thurmon had scored the game's first tally on a 1-yard run, a fumbled handoff and an interception marked the end of the first two possessions.

"They were a well-rounded team, but I still have confidence in this team," Clark said.

Clark was allegedly struck by defensive end Randy Jones as the final minutes wore down. Clark said he had benched his former North Chicago High player.

If there was a bright spot for the Knights on this miserable day, it was the defensive secondary.

Although throwing for more than 118 yards, QB Tom Lesenewicz only beat the secondary on two scores: a 39-yarder to Kevin Jackson for an 18-0 lead and a 29-yarder to Louis Ortiz for the final score.

"The defensive secondary did not get us in trouble," Clark said.

"We were overaggressive against the screen. I thought we did OK. They exploited us at the middle. They have good receivers who ran their routes well and found the seams and ate us up. It is very frustrating," Knights Dale Jackson said.

Jackson is joined in the secondary by Craig Freeman and Steve Gardner. Gardner had an interception in the end zone which prevented yet another score. Lesenewicz played in the shadows of Hanson Stadium at Calvin High in Chicago.

"We scored 65 points last week. Everyone executed," he said. Six turnovers, including an interception returned for a touchdown, spelled doom for the Knights.

"We had some internal problems this week with guys who don't practice," Clark said. The season is far from over, as the Knights return to Hanson Stadium Oct. 2 to face the South Side Hitmen at 1 p.m.

"You will see a whole different game next week," Jackson stated.

The Knights are in 100 percent agreement.

Defending the pass

Lake County Knights defenders John Burns (55) and Mike Mullen try to break up a Chicago Panthers pass. QB Tom Lesenewicz completed the pass to Avery Thurmon. Thurmon scored two touchdowns in Panthers' 38-0 rout.

Bauer sparks CLC booters, net two OT victories

Eric Bauer may have been inspired as he was playing against some of his old high school opponents. He scored 3 goals.

Two days later, Bauer contributed to provide College of Lake County with key chances as CLC won two double overtime matches to go over .500 overall with a 6-3 win over McHenry and a 4-2 win at Kishwaukee.

"He is our only sophomore forward and we knew he was capable of that. His goals came from all over - left side and right side. He makes the opportunities of the shots he gets," CLC Coach Dave Beck said.

The Lancers fell behind 3-0 at halftime against the up-and-coming Scots. "We talked about what we needed to do and doing it. We were calm and composed. We had a lot of chances in the first half, but were not finishing them off," Beck said.

Jeff Haug scored CLC's first second-half goal off an assist by Matt Roebuck. Bauer scored the next two goals, off Helmuth Fendel assists. Bauer then completed the hatrick.

McHenry scored a goal for a 4-3 lead, but Jason Brooks and Bauer teamed to complete the scoring.

The 60 minute of overtime meant defenders Chris Swanson, Chris Wallin, Julio Farfun and

Against Kishwaukee in the rain, CLC won 4-2 after a 1-1 regulation standoff. Brooks got the regulation goal and Mike Perez off a pass from Roebuck and Brooks from Haug gave CLC the win.

CLC hosts Lewis and Clark at 1 p.m. Oct. 1 in Grayslake.

"This is our first time over .500 and we would like to stay there," Beck said.

Injuries, Benet no match for Carmel's character

The toughest part of the week for Carmel High's football team seems to be Monday through Thursday.

The Corsairs overcame thinning of numbers and posted a key 13-0 win at Benet Academy Saturday. The win improves Carmel to 2-3 overall, 1-2 East Suburban Catholic Conference and breaks a three-game losing streak.

"We are really banged up and have a lot of injuries. We started with 52 players on the roster. We had 37 players for practice Friday," Coach Mike Fitzgibbons said.

The Corsairs were without leading touchdown scorer Ruben Rivera and quarterback J. R. Ocampo.

"Ocampo is through for the year. He reinjured a knee in practice," Fitzgibbons said.

The Corsairs went with soph Luke Chorazy at QB and a rush-oriented attack. Led by 91 yards from Nick Yeager and 50 from Chorazy himself, Carmel racked up 336 yards on the ground compared to 114 for Benet.

"We had a bigger line and we wanted a shorter game and better field position. This team showed a lot of character," Fitzgibbons said.

Chorazy was the hero in the first week as Carmel downed Notre Dame 24-20. He played to start the in the second week.

Yeager and Chorazy scored the CHS touchdowns in the second quarter at rain-mired Benet.

Yeager capped a drive with a 16-yard run midway through the period.

The defense, led by Pat Kraft and Steve Golebioski, both seniors, made key play after key play. Kraft intercepted a pass following a Carmel fumble which could have given Benet hope. A fourth-down pass all but ended the game.

An interception by Golebioski set up the second score - a 1-yard Chorazy run. The drive featured a 13-yard pickup by Yeager on third down and Chorazy's two-yard run on fourth down.

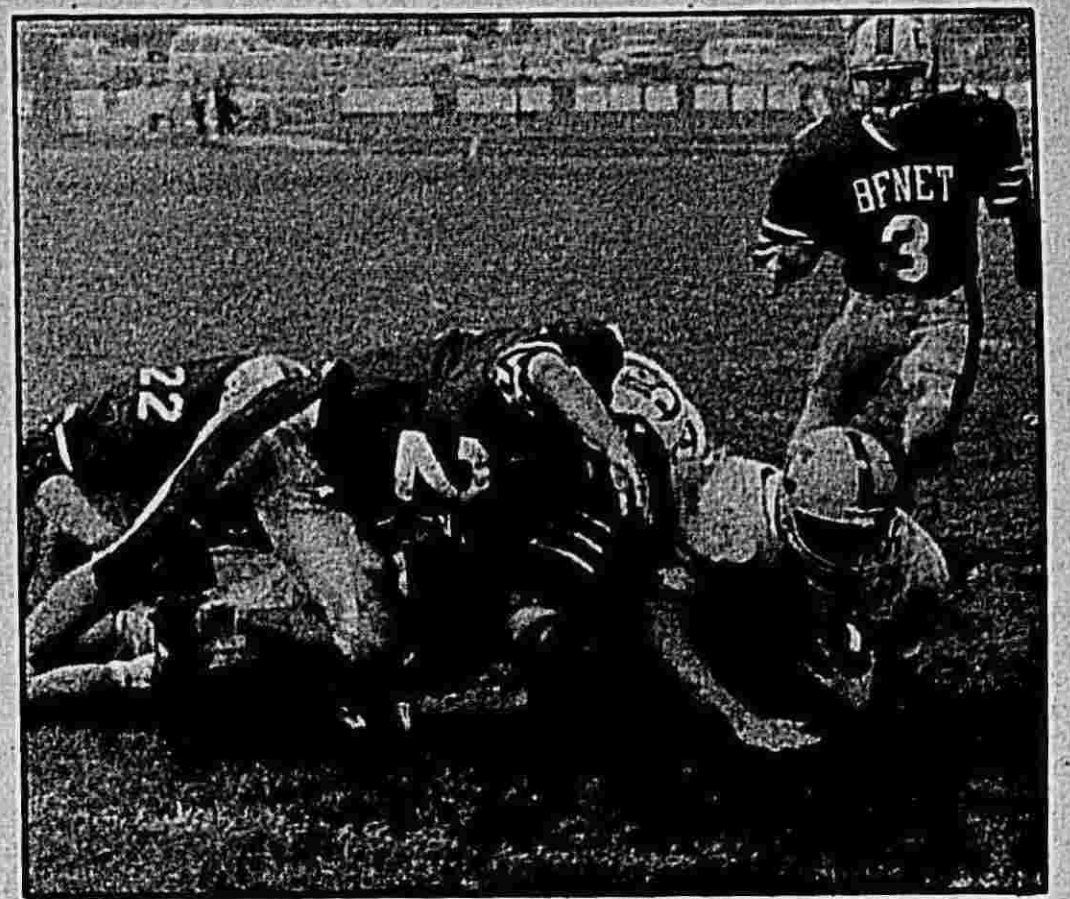

CHS made three fourth-down tries.

"We are really proud of the offensive line. Plus, I had nightmares of them blocking a punt," Fitzgibbons said.

"This is a huge win. It is a big game as I can remember," Fitzgibbons said.

"We have to sore things up. We were inside the 20, but did not score. We have to do something. We have our best personnel in in offense," Benet coach Gary Goforth said. "It is a killer. We played as hard as they did."

Carmel is now back in the playoff picture at 2-3 and looks to keep the effort alive at Marist in Chicago at 7:30 p.m. Sept. 30. The Redskins are also coming off a shutout over a winless team, downing St. Joseph 37-0.

CLC spikers prepare for 'classic'

College of Lake County's volleyball team had lost twice as many matches as it had won, but the Lancers are far from giving up hope.

"We felt good about the way we played in the win over DuPage and even in the loss to McHenry," CLC Coach Sue Garcia said.

CLC downed No. 2 DuPage 15-5, 15-8 and beat McHenry 15-12 in the first game before losing 15-9, 15-6.

"We controlled the tempo against DuPage. We just passed well," Garcia said.

Vikings defense leads the way

Led by two turnovers for touchdowns, the Lake County Vikings shutout the Chicago Falcons 15-0 Saturday.

The Vikes will be looking to stay competitive with Racine longer than they did earlier with an Oct. 1 game at Round Lake High. The Vikes bring a 4-2 record into the second chance with Racine in the 6 p.m. game.

Gary Griffin continued to play havoc with those who wish to throw the ball, returning one interception for a 51-yard score and gaining three other pick offs.

Butch Turney made the Falcons pay for their first mistake with a 36-yard fumble return in the second quarter.

Warhawk

"That was a bad judgment call on his part because he had his back to me and looking at me out of the corner of his eye. He should have been watching the game. There were 20 penalties called against us and five or six against the opposition. There is a little unbalance there," King said.

King said he was adjusting a player's helmet on the sidelines.

The Warhawk coach said his players were celebrating when Zion players allegedly started the altercation.

"Our students conducted themselves very well. It is always a big rivalry game and there was just a little scuffle after the game. It is unfortunate the decision came about. We are ready to play Zion in any sport," Dr. Cuttie Bacon, North Chicago superintendent, said.

The implications of Zion dropping North Chicago events reaches into the conference standings of various sports.

"I have not looked at the league constitution yet, but if they don't play, it would be a forfeit by Zion," Tim Albers, Libertyville High athletic director said.

Albers said LHS, to his knowledge, has not had trouble with behavior of North Chicago athletes. "We have had problems at the underclass level with teams not showing up," he said.

A volleyball match between Warren and North Chicago last week was postponed to Oct. 3 due to the Warhawks only having five players on an injury-riddled team.

"I believe they canceled the games due to a safety concern," Len Chimino, Warren Township High athletic director, said.

The decision was a topic for a Warren High board member Tuesday night.

"I believe Zion did the right thing for the students," Jan Brennan said.

On another front, Chimino said the three schools who lost to North Chicago while Hampton was coach will be submitting a letter to the Illinois High School Association. "Everyone needs to know if they violated the by-laws," he said.

John Davis, Mundelein High School principal and NSC chairman, said before meeting he did not know of any such action.
